

Vehicular Homicide Filed Against Driver In Bicycle Death

HOMICIDE VEHICLE — Pickaway County Sheriff Radcliff, Detective Don Thompson and BCI Agent James Hockenberry inspect the 1967 Chevelle which killed David Wayne Duffey, 15, Kingston, Saturday. The windshield, license tags and right front fender were removed from the vehicle to make the auto look like it was abandoned.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson arrested 23-year-old Larry Eugene Fetherolf, 4 a.m. Thursday, for aggravated vehicular homicide, in the hit-skip death Saturday, of David Wayne Duffey, 15, Kingston.

Through intensive investigation and public concern, Radcliff was able to contact Fetherolf 11:15 p.m. Wednesday at his place of employment. Answering questions, Fetherolf admitted he hit the Duffey boy, stating he thought it was an older man. He also stated that it wasn't snowing at the time he hit the victim.

According to earlier reports, the bicycle was well reflectorized and could be seen very clearly by passing motorists.

The auto, with the right fender dented, was located in a garage on the Fetherolf residence. The windshield, license tags and right fender were removed in an apparent attempt to make the vehicle look abandoned.

Bureau of Criminal Investigation agent James Hockenberry processed the vehicle matching paint samples taken from the bicycle with that on the auto and also blood stains of the victim.

Sheriff Radcliff commended his deputies for their earnestness in checking every possible lead and the public's cooperation, in helping apprehend Fetherolf.

were down, 10 per cent were unchanged and 8 per cent were unavailable on one of the survey dates.

The situation varied widely from city to city. Five of seven items checked went down in price in Baltimore and the remaining two were unavailable. In Seattle, Wash., however, every item was up in price.

Wholesale prices have been going down, prompting some supermarkets to offer specials and prompting cattlemen to complain they are losing money. In an effort to aid the ranchers, the government announced Tuesday that it was buying $45 million of top quality hamburger for distribution to schools, but economists said the purchase would provide only a brief boost for the producers.

During the week ended March 23, 1974, wholesale prices averaged 66.35 cents a pound for choice steer carcasses — the kind of meat the supermarkets buy — compared with 68.05 cents a pound during the same period in 1973 and with just over 80 cents a pound during the truckers' strike in January.

The decline hasn't found its way to the retail level, however. Supermarkets point out that they are faced with increased costs for other items like labor.

The AP survey covered seven meat items — round steak, pork chops, chopped chuck, sirloin steak, lamb chops, leg of lamb and standing rib roast.

Beef items generally increased more than other meats, but there was no clear pattern. A standing rib roast, for example, cost more in 12 cities — up an average of 17.5 per cent — and less in seven — down an average of 8 per cent.

Pork chops went down in eight cities over the 12-month period and were up in seven, unchanged in two and down in one. In the 19th city, Austin, Tex., the current price usually is $1.89 a pound — up 12 per cent from last year's $1.69 figure. But a special offering this week brought the price to $1.39 a pound, down 17 per cent from last year.

While the administration seeks mandatory reports on oil, it has not asked that such information be required of other industries. Economists and resource experts warn that there may be shortages, even crises, ahead in supplies of other raw materials as well.

And Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., is proposing creation of a Bureau of Resource Information, to keep track of the natural resources and food supplies the nation has and can expect.

Nelson wants one agency to put together all government data on raw

Kissinger Comes Home Without Moscow Accord

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew toward home today with Soviet proposals that fall far short of the "conceptual breakthrough" needed to produce a new treaty limiting nuclear weapons.

But while acknowledging this failure, a senior American official said President Nixon intends to go ahead with a summit meeting with Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party leader, in Moscow in early summer.

Without detailing the differences, the official said flatly: "What they gave us is not acceptable."

He added, however, that the United States would try to come up with counterproposals, and that Kissinger probably will go back to Moscow in May.

In the meantime he will confer regularly with Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to Washington and will see Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York next month. Technical negotiations will also continue in Geneva between the United States and Soviet representatives.

Kissinger flew to Moscow last weekend saying he expected a breakthrough to set the stage for an agreement in Geneva that Nixon and Brezhnev could sign at their third summit meeting.

Acknowledging that this forecast was too optimistic, the official said of Kissinger's discussions with Brezhnev over the last three days: "There was movement but I would not yet describe it as a breakthrough."

Before arriving in London, Kissinger told newsmen at Moscow's Vnukovo Airport: "We had a very good review of Soviet-American relations. I think we made good progress on a number of bilateral issues."

He did not elaborate, and there was no indication his three days of meetings with Brezhnev had achieved the breakthrough he sought in the deadlocked negotiations to limit the two superpowers' nuclear arsenals.

"It depends on what you mean by a breakthrough," Kissinger told a questioner. "We had good discussions ...

"Both sides are determined to continue on the course of improving the relationship between the Soviet Union and the United States as a major contribution to world peace."

Kissinger said a joint communique on his talks would be issued later today.

The American secretary's talks with Brezhnev ended at 9:13 p.m. Wednesday although Kissinger virtually offered in a luncheon toast to work late into the night.

Assembly In Flurry Of Activity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major measures designed to help mental patients and crack down hard on drug pushers emerged from their respective chambers during a flurry of legislative activity Wednesday.

The Senate passed and sent the House a bill that contains a "bill of rights" for mental patients. Sponsors said it is designed to prevent the "forgotten patient" and to assure the rights of those confined in the state's mental institutions.

After three hours of floor debate, the House approved 88-3 a bill requiring mandatory jail sentences for selling drugs, stealing drugs, or influencing others to use them. It goes to the Senate.

In other action, the Senate Ways and Means Committee recommended passage of a bill to implement a constitutional resolution that authorizes a tax break for Ohio's farmers.

Debate continued in the House

Judiciary Committee over a bill to create 36 new judgeships and abolish mayors' courts. Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-26 Toledo, said he plans to call for a committee vote Monday.

House sponsors of a bill outlawing the cheap handgun known as the "Saturday night special" failed once again to get it out of the House Rules Committee for a floor vote. They need seven votes among the 13 committee members, but have been able to muster only six at each of the last four meetings of the committee.

Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, sponsored the mental patient bill which he called "a declaration of the human rights of the mentally retarded in this state."

The measure requires a formal hearing prior to any commitment to an institution and says that a judge must be convinced "beyond a reasonable doubt" that commitment is necessary.

It also calls for a review of each patient's case every 180 days and a "comprehensive review" every two years. Ocasek said those requirements should prevent recurrence of a case such as that of a woman, 102, who was placed in a Franklin County institution and then forgotten.

During prolonged debate on the drug bill — which came to the legislature from Atty. Gen. William J. Brown — the House voted to take even tougher the mandated penalties for trafficking and other more serious offenses.

Members went along 63-24 with an amendment that increased from a range of four to seven years to eight to 20 years the terms mandated for those trafficking in so-called "hard drugs" such as heroine or cocaine.

Rep. James W. Rankin, D-25 Cincinnati, sponsored the amendment, telling the House he has witnessed "14, 15 and 16-year-olds prostituting themselves in my district to support their habit."

The bill, by Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bournville, eases some other penalties, but at the same time sets up a procedure under which an addict or someone in danger of becoming an addict can opt for treatment rather than jail.

Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Mentor, one of the three who opposed the bill, tried unsuccessfully to take the option out of the bill but was voted down 55-33. He claimed it would "open the jail doors for anyone with a sharp lawyer and a soft headed judge."

Another unsuccessful floor amendment would have made possession of alcohol subject to the same penalty as marijuana. The amendment by freshman Rep. David Hartley, D-60 Springfield, was voted down promptly after Shoemaker noted that "after a second beer, you could be charged with a felony."

The House rejected an attempt by Rep. Ray Luther, R-1 Newark, to make trafficking in marijuana subject to the same severe penalty as for other drugs. The bill provides a mandated six month term for trafficking in marijuana which Luther said was not enough. "This is a step toward legalization," he asserted.

Under present law, anyone caught experimenting with or in possession of any amount of marijuana can be sent to jail for a year and fined $1,000. A first offense under the pending bill calls only six months of probation.

The bill's penalty sections are contingent upon possession or selling "bulk" amounts of drugs, with the limit for each spelled out in the measure. In the case of marijuana, for instance, a bulk amount is 90 grams or more.

Federal Judgeship For Meskill Promoted

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has been recommended for a lifetime federal judgeship by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn.

Weicker recommended Meskill to President Nixon for a position on the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals. Meskill announced on March 11 that he would not seek a second term as governor.

Nixon Talks Of Peace, Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never mentioning his Watergate troubles, President Nixon said his administration is making a record of "peace abroad and prosperity at home that will bring victory to Republicans in next November's elections."

At a time when many Republicans are separating themselves from the White House, the President Wednesday night recited his administration's record and proposals to the party's annual $1,000-a-plate fund-raising dinner and said GOP candidates "can win on that kind of platform."

Although some 2,000 were present, a majority of them got in for free. Officials said the dinner raised close to $700,000, a sum $200,000 below last year's previous record low.

Some cheered enthusiastically, while many others applauded only perfunctorily. Afterward, some expressed surprise at the President's failure to mention what one official said was "the one subject on everybody's mind."

He would have gotten a good response from this audience," Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., told reporters.

"It was a very good speech," said Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., "but obviously he left out the subject he didn't want to talk about."

Route 2 Woman Killed In 1-Car Accident Today

FATAL ACCIDENT—Mrs. Leila McAbee, 82, Route 2, was killed when her car struck the bridge abutment above. She was alone, apparently returning home from a shopping trip to Circleville at the time of the accident.

An 82-year-old Route 2, Circleville woman became Pickaway County's sixth traffic fatality of 1974 today when the car she was driving struck a bridge abutment on Route 22 west of Circleville 11:30 a.m. today.

Mrs. Leila S. McAbee was dead on arrival at Berger Hospital according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's office. Officers believed she had been to Circleville shopping and was returning home.

Witnesses told the investigating officers that the car just drifted left of center. The witnesses said she did not apply brakes. There were no skid marks evident.

Officers on the scene were Deputy Robert Hoover, Deputy Warren Straley and Deputy Bill Dountz.

right, it is a problem that could recur.

"... The era of generally cheap and exploitable materials seems to be at an end in the United States and the world," a Library of Congress study reports. "The developing two-thirds of the world will increasingly compete for rather than merely supply, many of the materials that the United States will require."

The United States now is heavily dependent on imports for raw materials including aluminum, tin, chromium, nickel, rubber and zinc.

According to the Library of Congress account, U.S. materials consumption may double or triple by the year 2000, with similar trends in the rest of the world. That makes periodic shortages probable and increasing costs likely.

Problems of price and scarcity could be compounded should underdeveloped nations which export various raw materials decide to band together after the manner of the Arab oil producers, whose embargo fueled the energy crisis.

All of these factors point to a need for political decisions to deal with raw materials problems in the years ahead. And that, the experts agree, will require more information.

Find Meat Prices Higher Than Ever

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers who shop carefully can find scattered sales at the supermarket meat counter. But an Associated Press survey shows that meat prices generally are higher than ever these days.

The AP checked the prices of seven meat items in 19 cities last April at the start of a week-long boycott organized by consumers to protest soaring costs. The boycott came just after President Nixon froze all meat prices.

In a check of the same meats at the same supermarkets in the 19 cities this year, the AP found 56 per cent of the items were up in price, 26 per cent

Federal Beef Purchases To Be Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meat industry sources say beef the government is buying to help cattlemen may well prove expensive — at least $1 per pound.

Under the $45 million plan, the meat will be provided to schools as ground beef for lunches during the 1974-75 school year.

The plan requires the ground beef to come from grain-fed cattle, the kind which feedlot operators say are losing them money. In previous purchases, the meat could come from lower-priced animals.

Industry sources said Wednesday meat packers will ask at least $1 a pound for wholesale quantities of the high-quality ground beef.

Purchases will be made from bids submitted by meat packers to the Agriculture Department, which is in charge of commodity donations to schools.

Ordinary hamburger in retail stores sells for 89 cents per pound or less, although top-quality leaner ground beef is more.

U.S. Remains Without Resources Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposal is simple: create a high-level government agency to catalog and project America's resources and needs for fuel and raw materials so that policy-makers can try to deal with increasing demands.

"No single organization is today discharging these over-all functions," a presidential commission reported. "This lack must be made good ..."

The president was Harry S. Truman. The recommendation has been pending for 22 years.

Berger Board Raises Salary For New RN's

NEW YORK (AP) — The continued rise of short-term interest rates sent the stock market into a broad retreat today.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 10.95 at 860.22, and losers far outnumbered gainers on the New York Stock Exchange.

Jack Trachtman at Steiner, Rouse & Co. said the declines, which came mostly in the first hour of the session, reflected "the fear that interest rates are going to continue to accelerate." Brokers said the market's sharp drop Wednesday after a week of holding steady had unnerved some investors.

Mapco was the Big Board's most-active stock, down 1 at 22. A 150,000-share block of the stock crossed the tape at that price.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market-value index was down .69 at 97.12.

The Amex volume leader today was Syntex, down 2 1/2 at 54 1/2. A 146,800-share block changed hands at 53 1/2.

The NYSE's noon index of all its listed common stocks stood at 50.95, down .64.

Elections To Observe Special Hours

In a luncheon meeting of the Berger Hospital Board of Governors, action was taken to raise the starting salary of full time registered nurses. The new salary scale will pay beginning RN's working full time $3.89.

A resolution was also passed to make an emphatic request to have the Bowsher property which had been willed to Berger Hospital sold. The resolution stipulated the date of sale be no later than April 13 with the clause that the purchaser may have immediate possession of the property. Advertising of the sale is to begin immediately.

The Pickaway County Board of Elections reminds residents voter registration deadline is near. The office, located in the rear basement of the courthouse, will observe special hours so that everyone may be able to register.

Hours are: Friday, 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.; Saturday, 9 a.m. to noon; April 6, 9 a.m. to noon; April 8, 9 a.m. to noon.

Miss Nancy Ayers, Director of the Board of Elections, reports that of a possible 15,542 registered voters in November 1973, only 8,702 voted in the 1973 general election.

A total of 678 names have been cancelled for not voting in a two year period with only 218 registering since November, giving Pickaway County a total of 15,082 registered voters.

Miss Ayers states that there is a possible 30,000 voters in the county and is concerned with the small turn out.

OU-C Presents Spoon River Anthology

Returning for the fourth year to the Ohio University-Chillicothe Campus, the Alpha-Omega Players will present "Spoon River Anthology" at 8 p.m. April 3 at Bennett Hall Auditorium. This beloved American classic by the Illinois poet, Edgar Lee Masters, will be performed by four members of the Dallas, Texas, repertory theatre company.

"Spoon River Anthology" both scandalized and delighted readers when it was published in 1915. Originally conceived as a novel, the Anthology is a series of poetic monologues by former inhabitants (both real and imaginary) of Spoon River, an area near Lewistown and Petersburg, Ill., where Masters spent much of his boyhood.

All in the cast are dead—"sleeping on the hill"—and they speak their own epitaphs as well as the beliefs, grudges, insights, and revelations of their eccentric creator.

The stage version was written by Charles Ardman who also selected and arranged most of the folk music, and was produced first on Broadway in 1963. The four actors play 80 characters—the small and great who make up this world in microcosm, new in form, timeless in essence.

This play is the first dramatic performance of the 1974 Arts and Letters Series and is presented for both students and other residents of the community. General admission tickets will be sold at the door. OU-C students can attend by presenting ID cards.

Reds Rout Cambodians

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — The survivors of the Oudong garrison began fleeing today from the temple compound in which they had holed up for 10 days after a direct hit blew up their ammunition supply, diplomatic sources reported.

The diplomats said about 300 of the estimated 600 soldiers and more than 1,000 civilians in the Tep Pranam Pagoda had reached a government relief force half a mile away.

The besieged pagoda is half a mile east of Oudong, the 17th century royal capital 23 miles north of Phnom Penh, which the Khmer Rouge insurgents captured March 18.

The evacuation began shortly before noon after a shell scored a direct hit on the garrison's dwindling ammunition supplies, a diplomat said. Civilians followed by soldiers began straggling out of the temple compound and moved toward the government lines to the east.

The hospital board is preparing to sell $500,000 worth of bonds and must have a quality rating as a business. April 13 was set as the date of sale because the deadline for presentation of negotiable funds and cash for a quality rating is April 15.

Board members are striving for an "A" rating in order to keep the interest rate lower. Such rating cannot be based on real property so the farm must be converted into cash or negotiable funds by the time of the rating.

Mayor Frank Barnhill, president of the hospital board, reminded the other board members that the deadline for signing contract bids for Phase I construction is May 4. The contracts must be signed within 60 days of the date of the opening of bids which took place March 5.

A letter from Dan A. Carmichael, architect for the Phase I project, was presented to the board. Carmichael had reviewed and checked all the bid proposals and submitted a recommendation that the board award bids to the lowest bidders totaling $2,193,000. An additional $60,000 will be required if the basement is to be finished. The board felt it was at all financially feasible they should go ahead with plans to finish the basement area of the new structure.

Harry Clifton, chairman of the finance committee, presented the financial statement to the board for the month of February. It showed a total of 223 admissions for the month and 86 per cent occupancy. Forty-four babies were born and the emergency room treated 839.

Driver Cited For Reckless Operation

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputy Danny Dewey cited Dale L. Haney for reckless operation when he was involved in a single-car accident 12:45 a.m. Thursday.

Haney was traveling southeast on Ballah Road. Going off the right side of the road into a drain ditch the auto came out of the ditch striking a wire fence and clipping a telephone pole.

Haney was transported to Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus, for a laceration to the nose.

Mrs. Riegel Speaker At PCMHA Meet

For the March meeting of Pickaway County Mental Health Association, Mrs. Kenneth Riegel, Association Secretary who is employed by Probate Division of Common Pleas Court, gave procedures for admittance to Columbus State Hospital.

She stated that at all times rights and privileges are safeguarded. Supporting statements were cited in "A Helping Hand for Those in Distress" by Probate Court Judge Guy G. Cline.

During the business portion of the meeting over which Mrs. Clarence Willoughby presided, a budget was readied for consideration by Community Fund Committee. Highlights were given of the recent meeting of the Ohio Association at which recognition was given Ohio's Premier of "Moments of Joy" and "Journey"—new films by Department of Mental Health focusing on Humanization.

Mrs. Lowell Toland, volunteer service representative to Columbus, announced the April 9 annual dinner session and Mrs. Willoughby the April 11 "Citizens Assembly" to be held at the Sheraton Hotel in Columbus. Mrs. Riegel, representative to local Community Service Council, reported on the last meeting at which Richard Bergman, director of Scioto Paint Valley Clinic, was guest speaker.

Approval was given continuance of personal care gifts for Orient residents leaving for other homes.

The next meeting was scheduled for April 22, 8 p.m. in the Probate Court Room.

CBMC Sets Meeting

The Rev. Ronald P. Hood will be the speaker at the Circleville Business Men's Committee meeting Saturday at the Pickaway Arms.

Court Hears Criminal Charges Against 11

Eleven persons appeared in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court Wednesday on criminal charges. Appearing on behalf of the state of Ohio was the county prosecutor.

A Columbus man, Robert Boston, was charged with conspiracy to operate a motor vehicle without the owner's consent, three counts of auto theft, holding and using a forged certificate of title and improper procuring of a title knowing the motor vehicle was stolen.

Four of the charges were dismissed upon the motion of the prosecutor and Boston pleaded guilty to forging a certificate of title and holding and using a forged or imported certificate of title. The court sentenced him to pay $1,000 fine and six months in the county jail on each count and suspended the jail sentence. All of the fine except for $100 on each of the two counts was suspended.

Guilty pleas were also entered by Steven Thompson, 223 Walnut St., for illegal use of a hallucinogen and cultivating a hallucinogen. A pre-sentence report was ordered to be prepared by the court's Adult Parole Authority.

Cases were scheduled on May 1, on James Marshall and Billy Boyle. Boyle, a Derby man, is charged with receiving stolen property and breaking and entering in the night season. He entered a plea of not guilty to both charges. Marshall faces a charge of issuing a check with insufficient funds to cover it.

Thomas Cochran, Route 3, Orient, was sentenced to 1-5 years and 1-15 years in the Mansfield Reformatory for Men on charges of breaking and entering and grand larceny. Judge William Ammer suspended both prison terms and placed Cochran on probation for a period of three years.

A charge of receiving and concealing stolen property was dismissed and a bill of information filed against Lynn Floyd, Columbus. The first charge had been an indictment by the grand jury. Floyd pleaded guilty to the new charge of concealing stolen money knowing it to be stolen. The court ordered a pre-sentence report on him.

Paul K. Swickheimer, Bexley, pleaded guilty to non-support. A pre-sentence report was ordered in the case before official sentence is passed.

Fifteen days in the county jail and three years probation was the sentence given Roger Newlon, Route 3. Newlon pleaded guilty to forgery.

Charles Higman was placed on probation for three years on a charge of grand larceny.

Breaking and entering and trespassing charges were heard against Paul Kuhn, Chillicothe and William Kuhn, Route 1, Amanda. A pre-sentence report was ordered of William Kuhn after he pleaded guilty to the charges. A guilty plea was also entered by Paul Kuhn who was ordered to appear on April 1, for sentencing.

Summer Jobs Open In YCC

Some 5,500 young men and women will be employed by the Youth Conservation Corps this summer according to Ohio Congressman William H. Harsha.

Sixth District youths interested in working on natural resource conservation projects have an opportunity to apply before April 15th for approximately eight week's service in a YCC camp operated by the federal government and in conjunction with the states.

The YCC program, Harsha explained, is designed to provide gainful employment for young citizens from all walks of life, accomplish needed conservation work on public lands and to cultivate an understanding and appreciation of the nation's natural environment and heritage.

Participants in this year's summer program will receive food and lodging and a salary of approximately $300 for the season in federal camps. This figure may vary, however, at state operated sites. At the nonresidential camps operated in some areas, employees will live at home.

The program applies to youth between the ages of 15 and 18. Other eligibility requirements include an interest in conservation of the environment, no history of serious criminal or anti-social behavior, possession of work permits in States where required and a Social Security number.

Those accepted into the program will be placed in camps in the National Park and Forest Systems, and other public land and water sites within their recruitment area. To obtain further information and application forms, interested persons should contact either the U.S. Youth Conservation Corps, P.O. Box 2975, Washington, D.C. 20013, or the Youth Conservation Corps, Joint Agency Recruiting, Ohio Department of Natural Resources, Fountain Square, Columbus, Ohio 43224.

Financing Campaigns

Running for political office is perhaps a more uncertain business than it has been for many years. Public cynicism about politics in general is on the upswing. Polls showing public approval of both the President and Congress at a low ebb mirror this sentiment. Behind much of the distaste for politics are the numerous scandals involving campaign finances, both at national and state levels. Not only the illegal uses of some of the funds, but the size of the kitty deemed necessary for a campaign for national or state office discourage the voters. Along with the millions of dollars which fuel the campaigns are the debts which remain after the ballots have been counted. Some of these debts linger for years and are finally settled only by writing off part of the total. Debts now outstanding, as reported by candidates and their committees, total several million dollars. The largest known indebtedness reported of a senator is that of Ohio Sen. Robert Taft Jr., but red ink has become almost a fact of life in spirited races. Even where there is no impropriety in campaign financing, the size of the fund required to win an office which pays only a fraction as much in salary is no inducement to public confidence.

Helping Hand For Kids

ON THE LINE
By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Lowell Thomas will be 82 come April 6. If you've been moved by his books, articles, broadcasts and lectures over the past 60 years, and would like to send him a note, send it to him in care of Help for the Children in the Holy Land, Inc., Pawling, N.Y. 12564. Put something in it if you can afford it. It is Thomas's favorite charity. All of it will go to the welfare of that generally overlooked portion of the population of a troubled area — its children.

There isn't enough money left to carry the work beyond early summer. Lowell has been the prime mover and perpetuator of this unique organization, which is a mecca for mothers and children of many nationalities, ethnic groups, and tongues. It has weathered war, want, and the fluttering of the flags of successive conquerors. But it still goes along on the slim thread of a sentence from Holy Writ, the one that goes, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven."

Thomas once wrote a "Most Unforgettable Character" article in Reader's Digest about the American, Bertha Spafford Vester, who founded the center in 1931. An excerpt:

"In my time I have met many remarkable personalities, but Bertha Vester is one of the few I have ever envied. Now 84 (at the time of the article) and active as ever, she is an American who has lived a dramatic life in that most dramatic of all cities — Jerusalem — helping others.

"She has known kings, princes, field marshals — and thousands of humble people, Moslems, Jews and Christians, who call her simply 'Ummuna.' In Arabic that means 'mother of us all.' ... As a child she was formally adopted by an Arab tribe. It was she who furnished a white surrender flag used when Jerusalem fell to the British in 1917 — part of a hospital sheet! She stoutly faced death in heavy gunfire during the fierce battles of 1948 ... and later."

Lowell met her in 1918, while covering Field Marshal Allenby's capture of the holy cities. (The Denver Post of that time carried a memorable headline: ALLENBY CAPTURES CHRIST'S HOME TOWN.) And was fascinated by her story: she was the daughter of a prosperous Chicago family that had been haunted by disaster. Four of her sisters had drowned; her brother had died of scarlet fever. Her parents decided that they were being punished for thinking too much of the pleasures of life, so they took themselves and their remaining two little girls to live in Jerusalem and devote themselves to work among its poor.

In his "Unforgettable" article, Lowell told of how the children's center began:

"On Christmas Eve, 1925 she was leaving for Bethlehem to lead the first carol singing ever held in the fields 'where shepherds watched their flocks by night' when a young Arab woman, supported by her husband, approached. The man had brought his ill wife six hours on donkey-back to the general hospital of Jerusalem — to find it closed to outpatients because it was the Christians' Christmas holiday! Inside a bundle of rags the woman was carrying a baby only a few days old.

"Bertha was anxious to get along with her carols at Bethlehem but she stopped. There before her, she reasoned, was a rustic Madonna, very ill and, metaphorically, with no place at the inn for her or her child.

"Bertha got the sick mother admitted to the hospital immediately. But at her gate the next morning, Christmas, she found the Arab husband waiting, with the baby. His wife had died in the night. He held out the infant, saying, 'If I take him to my cave, which is my only house, he will surely die.'

"She had no facilities for caring for babies, but she said, 'I'll take him ...'

Bertha died six years ago.

Today, Spafford Memorial Hospital is manned by doctors from the Israeli and Arab worlds alike, and nurses from the ends of the world. Lowell Thomas, still fit as a fiddle, got a first hand report on it from his friend Teddy Rollock, mayor of Jerusalem, last week at the Dutch Treat Club Luncheon in New York. Last November, Thomas had hoped to take a couple 747s-full of people to Jerusalem to see the center and its all-demonstration playground, and the sights and wonders of the area. But another war ruined that trip. Didn't ruin Help for the Children in the Holy Land, however, but it knocked it to its knees. Thomas thinks a lot of people might want to help it back on its feet.

Business World

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the springtime of the economy upon us? After a long gray winter of the pocketbook, there are those who believe they see a few economic sprouts and a faint hint of green returning to the old dollar bill.

The oil embargo is over, personal income is rising, housing starts are up, the dip in car sales may have ended, some commodity prices are stabilizing and, despite relatively high unemployment, some workers are being recalled.

A lot of factors, it seems, are looking up, justifying in the minds of many the belief that the worst is over. But not to be overlooked in that list are prices and interest rates; they too are headed up.

Not even the ever-optimistic Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, can see sunshine in prices. For years he has claimed the worst was behind us; now, he says, the worst is to come.

Simultaneously, every species of interest rate is rising, from the much publicized prime rate, which goes to certain corporate customers, to conventional home mortgage rates. The former is over 9 per cent and headed up; the latter is 8.61 per cent.

The Treasury itself is expected to offer notes today that could bring a return of 8 per cent or more to buyers, some of whom might be enticed to withdraw funds from the thrift institutions.

The thrifts are the savings and loan associations and savings banks, which are the primary supporters of the home mortgage market. And when they lose deposits, potential home buyers lose the opportunity for mortgages.

This process of draining money from savings accounts into higher yielding securities is called disintermediation. Occurring repeatedly over the past decade, it has always plunged housing into a decline.

A similar process takes place in the securities market, where money tends to drain away from stocks into bonds. Some high-grade corporate bonds are edging close to 9 per cent, for example, and today's stock market can't match that.

No wonder that the Federal Reserve, which controls the flow of money to the economy, is now coming in for what is commonly termed "renewed criticism," although that criticism quite literally never ceases.

Why does the Fed want to restrict the money supply? To begin with, many analysts and perhaps the Fed itself don't think the money supply is being too restricted. Some in fact feel there's too much money floating about.

The conventional argument for restricting the money supply is that such a measure is needed to restrain the economy. And, yes, many economists still feel that economic conditions are too rambunctious.

Another group of interpreters is shocked by this attitude. With the country on the verge of recession, if not already in it, and with unemployment rising, they feel the Fed should be in a more expansive mood.

One school views high inflation as a signal for restricting the money supply. Another group maintains inflation cannot be licked until industry is provided with the money to expand and make its plants more efficient.

Whatever the answer, it appears that the economy is coming to one of those critical times that have been numerous of late. The conventional forecast is that the clouds will thin out and probably clear late this year.

But unlike calendar spring or meteorological spring, which are quite predictable, economic springtime isn't.

Amtrak Fare Hike Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak is going ahead with plans to raise rail passenger fares by 20 per cent for trips west of Chicago during the summer months.

Amtrak Vice President Edwin Edel said Tuesday the increase is to take effect June 9 but fares will be reduced again in September.

Edel said the fare hike was "a marketing tool" intended to determine whether rates would have an effect on the amount of passenger business during the vacation travel season.

Amtrak, the national rail passenger corporation, announced last week that passenger fares nationwide would be increased by 5 per cent permanently on April 16. The summer increase on western service is in addition to that.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I reprint this letter almost exactly because its message is even more significant than a medical answer.

"Dear Dr. Coleman, I was one of those men who believed that you marry once and are happy thereafter. That is why I consented to the vasectomy operation for sterilization after our second child was born.

Unfortunately, the marriage did not last. I have since remarried, and my present wife and I want to have children of our own.

At the time of the operation, ten years ago, I was told that vasectomy is irreversible.

Is there any operation or any method by which I can once more possibly father children?"

Mr. R. L. S., Va.

Dear Mr. S.:

This sad state of emotional and social conflict occurs to many men who decide too impulsively to have the vasectomy operation for sterilization. I doubt that any corrective surgery will reverse the process after ten years.

The more modern methods of vasectomy are somewhat more amenable to corrective surgery in a small percentage of cases.

Everyone who entertains the thought of such an operation must realize that social changes may occur and, like you, the desire for starting a new family is a realistic possibility.

Consultation with a urologist will quickly determine if there is any chance of reversing your vasectomy.

Artificial insemination has been suggested and used in situations such as yours. Remember, however, that there are a great many psychological factors involved in a pregnancy induced with sperm that is not yours. Tremendous consideration should be given before embarking on such a new project.

Can chlorine in the school swimming pool harm my children?

Mrs. J. F. J., Iowa

Dear Mrs. J.:

Unless there is any special allergic reaction to chlorine there is little danger of swimming in such a pool.

Usually, the concentration of chlorine is very light and adds protection to swimmers.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Do the people of this city realize how much our police department and fire department really mean to us?

If they really do, then they are they so underpaid and understaffed. For the number of people within our city and the people who may soon be within the city limits, how many officers and firemen do we have? I believe we need more of both, and that they should be paid what they are worth to us. These men put their lives in danger for us, but how many of our citizens would do the same for the pay the officers get.

Do the people of this city know how many patrol cars the department has. Maybe sometime one of them will need help and then wonder why the response isn't as fast as it should be. Perhaps that person will find out all the cars are already out on calls. The city is growing much faster than our police department.

Maybe this is because most people would refuse to risk their lives for our people, for the amount of pay they would receive. Do the people ever wonder what our city would be like without our police department?

If any of the working people in this town deserve more pay, it is our officers and firemen.

If the city limits are moved out, how many more officers and patrol cars will be added to the force? Will the ones we now have just have to work harder without more pay? These men are worth more than they get now and I think they should receive it on their paychecks and on their force. Give them more men, more patrol cars and more money. It wouldn't cost us citizens a great deal of money each and our protectors would be getting more of what they are worth to us. I think it would be hell without them.

Dear Editor:

When the presidency of these United States of America is in danger of being exposed by those who are trying to destroy it, the President, who is the Commander in Chief and as chief executive of all armed forces, can call on the Pentagon General Staff to meet with him. If there is enough evidence the law is not enforced the President under the Constitution can order the seizing of both houses of Congress, seal their doors, declare martial law throughout the land, take over all television and radio stations and speak to the nation declaring why he took such action.

As I see it, the President would be in order to take the above action, because of the following reasons: (If that should be his decision.)

1. The lobbyist in Congress are playing politics at the expense of the American people.

2. Congress, in my opinion, is divided and controlled by those who lobby for their interests; namely, big business and foreign political parties.

3. They have allowed the U.S.S.R. to become the most powerful nation on earth and have allowed the U.S.A. to become a secondary power.

4. The 75 to 80 Senators have allowed political Zionism to dictate the policy which the entire Senate is forced to follow.

5. The Watergate issue is just a front to divert the attention of the American people from knowing the facts. The way the Watergate enigma has been played up has weakened us on the home front, caused the increase of inflation, high living costs, unemployment, high mortgage costs, the lack of homes, hospitals, schools, etc. These are problems of Congress and not the President.

The President of these United States of America has always maintained his foreign policy to promote peace and prosperity. If the President follows up with the power granted to him by the Constitution, the American people finally will hear the truth.

Oil Order Arbitrary On Leasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House panel studying federal offshore oil and gas leasing has been told the Nixon administration acted arbitrarily when it ordered a 10-fold increase in leasing by 1975.

Monte Canfield, deputy director of the Ford Foundation's Energy Policy Project, said his interviews with government officials indicated the decision was made in the absence of supporting data and without consulting any of the agencies involved in leasing.

He testified Tuesday as a subcommittee on regulatory agencies held the first of two days of hearings on whether, federal leasing policy discriminates against small oil and gas companies.

Canfield questioned a recent administration directive ordering the Interior Department to increase its annual leasing from one million to 10 million acres by 1975. He said he was aware of no available data that would justify such an action.

He said the decision was made although the federal government sharply reduced its own estimate of how much oil and gas could be produced if the Atlantic is opened to drilling.

Canfield said that neither he nor the agencies affected could find out how the administration arrived at the 10-million-acre figure.

Harsha Bill Seeks Pension Protection

To prevent pension losses from earnings limitation provisions, Congressman William H. Harsha has sponsored legislation exempting social security and other benefit increases from computation in veterans' and widows' pensions.

Harsha said that under present law, the benefit increases veterans and widows will receive this year through recent social security cost-of-living raises may be lost through pension reductions beginning in 1975. "At that time, any increases in other benefits such as social security will be calculated in setting veterans' pension levels. Unless the law is changed as I have proposed," he explained, "these social security increases will actually result in pension cuts for over 1.3 million veterans and widows and complete pension losses for over 15,000 beneficiaries.

"Even at their current levels, both social security benefits and veterans' pensions are hardly sufficient for the millions of fixed incomes depending on them," Harsha emphasized. "With the cost-of-living ever rising and the energy crisis taking larger and larger chunks out of the pensioners' pocketbooks, cutting back on these benefits will create undue economic hardship for many veterans and widows. Robbing them of their veterans' pensions to which they are entitled for their service to the country because of other benefits which they have also earned is unconscionable, and I am hopeful that Congress will act on my legislation before such a disaster occurs."

Bill Moves On Mayors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill that would abolish mayors' courts in Ohio has moved a step closer to passage.

The House Judiciary Committee Tuesday night defeated an amendment that would have taken the controversial move to kill mayors' courts out of an omnibus court bill. The bill would also create three dozen new judgeships.

Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, and others offered the unsuccessful amendment. The vote was 12-9.

The committee considered other amendments, and defeated one that would have added two new judgeships to the Franklin County Municipal Court.

Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, said he expected to call for a committee vote on the omnibus measure this morning.

Rodine To Study Grand Jury Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grand jury material on President Nixon and Watergate, possibly including the disputed tape-recorded conversation on hush money, is under heavy guard at the House Judiciary Committee.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Tuesday he will examine the grand jury's secret report and satchel full of material "sometime this week" to assess its importance to the House impeachment inquiry.

Rodino refused to speculate with newsmen Tuesday on what the material is, but he accepted one reporter's assumption that it includes tape recordings.

He said he intends to listen to any tapes.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, has told newsmen and the U.S. Court of Appeals that he assumes the grand jury's evidence includes a tape recording of the disputed March 21, 1973, conversation on hush money. The grand jury indicted Haldeman on a charge of perjury for quoting the President as saying "it would be wrong" to pay hush money to keep the original Watergate burglars from letting the scandal reach higher.

The President said at a news conference that the full conversation will show he said both hush money and a promise of presidential clemency to keep the burglars quiet would be wrong.

The material also includes an index which lists events involving the President which may be important to the impeachment inquiry, a Watergate prosecutor said.

The grand jury material was under heavy guard even from most members of the House Judiciary Committee.

In other Watergate developments: —A White House official said Nixon lawyers are continuing to sift through material subpoenaed by Watergate prosecutors and have not yet recommended whether the President should turn the data over.

—Political saboteur Donald H. Segretti was released from prison after serving 4½ months of a six-month term.

—Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., asked the two senior senators who oversee activities of the Central Intelligence Agency to make public a summary of his secret investigation of possible links between the CIA and the Watergate coverup.

News Of Interest To Women

INTERESTED SPECTATORS—Some of the members of Monday Club are shown at the Social Session watching the club's version of "Beat The Clock" as the principal entertainment for the evening.

Social Session, Dinner Held By Monday Club

Monday Club held its annual Social Session March 25 in the dining room of First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. R. R. Bales presided at the punch bowl during the social hour preceding dinner served by women of the church.

As each member of the club entered the dining room an immediate transformation took place. By the single act of a name tag pinned to the neckline at the back of her dress she became a famous personality for the evening. To determine their alias they were given clues by others to determine identity and place at table for the dinner.

The color scheme for the evening was predominately yellow with yellow tapers in crystal candleholders and yellow flower pots with greenery and gumdrop flowers on white linen covered tables. The uniform aprons of the ladies serving were of white net trimmed with wide bands of yellow adding to the colors selected by the committee.

Seated at the tables were such famous women as Betsy Ross, Amelia Earhart, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Mary, Queen of Scots, Martha Washington, Mamie Eisenhower, Pocahontas, Cleopatra and many others. President of the club, who for the evening was Golda Meier, pronounced the invocation.

Following dinner these ladies of history engaged in Monday Club's version of the popular television program "Beat The Clock" giving much amusement to the spectators as the contestants selected at random were striving to carry out their assignments. The program was brought to a close with group singing a number of familiar songs led by Eleanor Snyder and accompanied on the piano by Eleanor Adkins.

Serving on the committee responsible for the fun evening were Mrs. Frank Estes, Mrs. Dean Logan, Mrs. James Reichelderfer and Mrs. Collis Young.

Women's Republican Club Entertains Candidates

Pickaway County Women's Republican Club met Monday for a carry-in luncheon and business meeting in the social rooms of Calvary United Methodist Church. Table decorations included the traditional Republican elephants, American flags and a large floral arrangement which centered the speaker's table.

Feted With Shower
Miss Peggy Penrod, bride-elect of Gregory Price, was honored with a bridal shower hosted by Mrs. Shelby Dye in her home at 209 Meadow Drive on Monday evening.

Miss Penrod and Mr. Price will be united in marriage 7:30 p.m. April 27, at the Grove City Baptist Church.

Invited guests include: Mrs. Herman Penrod, Washington C. H.; Mrs. Alan Zinn, Mrs. W. Bruce Price, Grove City; Mrs. Lawrence Carnes, Miss Karen Kerchner, Columbus; Mrs. William Becher, Mrs. Edwin McConaughy, Orient.

Mrs. Don Hansford, Mrs. Steve Matthews and Suzanne, Mrs. Richard Gallagher, Mrs. Donald Dennis and Cindy, Miss Louise Stuckey, Mrs. J. E. Courtright, Mrs. Marvin Spangler, Mrs. Richard Huggins, Mrs. Gene Lambert, Mrs. Wayne Evans, Miss Betty Melton, Mrs. James B. Scott, Mrs. Clayton Lutz, Mrs. Wayne Bower, Masters Brad and Brian Dye, all of the Circleville Area.

Lutheran Church Circles To Meet

Meetings are planned for Tuesday and Wednesday by Circles of Trinity Lutheran Church.

On Tuesday, Sarah Circle meets 9:15 a.m. and Elizabeth Circle 1:30 p.m. both in the church parlor, Christian Home Circle 7 p.m. in the Parish House and Esther Circle 7:45 p.m. in the church parlor.

Ruth Circle has scheduled its meeting for 2 p.m. Wednesday in the church parlor.

Legion Auxiliary Participates In Flag Presentation

Projects were discussed during the Monday evening meeting of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home.

Kathleen Hoffman, Americanism chairman, reported completion of a joint project with the Post for presenting 12 flags for classrooms at the Mound Street Elementary School. These will replace old flags used in the former Franklin St. building. They will be given to the auxiliary and disposed of properly.

She also announced selection has been made of the delegate and alternate to represent the unit at Buckeye Girls State. Upon confirmation from department headquarters, the names will be announced.

Donations to Easter Seals and American Legion Child Welfare Foundation were made during the business session presided over by Betty Sabine.

The unit will provide centerpieces for the Legion's Birthday Dinner Saturday evening at the Post Home. Plans were made for the unit's Easter visit to Chillicothe Veterans Hospital were made.

Highlights of the 7th District Auxiliary Spring Roundtable held recently at Washington C. H. were told by Mary Stephens.

Cleo Caudill, chaplain, opened and closed the meeting with prayer and Lucile Pickel and Cleo Caudill invited members to the refreshment table.

Kathryn Fisher Wins In DAR State Contest

KATHRYN FISHER

Kathryn Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fisher, 431 Holiday Lane, was awarded third place in the 8th grade section of the DAR State History Essay Contest at a recent session of the State DAR Convention held at the Neil House, Columbus.

The subject for this year's contest was "A Child Of 1974." Her essay was selected from 2500 entries in the state of Ohio.

As a prize Miss Fisher received two books. "The Star Spangled Banner" illustrated by Peter Spier and "The Iron Giant" by Ted Hughes with drawings by Robert Nadler. Following the presentation Kathryn and her father were luncheon guests of the DAR. Dr. Inez Henry, director Martha Berry Museum and Art Gallery, Berry College was guest speaker.

Mrs. Emerson Spicer is chairman of the Pickaway Plains Chapter DAR Essay Contest assisted by Mrs. Austin Dowden, Mrs. O'Dell Baker, Mrs. Wright Noecker, Mrs. McClure Hughes and Mrs. Carl Steinhauer.

Always keep cottage cheese tightly covered in the refrigerator to prevent it from picking up odors and developing off flavors. Creamed cottage cheese should not be frozen because when it is thawed it tends to separate and this damages its texture and consistency.

Ladies Auxiliary Visits Legislature

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Ohio State Medical Assn. recently sponsored a "Day At The Legislature." Attending from Pickaway County were Mrs. Ray Carroll, president of the county Medical Auxiliary, Trent Carroll, Mrs. William Myers, vice-president, and John Myers.

The group met at the Ohio State Medical Assn. office for a general orientation to OSMA, the legislature, bills to be heard that day and bills medically related that are new in the legislature.

They then went to the State House to attend committee hearings. At noon the Pickaway County Auxiliary representatives met with their State Senator Harry Armstrong for lunch.

Following lunch they returned to the State House to hear debate on the Senate and House floor and then to the OSMA office for discussion.

Workshop Planned For Garden Club

A flower arranging workshop is planned for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Theodore Huston, 135 Marshall Road, for members of Pickaway County Garden Club.

Mrs. Schubert Measamer will instruct on using a vertical container. Members are to bring tall sansevieria or yucca leaves, dried cattails, okra grasses etc. Also needed are five flowers such as daffodils, tulips or mums, a needlepoint holder, clippers and a tall container.

Butter labeled "sweet cream" is usually lightly salted; butter labeled "sweet" has no salt added.

Senate Move Kills Controls Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council says he's confident the administration's wage and price control program won't completely die next month, although a Senate committee appears to have kicked the life out of it.

"The country needs continued action in the stabilization area," Dunlop said after the Senate Banking Committee voted 15-0 Tuesday to let the administration's authority for controls expire April 30.

Dunlop, head of the controls program since early last year, said he has "every expectation" that some form of legislation will be reconsidered by the Senate prior to April 30.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said, meanwhile, that health costs probably would increase sharply if controls are not continued, but that the impact in other areas of the economy would not be great.

"There is a reasonable basis for thinking that costs will go up quite sharply in this area," Shultz said about the health industry.

The administration has proposed continuing controls past April 30 over the health industry and possibly a few others, such as construction.

The Cost of Living Council estimates that without controls, per patient hospital charges would rise from 16 to 17 per cent per year, compared to 10 per cent to 11 per cent under controls.

Physicians' fees would increase 9 per cent compared to four per cent with controls. And nursing home

Tapes Used In LaFatch Jury Trial

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Tape recordings which allegedly include discussions of a payoff with Akron businessman Anthony LaFatch have been introduced in LaFatch's extortion trial here.

Mike McKenzie, president of a Columbus stock company, testified in federal court Wednesday that LaFatch's voice was one of those in the discussion.

FBI agents raided LaFatch's Florida home April 27, 1973, and confiscated $50,000 in marked money, allegedly part of the payoff.

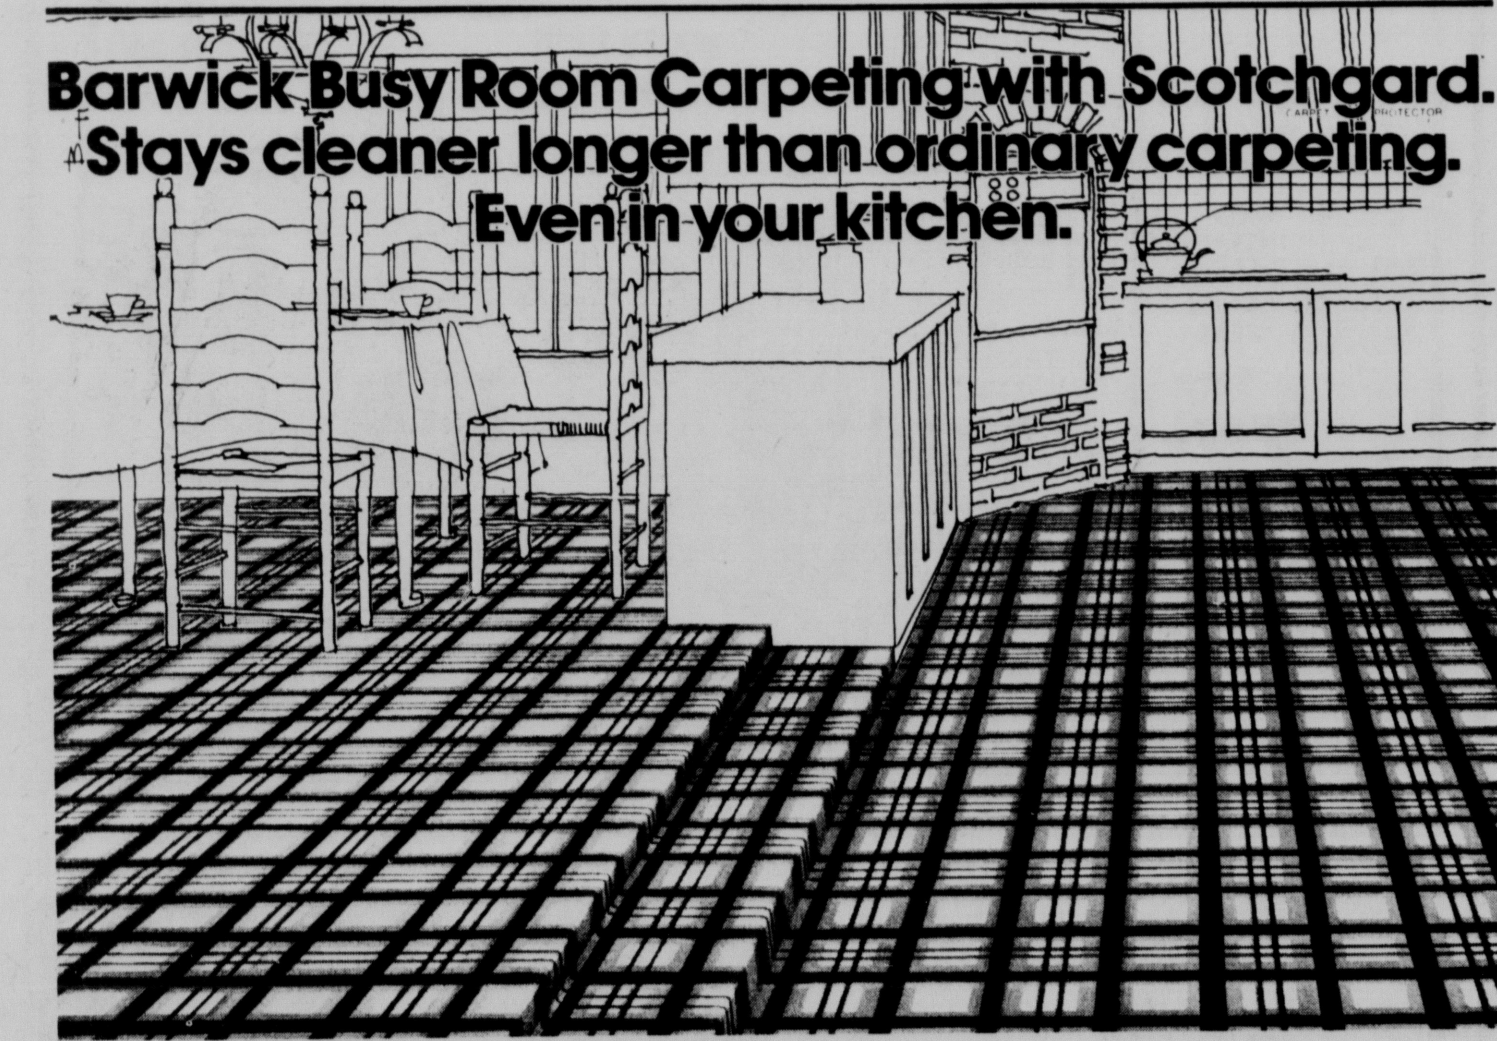

Special FBI agent Benjamin Grogan of Miami testified that he attached remote-control recording cassettes to McKenzie and Tom Lombardy, both associated with the Realty National Corp., before they met with LaFatch.

According to McKenzie, LaFatch was upset about a delay in the payoff during the discussions.

LaFatch is accused of demanding $50,000 from John Vogel, chief executive of National Realty, to influence a stock issue decision by the Ohio Department of Commerce.

The tapes were recorded over a four-day period in April, 1973, Grogan said.

Don't let the beautiful colors and designs in this patterned nylon carpeting fool you. It's tough. Because now Barwick treats it with "Scotchgard" Brand Carpet Protector.

Salad oil or tomato juice, when spilled on the carpet, will not soak or wick into the carpet. The staining materials will remain confined so that it can readily be blotted up or cleaned up without leaving a nasty stain.

Dry dirt's a cinch to get up, too. Vacuuming does it. And does it well. Barwick nylon carpeting with "Scotchgard" Protector actually stays clean up to three times longer than ordinary carpeting.

Beautiful carpeting can be practical. See our large Barwick Collection and choose your color and pattern now for all those busy rooms in your house: the kitchen, the bedrooms, the den.

Woman Deals With Convicts, Escapes Harm

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— Forty-eight-year-old Irene Burchwell successfully wheeled and dealt with four escaped convicts in her home Wednesday and averted harm to herself and three other captives.

"Your kindness is going to get you killed," a gun-wielding convict told Mrs. Burchwell. She tempered the kindness with shrewdness.

When the ordeal had ended the convict with the gun was shot to death by authorities and the other three were recaptured in neighboring Fayette County.

The four inmates of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility were being transported 85 miles to Columbus by a Franklin County deputy sheriff to appear at a trial.

By the time the four had arrived at the Burchwell home, they had subdued Deputy Milton E. Cramer, 66, had taken his gun, and had threatened to burn him with lighter fluid and handcuff him to a tree.

"We weren't sure what they were going to do to us," Mrs. Burchwell said. They indicated they were convicted murderers and had nothing to lose, she added.

The gun-toting man was "mean, but the other three were nice," she said. "I was going along with him, but inside I was dying 1,000 deaths. I have read enough detective books to know how to go along with them."

Mrs. Burchwell said she convinced the escapees to bring the deputy from the car into the house.

"If you bring him in and put him in the kitchen chair, I'll guarantee he won't call anybody," she said. "That man (the deputy) thought he was dead. He was petrified."

She permitted the convicts to disconnect her telephone. She also gave them $10 and some change from her purse, cigarettes and told them she supported them in their escape attempt.

"They even let me go through the house with them," she said.

Meanwhile, the deputy remained glued to the kitchen chair and her daughter-in-law, Connie Burchwell, 19, was handcuffed and sitting in the living room with Brent Hoops, 2, for whom she babysits.

Mrs. Burchwell said she persuaded the escapees not to take her 1971 LeMans, but her husband's 1967 station wagon.

Before fleeing in the station wagon and Connie's 1964 car, they handcuffed Mrs. Burchwell to the steering wheel in the deputy's car and Cramer and Connie to each other in the backseat.

"They wanted to handcuff Brent's foot to the steering, but I told them he wasn't going anywhere," she said. "They left him alone."

Connie soon dug a handcuff key out of Cramer's pocket and released the restraints. Once free, Mrs. Burchwell rushed to a neighbors home to alert authorities.

The slain escapee was Doyle

Manning, 35, formerly of Indianapolis, Ind. The others were Donald Nickerson, 45, of Vandalia; Robert Laws, 27, of Columbus, and David Pilkington, 29, of North Olmsted.

Authorities said Nickerson, who was serving a life term for slaying a Mingo Junction policeman, was being taken to Columbus to stand trial for escaping from a hospital while under custody.

Manning was being escorted as a witness for Nickerson's trial. Officials said Manning was convicted in Cincinnati in 1969 for six robberies and sentenced to six consecutive 10-25 year terms.

Laws was sentenced to life for a Columbus murder and was being returned to Franklin County to testify in another trial resulting from the same homicide, authorities said.

They said Pilkington was sentenced to life in February 1972 after a three-judge panel found him guilty of first-degree murder during a robbery and second-degree murder. He was to be a witness in the Nickerson trial.

The three were returned to the state's maximum security prison at Lucasville after being taken into custody at Washington Court House.

Washington Court House Police Chief Rodman Scott said Manning fired a shot at one of his officers in the downtown area. Scott said the officer returned the fire and fatally wounded Manning.

Cramer said he was certain the escapees were going to kill him during the ordeal. The 66-year-old Cramer, a member of the Franklin County Sheriff's Department, retires April 28.

Senate OKs Strip Mine Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's strip mine operators, fighting tough reclamation laws, met get a slight break under a bill approved by the Senate and sent to the House Tuesday. The bill, which regulates mining for minerals other than coal, was amended to allow strip mine operators to choose between appealing reclamation orders in their county of operation or in Franklin County Common Pleas Court. Miners for other minerals would have the same option under the proposed. Presently, coal operators may appeal only in Franklin County and are saddled with costs of their lawyers' travel expenses or with having to retain counsel in Columbus. Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-Middletown, won 29-2 approval of the amendment after he complained that by giving other mine operators the option, it would be discriminatory to limit coal operators to only one court. Others claimed the coal men have as much right as anyone to look for "a friendly judge." Strip operators also hope for approval of other legislation that would ease reclamation requirements, particularly those applying to deadlines. Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, is sponsor of the measure which expands surface mining statutes to include miners for sand, gravel, clay, shale, gypsum, halite, dolomite, sandstone, and other minerals. He said it was agreed to "by all parties" and "without the tomahawk emotionalism we had with the strip mine bill." It provides for 10-year permits and requires prior approval of reclamation plans by the Department of Natural Resources.

Hough On Trial

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— James Hough, a 36-year-old realtor, will go on trial July 22 on charges involving the December theft of two Rembrandt paintings. The Hamilton man was among five indicted in connection with the theft. He is charged with extortion, harboring a felon and receiving stolen goods. Described as an intermediary in the recovery of the paintings, he asked a $15,000 finder's fee, but later returned it.

Sneek-A-Peek

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There's a new supply of the kind of books young people like best—humor and mystery. "The House With a Clock in It's Walls" by John Bellairs features a touch of magic as a modern boy living in an old house with paintings that come to life at night discovers. The suspense builds as Lewis tries to

Synthetics Users Turn To Cotton

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The energy crisis has thrown some American textile mills into a spin because of a shortage of synthetic fiber. The cotton industry says it's ready to help bail them out. "The rumors in the trade are that at least one major mill and a couple of smaller ones are scouring the gray market for synthetic fibers," said Ben Tipton, vice president for raw materials for Dan River Mills at Greenville, S. C. Mills that cannot obtain synthetic fiber from their regular sources are paying top dollar to get it from other mills or anywhere else in an attempt to stay in production, Tipton said Tuesday.

Tipton declined in a telephone interview to speculate on what may happen later in the year to the price tags on everything from clothing, underwear and carpeting to nylon hosiery. He said the nation's textile mills were told last year by synthetic suppliers that there would be fiber reductions of up to 25 per cent from the year before because of the shortage of petroleum products that go into the manufacture of synthetics. But Tipton said some mills — especially those that shopped from supplier to supplier simply on a price basis — are finding themselves without synthetic fibers. "Some time down the road, we are going to have more synthetics available, but whether it will be 1975 or 1976, we don't know, and we don't know at what price," he said. Tipton said Dan River, which is one of the country's big spinners, weavers and knitters, has been increasing the amount of cotton in its fabrics.

Consumers Aid Charity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—North-eastern Ohioans indirectly contribute more than $1 million a year to charity when they pay their electric, gas and telephone bills. The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., East Ohio Gas Co. and Ohio Bell Telephone Co. include in their rate structure all or part of the cost of company contributions to United Appeal and other charitable agencies. The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio allows the practice which has been going on since 1950. Sally Bloomfield, PUCO commissioner, said Tuesday the practice is not largely known to the public. The PUCO recently granted a $38.8 million-a-year rate increase to the East Ohio Gas Co. and a company spokesman said some of the telephone calls protesting the rate increase mentioned the charitable contributions.

discover the evil forces attempting to bring about the end of the world through a hidden clock. Beginning readers who have had it with stories of puppies and kittens will find adventure in "The Midnight Ghost." A trail of white footprints and a closet door that slowly creaks in the middle of the night are clues that will keep 1st and 2nd graders reading. Children will be tickled as they read how a dog and his master exchange roles in "The Strange Dreams of Rover Jones" by Richard Armour. And they'll flip over the sight of poor Mr. Jones lapping milk from a dog's dish. The illustrator has captured perfectly the disgust of poor Rover as his owner utters soulful and ear piercing Whines as an accompaniment to the piano.

What happens to a boy who eats chocolate incessantly? He breaks out in large spots and is the victim of "Chocolate Fever" the title of a new book by Robert Smith. The story has a truck hijacking, gangsters, and a boy fleeing his tormentors for plenty of action. The author has combined humor, suspense and easy reading for young boys. What youngster hasn't dreamed that his beloved pet has come to life. One by one the hand-carved animals on "Herbert's Stilts" come to life in a book by that name by Kurt Werth. Although there are sound reasons for the animals coming into Herbert's life, readers will wonder if something more than coincidence is involved. And for any child who has to cope with a two year old brother monopolizing everyone's attention, Judy Blume has written "Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing." Peter has to shoulder responsibility when Fudge's antics cause trouble as they frequently do. The kids and their problems are real and the book has a nice light touch.

Young girls just entering their teens will identify with Kathy who is the central character in "I Was a 98-Pound Duckling" by Jean Van Leeuwen. It's a long summer when you are trying to cope with problem hair and an undersized boy and long to look like the girls in "Seventeen Magazine." And it's a long time, too, before a boy can earn the $200 to buy a go-cart. But in "Doodle and the Go-Kart" by Robert Burch, Doodle explores every opportunity from operating a mule transportation service to animal trapping. Although many of this projects fail his efforts are worth emulating. And good-naturedly, he keeps trying to achieve his goal. Bright new copies of popular dinosaur joke books and other light humor in both paper and hard back form round out the new additions to the children's collection this week. Stop in and take a look . . .

Potential Mobile Home Hazard Found By Trio Of Firemen

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — A trio of volunteer firemen in Sandusky Township may have uncovered an important clue to some of those unsolved mobile home fire mysteries. At the very least, the trio's detective work provides the basis for warnings about possible future blazes. A mobile home owner in suburban Sandusky Township called for assistance after his trailer filled with smoke. The owner couldn't find the source of the smoke. Assistant Chief Larry Longanbach, Capt. Ron Schnitz and fireman Glen Watson searched the mobile home but came up with nothing but smoke. The firemen went outside. They found the hot water heater compartment thick with smoke. After clearing away some of the fumes, the firemen saw that the legs of the hot water heater had worked their way through the flooring, leaving the metal base resting on the wood. Since the heating element of the tank metal resting on the wood was extremely hot when water was being warmed. The three volunteers pried up the tank. The wood burst into flames. Apparently only oxygen had prevented the flooring from burning. Township fire officials believe that vibration over a period of several years may have caused the legs of the heater to penetrate through the wood flooring. Wind or foot traffic could have caused the vibration, they believe. Fire Chief Robert Schabel is preparing a report to submit to the state fire marshal's office. He hopes information about the potential hazard will result in its elimination.

Veal Consumption Shown Declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veal has been fading as an American meat for many years and the decline probably will continue as dairy cow numbers continue to drop, says the Agriculture Department.

Another reason, the department's Economic Research Service says, has been that high cattle prices the past few years have drawn dairy calves — the major U.S. veal source — into beef production.

"The bulk of calves slaughtered for veal are heifers that aren't needed for replacement in the dairy herd," the agency said in the March issue of Farm Index. "Steers are generally raised for feeders to meet the demand for beef."

Veal consumption figures illustrate what has happened. In 1973, USDA statisticians report, American ate 1.8 pounds of veal per capita on a carcass weight basis. That was down from 2.2 pounds in 1972 and an average of 6.1 pounds per capita in 1960.

Other meats, by comparison, are eaten in vastly greater quantities. And beef has gradually increased for many years, while veal has dropped.

The 1973 average for beef was down, however, to 109.3 pounds per capita from a record 116 pounds in 1972. The decline reflected the cutback in marketings of slaughter cattle last year.

But U.S. beef consumption has in-

Abortion Pay Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Spokesmen for the state Welfare Department and the state auditors' office say a dispute is holding up checks to doctors for about 1,000 abortions on welfare recipients.

Richard E. Lightner, deputy welfare director, says his department certifies all abortions for payment.

"If a doctor sends us a bill certifying the abortion was performed, we treat it the same way we treat bills for other medical services and send it to the auditor for payment," he said.

But Fred Nippenburg in the auditor's office says there is a question over whether the state can pay for elective abortions, as opposed to abortions to save the life of the mother.

King To Face Labor Opposition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Dayton Journal-Herald reported today a carpenters' union official from Youngstown will run against Frank King for the AFL-CIO presidency.

The paper said Milton Marsh, 45, executive secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Council of Carpenters, will head the opposition.

The report follows weeks of bickering between King and AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Warren J. Smith.

Key Club, Kiwanis Honored By Freedoms Foundation

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge named Key Club International, the service organization of high school men, as a Principal Award winner in the General Americana Award category at its Twenty-fifth Annual National Awards presentation, February 18.

Freedoms Foundation also awarded Key Club International's parent organization, Kiwanis International, the George Washington Honor Medal in the same category, according to Fred W. Bower, president of the Kiwanis Club of Circleville, Ohio.

The Principal Award, the highest award bestowed in any one category, came to Key Club International for its 1972-73 national theme "Insure Tomorrow." Through that theme, individual high school Key Clubs served their communities by involvement in drug abuse education, leadership seminars, clean-up campaigns, recycling and ecology projects as well as other humanitarian activities.

Kiwanis International's sponsorship

of Freedom Enterprise Week, held each August, distinguished Kiwanis as an honor medal winner. In addition, the Kiwanis Club of San Diego was awarded a George Washington Honor Medal for its community program "Pillars of American Freedom," an annual speakers series on American institutions.

Heidelberg Hikes Tuition Fees

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—Heidelberg College President Leslie H. Fisel Jr. announced Tuesday a 5.9 per cent increase in the general tuition to the institution for the 1974-1975 academic year.

Fisel said tuition will be raised $155 to $2,520 and room and board will be raised $45 to $1,030.

Fisel said inflation and generally higher operating costs "leaves us no choice but to raise" the fees.

Heidelberg has been operating on a balanced budget for two straight years.

Big Bear Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Forty years ago, in the depth of the depression, Big Bear opened the first complete self-service supermarket in Central Ohio.

The store, located on Lane Avenue in Columbus, Ohio was opened on February 15, 1934 and was one of the largest supermarkets in the country at that time. The building, which houses the supermarket today, was used as a dance hall, roller rink and polo field before being acquired for the first Big Bear Store.

Today, 40 years later, the Big Bear Company still operates the same supermarket although it has been remodeled several times. Big Bear currently operates 53 supermarkets including the Circleville Store, and 11 discount department stores in central, southern and eastern Ohio and in northern West Virginia. Four free-standing drug stores are operated in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. Big Bear is the dominant food chain in Columbus, Big Bear's major market (24 supermarkets), and is an important competitor in other cities.

The success of Big Bear Store Co. must be contributed greatly to Wayne E. Brown, president, a native of Coalton. He left Coalton as a young man and went to Detroit, Michigan, where he first went to work in a clerical position with an automotive manufacturing company. In addition, he took a part-time job working in a grocery store of a large national food chain. He soon discovered this work more to his liking and joined the food chain on a full-time basis. He advanced quickly in the organization, receiving successive promotions until after a few years he was district superintendent—the youngest in the chain, with 240 stores under his supervision.

In 1933, in the middle of the depression, he left this promising career to come to Columbus to start a new business enterprise.

Big Bear's Supermarkets range in size up to 40,000 square feet. The supermarkets are self-service with a complete line of grocery products, fresh meats and produce, frozen and convenience foods, dairy products, health and beauty aids, sundries, and other grocery products. In addition to nationally advertised brand names, Big Bear Supermarkets carry products under the "Food Club", "Top Frost" and other brand names of Topco Associates, Inc., cooperative purchasing organization. Big Bear uses the "Betty Brown" name for its bread and other bakery products.

Big Bear's objective is to present quality merchandise at competitive prices in clean, attractive, conveniently located stores. Buckeye Premium Stamps are given in about 75 per cent of Big Bear's supermarkets. Big Bear operates twelve in-store Delicatessen Departments with an assortment of hot and cold ready-to-eat foods. Nine supermarkets feature "full-line" in-store bakeries that bake bread and other bakery products. Fresh produce and large frozen food departments are featured in every Big Bear Store.

Private label and controlled brands account for approximately 12 per cent of Big Bear Supermarket's sales. These items are concentrated in the lines of merchandise made available by Topco Associates, Inc., a cooperative purchasing organization, in the various products produced by Big Bear's own bakery and in its branded line of meats.

In 1948, Big Bear was among the regional chains to found Topco

Past Ohio Commander Is Speaker

Dr. Michael J. Chakeres, an optometrist at London, will be the guest speaker 6 p.m. Saturday at the Hall-Adkins American Legion Post celebration of the anniversary of the legion.

DR. MICHAEL J. CHAKERES

Dr. Chakeres was commander of the American Legion of Ohio during 1966-67 and served a 2-year term as its alternate national executive committeeman, 1969-70.

A veteran of the United States Navy during World War II, he attended college while in the service and completed his education upon his discharge. He attended the University of North Carolina, Emory University at Atlanta, Ga., Ohio State University and the Illinois College of Optometry.

Dr. Chakeres first joined the Legion at Gary, Ind., in 1946 and became a member of Madison Post 105 at London in 1953. He was elected three times as post commander and between those terms served in the top offices of the Sixth District which includes seven central Ohio counties. In addition to his year as commander, he served as vice commander of the state organization for two years.

Besides his Legion interest, Dr. Chakeres is a past president of the London Lions Club, a member of the Greek Orthodox Church in Columbus and a trustee of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home, Xenia. His wife, Billie, has served three terms as president of the women's Auxiliary unit of Madison Post 105.

Associates, Inc., the current members of which have total sales as a group ranking between the nations second and third largest food chains. Topco makes available to its 33 owner-member companies, a wide variety of controlled brand food and nonfood products to supplement their lines of nationally branded items.

Big Bear regularly employs approximately 5,400 persons, including part time employees. Big Bear has never had a work stoppage due to labor disagreements and many employees including top management have been associated with Big Bear for many years. Big Bear promotes from within and all of Big Bear's top management began their careers in stores.

Love Affair With Grease Rack Happy One For Gal Mechanic

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Helen Hunter's love affair with a grease rack began as a teenager when she breezed through a high school course in auto mechanics.

But it wasn't until 15 years later, after she had three children and had washed out as a typist, that she realized her ambition and teamed up with her mechanic-husband to form Roy and Helen's Service Center.

"Roy would come home and talk about employe problems and problems with the oil company," says Mrs. Hunter, 33. "So finally, I just put the kids in a nursery, fired all the help and went to work."

"I used to work as a typist in a room with no windows. Those walls kept getting smaller and smaller. They finally fired me."

"But now I've got a whole new world with meeting people, seeing the sunshine and doing the work I enjoy."

Hunter, 44, handles the major repairs at the couple's garage-gas station while his wife takes care of the more routine jobs like installing brakes, water pumps, batteries and "all those little goodies."

Mrs. Hunter says for the first time in her life she feels like a real liberated woman — "Roy lets me work like a man" — but acknowledges that she still collects her share of male chauvinist remarks.

"The men usually say, 'YOU'RE gonna work on MY car?'" she says. "But I just let them watch me. Sometimes they come in again and ask for me."

Helen says she acquired her automotive skills as a high school student in Leicester, Mass.

"I hung around with the hot rod kids in high school," she says. "I drove in the powder puffs and drag races. But after the races, there wouldn't be anything to do. The guys would all be working on their cars. So I put on my dungarees and sweatshirt and watched them. I figured I could learn it."

Helen says her husband likes her new role and doesn't let a little grease stop him from stealing a kiss ever once in a while.

"Now that's something he couldn't do with just any mechanic," she says. "He also gets in a little pinchy-poo when things get boring."

Cancer Research Measure Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to provide $2.76 billion for a three-year extension of the research fight against cancer.

Under the measure, approved by an 89 to 0 Senate vote Tuesday, funds authorized for the special cancer program would be sharply increased over the $1.6 billion provided for the first three years.

The bill has a provision, opposed by the Nixon administration, calling for a study of other health research programs.

Pardon Sought For Ex-Beatle

LONDON (AP) — A petition with 60,000 signatures asking the British government to pardon ex-Beatle John Lennon from his 1968 conviction on a drug charge has been delivered to Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The petition requests a pardon so that Lennon, now living in the United States and threatened with deportation because of the 1968 conviction, can be free to travel.

In Beverly Hills, Calif., meanwhile, the district attorney's office dismissed Tuesday a citizen's complaint against Lennon for allegedly striking a woman photographer outside a West Hollywood club. Officials said there was insufficient evidence.

Mike Neal Training At Fairgrounds Oval

BRISK WORKOUT—Mike Neal of Circleville turns a brisk mile at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds with one of the pacers in his stable of nine harness horses he is training there.

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth of a series of articles on horsemen training at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds track.

Mike Neal, who is training nine harness horses at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, has an early start and raced at Wheeling during the harness meet there.

He is training two pacers for Richard and Joe Asher of New Holland. They are Arch Berry, 5-year-old with a mark of 2:12.3 who has won $650 at Wheeling, and My Berry, a 2-year-old colt that Neal is just jogging at the present.

Johnny Fisher, an 11-year-old trotter owned by Betty J. Neal, has also campaigned at Wheeling, with winnings of $658 there. Also owned by Betty J. Neal is 6-year-old trotter, Smart Stuff, who has a lifetime record of 2:06.4.

For Jim Woodward, Alan Wood, James Repasky he is training a 2-year-old pacer, Miss Bootlegger, and a 3-year-old trotter, Speed N' Glory. Woodward also owns Plucky Tony, a 5-year-old pacer.

Robert Burton of Circleville owns the 5-year-old pacer, Oaklawn Night, who has had four starts at Wheeling this year. The pacer was third one time with total winnings of $96.

Harold Nagel of Circleville owns the 4-year-old pacer, Christie's Carusel.

Orioles Scout Gaylord Perry

By ANDY LIPPKAN
AP Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry says he's got the feeling he's being watched this spring. And it's not only to see if he's throwing a spitball.

"I know the Orioles are scouting me and I would understand if the Indians were to trade me," Perry said after he and two Cleveland relievers combined for a one-hitter in defeating California 4-1 Wednesday.

"If Phil Seghi gets a good offer for me, I realize he can't very well turn it down."

Baltimore scout Bill Werle was in the stands at Tucson, Ariz., as Perry allowed only a triple by Denny Doyle in seven innings, while striking out seven and walking one.

Perry, 30, is in exhibition baseball, the

New York Mets edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3; the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the San Francisco Giants 4-2; the New York Yankees beat the Atlanta Braves 4-1; the Boston Red Sox defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-2; the Montreal Expos trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Texas Rangers 9-7 and the Houston Astros squeaked by the Detroit Tigers 3-2.

The Cincinnati Reds downed the Chicago White Sox 7-3; the San Diego Padres nipped a split Milwaukee squad 8-6 and the Oakland A's defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in other games.

Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte liked what he saw of Perry. "Gaylord is ready to open the season," Aspromonte said. "He could have gone nine innings just as easily as standing out there. To me, Gaylord pitched like a beautiful piece of chemistry."

The Padres built a 7-1 lead and then held off a Milwaukee rally when the Brewers scored twice in the seventh inning and three times in the ninth.

St. Louis hurler Bob Gibson was touched for a two-run home run by a former teammate, Bernie Carbo, and the Red Sox scored two more runs against him in the fourth.

Jim Cox's single in the 12th inning scored the winning run for Montreal which jumped on Steve Carlton for five runs in the first five innings. The Phillies came back with a four-run seventh.

Tom Paciorek's bases-loaded walk broke a 5-5 tie as Don Stanhouse walked four of the five Dodgers he faced in the seventh inning.

Pinch-runner Dave Campbell scored from third on a single by Houston pinch-hitter Greg Gross in the ninth inning. Detroit had scored two runs on four straight hits in the second inning.

The A's finished their spring series with the Cubs with three victories in four decisions after erupting for two-run spurts in the first and fifth innings.

Bud Harrelson drove in two runs for the Mets, while Rusty Staub drove in the game-winner on a double play grounder in the seventh inning.

Ron Blomberg walked with the bases loaded to break a tie for the Yankees who scored two more when Duke Sims followed with a double.

Outfielder George Foster delivered a two-run double which capped a three-run Cincinnati scoring spurt in the third inning.

Ed Sprague pitched three scoreless innings as the Brewers scored two seventh-inning runs to defeat San Francisco.

Sparky Sticks To His Game Plan

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — How do you keep two players flirting with .400 batting averages out of the starting lineup?

By sticking to the game plan, says Cincinnati Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

Outfielders George Foster and Cesar Geronimo are having sensational spring training seasons for the Reds, but Anderson said it won't sway him until he sees that his original plan won't work.

That means newly-acquired Merv Rettenmund and rookie Ken Griffey will have to play themselves out of a job.

Rettenmund, obtained in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles, has been penciled into the centerfield spot and Griffey is headed for rightfield.

But while Rettenmund is having a strong exhibition season with a .333 batting average, Griffey has been gripped with problems.

Anderson emphasized Wednesday that he plans to stand by his earlier announcement.

"It doesn't matter what they—Foster and Geronimo—do. Griffey will be in right field against righthanders and Foster against lefthanders. There's no way I will change."

But, added Anderson, Griffey must improve on his spring showing to remain in the platooning plans. The fleet youngster who hit .381 with the Reds last fall after being called up from the minors has slumped to .256.

Meanwhile, backup shortstop Darrell Chaney made some noise of his own in a 7-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday. He slammed a home run off former Reds' pitcher Jim McGlothlin after stroking a double earlier to trigger a three-run third inning.

Chaney had an 0-for-19 string earlier this spring, but Anderson said the Reds' player representative has earned a job as a valuable reserve.

Flint Ties Toledo, 1-1

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Flint came from behind Wednesday night to tie its International Hockey League Turner Cup playoff series 1-1 with Toledo.

Flint's 4-3 victory means the two teams will meet again Friday to determine the winner in the best-of-three-game series.

Toledo held a 2-1 lead at the end of its first period on goals by John Haight and Moe Brunel, against Flint's lone point by Vick Mortenson.

Flint turned it around in the second with goals by Jim Koleff and Frank Beaton, while Toledo went scoreless.

Gary Gilbert added another for insurance 23 seconds into the third period. The final goal was by Toledo's Ken Sutyla, 3:39 into the period.

Walt Luckett, Bob Nichols Win Honors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University sophomore Walter Luckett was named Player of the Year by the widest margin in the history of Mid-American Conference voting, and basketball Coach of the Year honors went to Bob Nichols of Toledo.

Nichols guided his Rockets to a second-place conference finish but nabbed the honor by a one-vote margin over title-winning Jim Snyder of Ohio University. The vote was 43-42.

The MAC News Media Association's balloting turned up Luckett's name on 66 of 91 ballots. The 6-foot-4 guard was top scorer in the league, averaging 23.2 points.

The media had slated Toledo for low team on the totem pole in a preseason vote. But the Rockets finished with an 8-4 conference record, 19-9 for the season and also reached the semifinals of the new Commissioners Tournament.

Nichols has chalked up a 145-79 record without a losing season in eight seasons at Toledo.

Luckett finished 55 votes ahead of the nearest competitor, junior forward Dan Roundfield of Central Michigan.

Other players receiving votes were Miami senior guard Phil Lumpkin, Toledo junior guard Jim Kindle and senior forward Mike Parker and Bowling Green junior forward Cornelius Cash.

Other coaches mentioned included Dick Parfitt of Central Michigan, Frank Truitt of Kent State, Eldon Miller of Western Michigan and Pat Haley of Bowling Green.

Youth Baseball Sets Registration

Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc. will hold registrations 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

All boys who are eight years of age and not 17 before Aug. 1 are eligible to sign up. Boys registering for the first time, regardless of age, must show a birth certificate.

Last year's uniforms must be turned in before a boy can register.

CHS Golfers Prepare To Defend SCOL Title

Coach Steve Brudzinski has 13 candidates, three lettermen, contesting for positions as his Circleville High School golf team prepares to open the season and defend its South Central Ohio League title.

Returning to action is last year's most valuable player, Terry Spellacy, the only senior on the squad. Junior lettermen Jeff Spires and Mark McFadden provide added strength to the Tiger squad.

Juniors making a bid for a berth are Mike Currie, Jim England and Jeff Bohenko.

Sophomores out for the team are Alan Spellacy, Bruce Hutchinson, Dan Marshall, Dave DeFrank, Jim Bragg, Brent McPherson and John Berlin.

"The boys are busy qualifying for the five team positions as all matches will be played with five boys on a team," coach Brudzinski said. "We will use the best four scores to determine team total strokes. We will also have junior varsity matches for the boys who don't make the varsity."

The Tigers will be coming off a good season last year when in addition to the SCOL crown they placed fourth in the Sectionals and second in the District.

This will be the last year for spring golf. All matches and tournaments will become fall sports beginning in 1974. Here is the Circleville schedule:

March 27 — At Washington C. H.

March 29 — Bishop Flaget-Madison Plains

April 1 — At Grove City

Mustangs Top Aces For 2nd Win, 9-2

Gary Thompson rapped a home run, double and single to power the Westfall Mustangs to a 9-2 win over Amanda-Clearcreek Wednesday on the Aces' diamond.

Chris Riddle and Rick Shannon combined to hurl the five-hit win. They struck out nine and issued three walks.

Martin, McKenzie and Adkins shared mound duties for the Aces. They gave up a total of nine hits, eight walks and fanned eight.

Artie Dick chipped in with a pair of singles for the Mustangs, Jim Fausnaugh slammed a double while Dave Shannon, Tony Mosley and Chris Riddle each cracked a single.

Cordle paced Amanda-Clearcreek with a double and Stearner and Martin each added a single to the attack.

Westfall opened the scoring with a pair of runs in the second inning, erupted for four more in the fourth and capped the scoring with three tallies in the seventh frame.

The Mustangs are now 2-0 on the season and will be at Berne Union 3:30 p.m. Friday.

CHS Linksmen Down Lions

The Circleville Tigers opened their 1974 golf season Wednesday with a 167-172 win over Washington C. H. on the loser's links.

Jeff Spires carded a 37 to take medalist honors and pace the Red and Black. Jim England fired a 39, Mark McFadden had a 44, Terry Spellacy 47 and Mike Currie 50.

D. Boswell paced Washington C. H. with a 39, D. Garringer had a 43, D. Butterfield 44, R. Harris 46 and M. Stanford 48.

This year all matches will be played with a five-man team with the best four scores determining the team total.

Circleville will host Bishop Flaget and Madison Plains 4 p.m. Friday at Pickaway Country Club.

CHAMPS—Mound Street School won the 1974 Gra-Y basketball championship with a record of 5-0. Jackson No. 1 finished second and Nicholas No. 2 was third. Mound Street also won the NBA League while Jackson captured the ABA title.

Good, Bad News About Smoking Fish

By JIM BAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

Here is good news and bad news about smoking fish.

First, the bad news: The process, though quite easy, takes a lot of time.

And the good news: Smoking imparts a unique change-of-pace flavor to choice species and makes edible many fish that are otherwise wasted.

Virtually any kind of fish can be smoked.

Delicate, white-fleshed species like walleye, perch and panfish are inclined to dry out faster than some other fish so care is needed not to over-smoke them.

Especially well suited to smoking are fish with oilier flesh such as salmon, trout, carp, sheephead, catfish and white bass.

Bruins Top Rangers, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Contrary to popular belief, the Boston Bruins are not coasting into the first round of the National Hockey League playoffs.

Having clinched first place in the East Division, many believed the Bruins to be taking it easy and merely working into shape for the "second season" — the playoffs — which starts April 10.

"It wasn't a meaningless game at all," said Boston Coach Bep Guidolin after the Bruins' 3-2 victory over the New York Rangers Wednesday night.

"We came into the game wanting to get at least one point. If we do go into the (playoff) finals, that extra point and extra game at home can make all the difference in the world."

In other NHL games, the Chicago Black Hawks defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3; the Detroit Red Wings topped the Buffalo Sabres 3-1; the Philadelphia Flyers downed the St. Louis Blues 6-2; the Pittsburgh Penguins tied the Minnesota North Stars 3-3, and the New York Islanders tied the California Seals 2-2.

If the Bruins finish the regular season with more points than the first-place Philadelphia Flyers of the West Division, they'll get the game which means "so much" to Guidolin and the Bruins — if they make it to the finals.

Miss Christy Lee Wins Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Miss Christy Lee went wire-to-wire to claim the featured race at Latonia Wednesday night by one and one-half lengths.

Completing the 6½ furlongs in 1:07 3-5, the winner paid $13.80, $6.60 and $5.60. Miss About Face returned $4.20 and $3.00 for second. Ducky Mick showed at $3.80.

Handle was $386,972 from the crowd of 3,788.

Leroman and Nadine's Jewel paid $163.40 in a 2-9 daily double combination.

Margene Farvel Wins Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Margene Farvel romped to a twolength victory in the featured race at Lebanon Wednesday night.

The winner went the mile in 2:06 4-5 to return $11.60, $5.00 and $2.80. Vicetta paid $2.80 and $2.20 for second. The show horse was Plucky Porter at $3.60.

The 2-4 double combination of Alpha Adios and Krista's Kim returned $12.00.

Mullaney, McCarthy Top Coaches

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Mullaney, who instilled the Utah Stars with the winning spirit he inspired at Kentucky and Babe McCarthy, who succeeded Mullaney when he left the Colonels at the end of last season, have been named as coaches of the year by The American Basketball Association.

Mullaney this year took the Stars to a runaway Western Division title after leaving Kentucky, where last year he guided the Colonels all the way to the seventh game of the championship series before losing.

McCarthy guided a revamped Kentucky five through a torrid Eastern Division fight before falling to the New York Nets.

It is the second time there have been two coaches voted by the ABA coaches. Bill Sharman and Joe Belmont tied in 1970.

In three seasons, Mullaney, a former coach at Providence College, has become one of the ABA's winningest coaches. His Kentucky team won a record 68 games in 1971-72 and 56 last season. After a slow start this season, Utah ran off 14 straight victories to pull far out in front.

McCarthy won the West title with New Orleans the first year of the league. He has also coached at Memphis and then Dallas.

Charles Henry Big Ten Aide

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Charles D. Henry II of Grambling (La.) College, one of the nation's top black athletic administrators, will become assistant Big Ten commissioner on June 1.

Appointment of Henry, 50, head of Grambling's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department, was announced Wednesday by Commissioner Wayne Duke.

Tony Boyle Jury Selection Slow

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Long, monotonous days in a warm courtroom selecting a murder jury may be affecting the health of W. A. "Tony" Boyle, the former United Mine Workers president accused of arranging the 1969 "hired gun" assassination of a union rival.

When the 72-year-old Boyle, still suffering the effects of a sleeping pill suicide attempt last fall, slumped in his chair Wednesday afternoon his lawyer asked for an immediate recess.

"The defendant is tired," said Charles F. Moses, Boyle's attorney. "The doctor said he shouldn't be overtaxed."

"I resent that," sharply replied Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Catania.

"You are not supposed to talk to the doctor. He is appointed by the court, and he is instructed to report to me, and not to you, and to Mr. Sprague (Richard A. Sprague, the special prosecutor)."

The judge allowed only a 10-minute recess and then forced opposing counsel to interrogate three more prospective jurors before adjourning.

Boyle walked slowly from the courtroom and was driven to the nearby Riddle Memorial hospital

Nat Frazier Named Coach Of The Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — When Nat Frazier came to Morgan State three years ago, basketball was hardly the No. 1 sport on campus.

"Not too many people here cared about basketball then," Frazier recalled. "Football was the big sport."

With Frazier's arrival, however, the Bears' basketball fortunes took off, and Wednesday Morgan completed a clean sweep of national small-college honors when Frazier was named Associated Press College Division Coach-of-the-Year.

Joe Hague Given Waiver By Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Joe Hague, a pinch-hitting star in the Cincinnati Reds' 1972 pennant drive, was waived by the National League team Wednesday.

The unconditional release leaves the 29-year-old first baseman up for grabs by other major league clubs.

Sarah Vaughn Notes Her 50th Birthday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sarah Vaughan, who quit high school to attempt a career in music, has celebrated her 50th birthday at a dinner.

President Nixon wrote a letter of praise to the popular singer, adding that, "These wishes come to you from the heart of a nation that respects and honors your talent."

Mr. and Mrs. Richard K. Smith (Kris Trego) announce the birth of a daughter, Jennifer Lynn, at Riverside Methodist Hospital on March 16. The new little Miss Smith weighed 10 pounds 1 1/2 ounces at birth. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Trego and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Smith.

The South Bloomfield Booster Club will meet Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building. All members are urged to attend.

Clarence (Dave) Foreman, Sr. was the honored guest at a surprise birthday party in observance of his 65th birthday on March 10. The party was given by his wife, Mabel. He received many cards and gifts from friends and relatives. They were entertained with games and card playing. The dinner was served by Mrs. Foreman, her daughter and daughters-in-law.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Foreman Jr. and daughter, Donnie Allen of West Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foreman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Jones all of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Presler and son of Amanda; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hutchinson and Mrs. Kathryn Metzler of Columbus; Mr. James Creameans and daughter Sharlana, Master Troy Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foreman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Foreman and family all of Ashville.

Dave would like to thank all those who remembered him on his birthday.

One hundred fifty members and guests of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a skating party at the Circle D in Circleville on March 19. The Rev. Kenneth Geren led the group in devotions.

Senior Girl Scout Troop 940 will have a bake sale on Saturday, at 9 a.m. in the Foreman Building at the corner of Long and Main Streets in downtown Ashville.

John Little and Jerry Sabine were the weekend guests of Steve White at Rio Grande College. John and Jerry are both enjoying spring break from Ohio State University.

The Everfaithful Sunday School Class of the Zion United Methodist Church met recently in the home of Verna Remy. Mae Alexander presented the scripture for the evening followed with prayer. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Betty B. Smith.

Following the business meeting a silent auction was held. Prizes for games were awarded to Mae Alexander and Fern Bozman. The door prize was won by Colleen Edgington.

A lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Remy and assisting hostess Erma Darkes to Betty Smith, Georgia Myers, Jean Cline, Doris Cline, Alma Higgins, Virgie Wean, Carla and Colleen Edgington, Nancy Cook, Fern Bozman, Dorothy Cook, Jeraldine Canter and Mae Alexander.

The Winter Sports Banquet will be held at the Teays Valley High School Cafeteria on Monday. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Honored guests will be members of the varsity, reserve and freshman basketball teams, members of the wrestling teams, cheerleaders, coaches and advisors.

Those families attending are asked to bring a well-filled basket that includes a meat dish. The well-filled basket is being emphasized as there has been a shortage of food at the past several banquets. The rolls and beverages will be furnished by the Athletic Booster Club. Table service will be furnished for the honored guests only. You are also reminded to bring serving spoons for your dishes of food.

A pot-luck supper was held Wednesday at the First Baptist Church honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Geren on their first anniversary with the church. The honored couple was presented a gift from the congregation.

The Ashville Pythian Sisters met recently in the K. P. Hall for the regular monthly meeting. Most Excellent Chief, Gladys Rush, presided during the evening. The charter was draped for 30 days for Past Supreme Chief Olive Britt, Past Grand Chief Helen Bortz and Past District Deputy Regina Gommel. Mrs. Gommel served as District Deputy during Past Grand Chief Francie Peters' term. Draping the charter were Manager Francine Peters, Excellent Junior Betty B. Smith and Excellent Senior Judy Campbell.

An official letter was read from Grand Chief Bonna Schneider and a note from sister Dora Eisaman was also read. Members are still asked to collect and turn in the "cents off" coupons found in magazines and newspapers. These in turn are given to the Board of Trustees of the Medina Home. Members were asked to save all old catalogs and cards such as birthday, Christmas, etc.

These will be given to the Senior Girl Scout Troop who delivers them to patients at the Orient State Institute. The patients really enjoy looking through the catalogs. These items may be taken to the home of Marilyn Sabine for collection. This is a very good service project for both the Pythian Sisters and the Girl Scouts.

It was announced that the Sisters would serve a dinner to the Kiwanis Club members on Wednesday evening and that the Past Chief Club would meet on Thursday, in the home of Jean Schiff. The District Past Chief Club will meet in the Amanda Temple on Friday.

An invitation was read from Majors Temple to attend their annual inspection on Thursday, April 4.

It was agreed by all members present to raise the price of the noodles per bag, which are made and sold by the members.

Then next meeting will be held Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the K. P. Hall. Most Excellent Chief asked that all officers and members of the Degree Staff be present at the April 16 meeting for practice for the annual inspection.

Members of the Sunshine Class of the Zion United Methodist Church met recently in the home of Helen Valentine with Mary Fisher serving as assistant hostess.

The meeting was opened by the president, Ruth Hartley. Members present sang the class theme song, "Count Your Blessings". Prayer was given by Mary Kaiser and Med Eccard read the 5th Psalm for the Scripture lesson. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Hazel Ward and the treasurer's report by Mary Costlow. The group decided on the Easter Offering they would give to the church. Roll call was taken and dues were paid.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses to Hazel Burns, Frances Smith, Hazel Ward, Mary Costlow, Katie Wilcox, Mary Kaiser, Ruth Hartley, Gertrude Bevins, Med Eccard, Allyn White, Frances Grant, Ernestine Craig.

Prizes were awarded during the evening to Frances Smith, Ernestine Craig and Ruth Hartley.

State Farmers Ahead Of 1973

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers, blessed with a dry 1973 fall, are well ahead of their annual plowing pace this spring on the second highest crop acreage on record, Buckeye farm experts report.

Despite fertilizer shortages, plowing may be as much as 15 per cent ahead of 1972-1973.

"Plowing in northwest Ohio is 85 to 90 per cent completed," said Dr. Herbert Hadley, agricultural economist at Ohio State University. "In 1972 it was about 70 to 75 per cent done at this stage."

Homer L. Carter of the Statistical Reporting Service said, "There was tremendous plowing last fall, certainly more than in the last two years."

"The reason was that the farmers got their crops in early, it was dry and they turned right away to plowing. In comparison with other years we're in pretty good shape."

Exact figures will not be available until the first report by Carter's office on the planting situation April 8.

Fall use of fertilizer backed up the fall plowing estimates. George G. Greenleaf of the Ohio Grain, Feed and Fertilizer Association reported that Ohio farmers used 600,000 tons of fertilizer last fall compared to 321,000 tons during the 1972 fall.

Greenleaf said Ohio farmers will have 15 per cent less fertilizer this crop year than they need, a shortage of about 183,000 tons. From January to June 1973, Ohio farms used 1.2 million tons of all types of fertilizer.

"We might even get as much fertilizer as we did last year," said Greenleaf, "but with farmers planting about 10 per cent more acres we'd still be short 15 per cent."

"All of Ohio is either green or plowed," said Gene Abercrombie, state agriculture director. "Farmers have more plowing done at this time than they have in years."

Ohio farmers intend to plant 3.8 million acres of corn in 1974, about 15 per cent above the 3.3 million acres of 1973. If they keep to their intentions it would be the largest corn acreage since 1937.

They also intend to plant 3.33 million acres of soybeans, down 8 per cent from 1973.

But, these intentions could be upset by the fertilizer shortage.

If they can't get enough fertilizer this spring, farmers could switch sizeable acreage from corn to soybeans. "The possibility is very real," said Greenleaf.

Southern Ohio, which normally doesn't plow until spring, is well behind the plowing pace set in northwest Ohio. Central Ohio farmers have been reported in the fields much of March, although the percentage of the plowing job completed was generally reported below the northwest.

Still, a survey north and west of Dayton last week showed many farmers had practically finished plowing and awaiting only a weather break to take their drills into the fields and start planting.

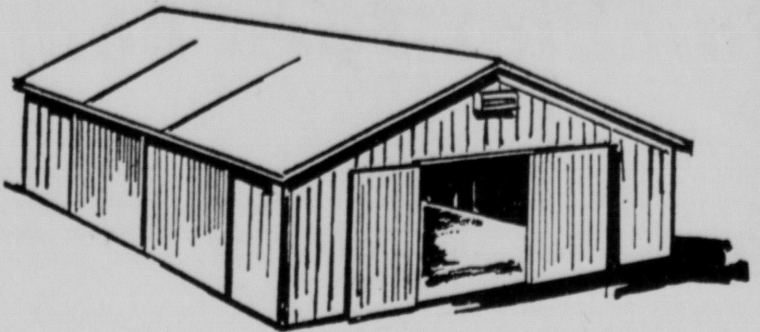

School Chief Loses 2 Aids

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Administrative cutbacks have resulted in the loss of two top aides of Cincinnati School Supt. Donald Waldrup, it was announced Tuesday.

Mark Rothacker, head of business operations, and Marianna Brown, who worked in the community relations office, are leaving.

Rothacker said he is resigning July 31 because of cutbacks that he said would leave the system "stymied for a number of years." The school board had ordered Waldrup to cut $176,000 from administrative costs.

Families Fare Badly With Cancer

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Every day, somewhere, doctors have to tell parents: "I'm sorry, your child has leukemia."

Far too often the diagnosis of this blood cancer is a death sentence. How do parents, or brothers and sisters, cope with it? Or with other situations where someone else in the family comes down with cancer?

Usually not too well, with family members often becoming "secondary victims of cancer," says Dr. David M. Kaplan, a sociologist of Stanford University Medical School.

He studied 40 families from the time that a child was diagnosed as having leukemia until three months after the child's death. He reported his results Wednesday at concluding sessions of an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers here.

Only four families came out of the experience "essentially intact" without serious problems, Dr. Kaplan said. The other 36 had either new or aggravated problems that ranged up to divorces, drinking problems, troubles with other children in the family or attempts quickly to have a "replacement child."

Dr. Kaplan told of one family in which a boy died at age three of leukemia. His identical twin five years later said he thought he ought to go outdoors and "get run over" so he "could be in heaven with Jeffrey," his brother.

Ariane Set To Return To Europe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, second wife of the late Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, says she will leave Cleveland next month and return to Europe.

Mrs. Sheppard said Wednesday she is selling all her possessions at her suburban Bay Village home and plans to live at Antibes in the south of France.

She came to this country 10 years ago from Western Germany after corresponding with Sheppard while he was serving a prison sentence for murder in the death of his first wife.

She helped free Sheppard from prison and win a new trial, which ended in acquittal.

But the marriage ran into problems, and she divorced Sheppard in 1969. He died in 1970.

In the first six months of their marriage, she said, there was little privacy and no time to talk over problems.

While the second trial was being conducted in 1966, she said Sheppard drank heavily and gulped down pills.

"You had to excuse his behavior once you know what he went through," she said.

She said cause of death was liver failure, "but the autopsy showed two-thirds of his brain had deteriorated, probably because of drugs."

Mrs. Sheppard said Dr. Sam "needed help and I tried to give it to him."

Former Mayor Faces Tumor Surgery

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Former Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh says he will undergo surgery for a malignant tumor next month, forcing at least a temporary halt to his bid for Michigan governor this year.

Cavanagh, 45, made the announcement Wednesday. He said he learned of the malignancy on his right kidney only Tuesday.

Advances from cancer research are extending life-spans, "but the extension of life, without a corresponding ability to cope with life under these circumstances, can be a mixed blessing," Dr. Kaplan said.

"Many patients and their families do not know how to make the most of the time they have been given."

He said it is urgent to "make early efforts to help families cope with impending tragedy before patterns of reaction become entrenched."

Whether to tell the truth about cancer is not the question, because even small children know that they are seriously ill, he said.

Giving some advice, garnered from his five year study, Dr. Kaplan said: —Don't go seeking faith healers.

—Don't think that in the sweepstakes your child will be the lucky one to survive, because if he doesn't "and the battle is finally lost, it will hit like a ton of bricks."

—Make the best use of the time remaining.

—Don't try to have a replacement child while one child is sick. There is enough to do for that child without having the burdens of pregnancy.

—Mourning can be relatively brief if parents have truly realized their child likely will die and has ended his misery.

—There will be anguish and hell. Try to learn to live with it."

Dan Rather Gets Support Of News Chief

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The president of CBS News said Wednesday he regrets the exchange between President Nixon and CBS newsman Dan Rather at a news conference last week, but blamed the incident on a "basic misfortune."

Richard Salant said the invitation of a couple hundred Republicans to the Houston, Tex., news conference led to the event being treated "like the Christians and the lions."

"That set the whole thing up wrong. A press conference isn't set up for people to applaud and boo."

Salant said the crowd's behavior produced the needling exchange.

Rather, who has pressed for credibility and further disclosures in the Watergate scandal, was cheered and booed when he rose to address the President.

When the outburst quieted, the President smilingly asked Rather if he were running for office. Rather replied, "No, Mr. President, are you?"

Salant said he has been asked by some CBS affiliates to fire Rather or reassign him.

But, he added, "it isn't the first time: John Ehrlichman (former presidential aide) asked me to do that about three years ago."

Salant said Rather's job was not affected by the incident.

"He is regarded by many members of the White House press corps as the best there is today," said Salant.

"It's nothing to get all excited about," he said. Salant said it is the duty of newsmen to criticize the President when necessary.

"Of course, the Presidency requires great respect, but the President himself is a different matter. There is a big difference here."

He said broadcasters should be concerned that intervention by the Federal Communications Commission could determine news emphasis.

Salant said the newly-formed National News Council, a watchdog committee reviewing news reporting, could be healthy for the broadcast and printed media. But he added he hopes it "will amount to more than the Fair Campaign Practices Committee."

The committee reported Wednesday that it is investigating charges against

Phosphorus Pinch Could Be Eased

WASHINGTON (AP) — A severe shortage of phosphorus, a trace element essential in livestock feed, could be eased substantially if feed manufacturers and farmers follow new recommendations by scientists, says the Agriculture Department.

The report was presented Wednesday by a National Research Council task force which had been requested by USDA to study the feed phosphorus situation.

In its 36-page report, the panel included recommendations for phosphorus dietary levels for beef and dairy cattle, horses, poultry, sheep and swine.

Deficiencies of phosphorus in feed can cause a variety of symptoms in livestock, depending on development, ranging from loss of appetite to death.

"The task force believes that most of the feed industry is adding phosphorus at levels above those recommended by NRC," the report said. "In most instances, a decrease in phosphorus use to comply with NRC recommendations would help meet the phosphorus shortage."

Panel members said U.S. animal and poultry producers at current rates need about 1.6 million tons of phosphorus annually. But the supply this year is only 1.3 million, a deficit of nearly 20 per cent.

A number of factors were cited for the shortage:

—Requirements have soared from 340,000 tons a year in 1951 to the current level and to an estimated 1.8 million needed by 1975. Therefore, the report said, present production capacity will not meet demands.

—Some phosphoric acid normally used for feed has been diverted to fertilizer use; and imports have been reduced because of "more lucrative markets" in other countries.

—Fish meal imports, another source of phosphorus for feed, also have been cut. Shortages of gas, oil, electricity, rail cars and other transportation also have affected phosphorus output. "It is estimated that the present phosphorus shortage will continue for at least six months and more likely for 18 to 24 months," the report said.

Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Low pressure developing in the Plains was forecast to spread rain over Ohio tonight and Friday as it moves into the state.

In the meantime overrunning across a stationary front along the Ohio River a mixture of light rain and snow was spread from southern Michigan south-eastward across northeast Ohio.

Most of Ohio is forecast to enjoy mild temperatures today. However, the areas near Lake Erie were indicated to have temperatures in the 30s due to the northeast winds across the cold lake. High temperatures in the southern portions of the state were forecast in the 60s. Early morning temperatures Thursday were in the 30s north to the 40s south.

Pennsylvania OKs Death Penalty

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania legislature has overridden a veto by Gov. Milton J. Shapp and restored the death penalty.

Tuesday's action made Pennsylvania the 23rd state to enact a new capital punishment law since the 1972 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that the death penalty, as generally applied, was unconstitutional.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A day which you can mold pretty much to your liking. Take a firm and knowing hand early and plan your schedule smartly. Make no snap decisions, however.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Better-than-average prospects, but you will have to grasp the good opportunities firmly, quickly reject propositions likely to be unproductive.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Precision and perception needed. Curb a tendency to wander from prescribed course; aim to see both sides of controversial issues.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): This day will liken itself to a game of checkers. First moves will count heavily, and it will be important to figure out the strategy of your opponents.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Solar influences, highly propitious, encourage a multitude of activities and interests. Especially favored: business and financial transactions, real estate interests, cultural pursuits.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Increased benefits indicated, but you may have to strive harder for the full returns possible. Look into the heart of things. Search for real values.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Listen to suggestions carefully. Advice from even the least likely sources could prove profitable. There's plenty working for you now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Act swiftly if conditions seem right, but proceed slowly where the going is tricky and there are obstacles which cannot be overlooked.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be concise, but not abrupt, eager to further your own interests, but not unkindful of others. Your attitude could change the whole picture, one way or the other.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Do whatever you can to facilitate work projects. Don't bank on achieving more than usual gains, and you may be surprised with more than you expect.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You CAN settle matters — in a way that will win the admiration of others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Excellent planetary help for gaining ground in several areas. Take advantage of every possible strategy. Associates should be cooperative.

YOU BORN TODAY are an extremely outgoing, lively and enthusiastic individual; always active and energetic, with a real zest for living and giving all you have to the world. You act with impelling force, which sometimes results in antagonism. Be watchful on this point. You are creative in your tendencies — could succeed in almost any of the arts — but have a practical side, too, which could make you an outstanding business executive, statesman or scientist. Birthdate of: John Tyler, 10th Pres., U.S.A.; Eugene McCarthy, U.S. statesman; Pearl Bailey, Amer. singer.

Body Chemistry, Depression

Linked

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Approximately 16 million Americans suffer from severe depression.

Psychiatrist William T. McKinney of the University of Wisconsin-Madison Center for Health Sciences has done four years of research into depression with rhesus monkeys. He says some persons are more sensitive to depression than others because of their genetic makeup.

He stimulated some animals with depression chemically with drugs, and some socially by isolating them from other animals. McKinney emphasized the importance of both social and biological experiences as determinants to depression. And they interact with each other.

Severe depression is not just feeling blue once in a while, McKinney said. It is feeling despairing, helpless and unsure about tomorrow. The usual treatment is a combination of drugs and psychotherapy.

Surgeons Staple Patients

NEW YORK (AP) — The use of surgical staplers is increasing. United States Surgical Corp., makers of a stapler called Auto Suture, report that more than 500,000 patients have been "stapled" since they introduced their surgical stapling line in 1967. Latest statistics reveal that surgeons are currently operating on more than 5,000 patients per week with staplers in more than 1,500 hospitals and the number is increasing rapidly.

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — Producer Roy Huggins and James Garner, who teamed up in 1957 to give the nation the tongue-in-cheek "Maverick" series, are at loose again with a new show they also hope becomes a hit series.

Technically a pilot for a proposed series, the opus, "The Rockford Files," aired on NBC TV Wednesday night. Close scrutiny revealed it to be a private eye show that sort of winked now and then.

A "Maverick" it ain't, but it may work, even though it was the sort of whodunit that raised initial hopes with a brisk strangling, then seemed to take forever before the traditional Great Chase got under way.

Garner played a gumshoe who, as it turns out, has done five years behind bars for an armed robbery he didn't commit. He now tries to solve cases police list as "unsolved-inactive."

Into his life steps a comely young lady (Lindsay Wagner) who wants him to find out who killed her widowed father, a wino we saw done in at the start of the show. The murder is in the "unsolved" category.

She isn't dismayed by Garner's $200-a-day-fee. "Money doesn't happen to be my problem," she crisply informs him. "I can hire a platoon of people like you." And she writes him a check. It is at this point I begin to like the show. He runs a credit check, the cad, and learns her hopes exceed her bank balance.

But no matter. It turns into love at second sight and detection on the installment plan, the latter leading to a wealthy young widow whose 68-year-old millionaire husband has died on the wedding night.

Stay with us, now. Turns out he expired before plighting his troth. The old wino, his mind fuddled, was picked up, whisked off to Las Vegas and passed off as the groom who "died" later that night.

She collected the millions, the wino subsequently was strangled and things seemed headed toward a happy ending until Garner stepped in.

Despite this plot, the show was liberally sprinkled with funny, offbeat little things that often gave it the sly "Maverick" touch.

If the show becomes a series and the impression persists, Messrs. Garner and Huggins could find themselves with another winner on their hands.

Duffy Praised By Tribe

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Die-hard Cleveland Indians followers find it incredulous that anyone would dare mention Frank Duffy's name in the same sentence with Lou Boudreau.

They'll have to get used to the idea because Tribe manager Ken Aspromonte not only did, he also says Duffy rates ahead of Mark Belanger of the Baltimore Orioles, last year's American League All-Star shortstop.

"You match his statistics against the shortstop who everyone says is the best in the league," asserts Aspromonte, "and I mean Belanger, and Duffy comes out on top. The only thing Belanger does better is go deeper in the hole to his right."

Duffy got off to a slow start in 1973 because of a sore arm, which he vehemently denies bothered him, and came back to lead AL shortstops with a .986 fielding average, a league record.

The record he broke (.982) was set by Boudreau with the Indians in 1947.

This is the first year Duffy has been able to come to spring training with the full confidence that he is the Indians' No. 1 shortstop.

Two years ago, when Duffy came to Cleveland with pitcher Gaylord Perry for Sam McDowell, his competition was Jack Heidemann. Last year it was veteran Leo Cardenas.

Cardenas is now with the Texas Rangers while Heidemann, after a one-year tenure with the Oakland A's, is back with the Indians, but solely as back-up shortstop behind Duffy. It does make a difference.

"The main difference now," says Duffy, "is I enjoy my time away from baseball. I sleep well, don't worry about my job, and even look forward to coming out to the ballpark."

Duffy is still incensed when reminded of his alleged arm trouble which caused the Indians to place him on the disabled list on the opening day of the season.

"I could have played," he insists, "but putting me on the disabled list ended all the arguments. I felt like a pawn."

76ers Stun Celtics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers can't win for losing.

The 76ers finished with the worst record ever in the National Basketball Association last season, 9-73, and thought they had the last laugh by drafting then-junior Bill Walton.

But even a reported offer of $2 million couldn't lure Walton, UCLA's superstar center, to Philadelphia.

This year, the 76ers made modest improvement, finishing with a record of 25-57, but still ended up with the worst record in the Eastern Conference.

That gave Philadelphia a second chance in the Walton Bowl, but the 76ers had to win a Wednesday coin toss with the Portland Trail Blazers, who had the worst record in the Western Conference.

They didn't, so Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue will have to be content with 16 more victories than last year, plus the No. 2 draft choice.

"There's no control for luck," said Shue after Philadelphia stunned the Boston Celtics 117-108 as the NBA closed out its regular season Wednesday night. "The significant thing about the season was that we became competitive."

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the Phoenix Suns 127-123, and the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Golden State Warriors 132-122.

The Sixers proved too competitive for the Celtics, who finished first in the Atlantic Division with a 56-26 record. Fred Carter tossed in 31 points, 16 in the third-quarter, to help record Philadelphia's first victory over Boston in 21 games.

Measuring about half the diameter of earth, Mars has a surface gravity just .38 of that on earth. Thus, a 150-pound man would weigh only 57 pounds on Mars and would be able to lift more than twice the weight he could lift on earth.

Oakland Again Seeks World Title

MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The Oakland A's are grumbling through spring training, a good reason to predict continued controversy and success for the world champions.

"I'm more confident now than I was a year ago that we'll win another World Series," says A's Owner Charles O. Finley.

But his players make it clear they plan to win a third straight title despite, not for, Charlie O.

"He said I'm the worst left fielder in baseball and that my arm is so weak the shortstop has to run into the outfield to take all my throws," reported Joe Rudi, one of the players who lost in winter salary arbitration battles against Finley.

"He said we don't have any stars, we only won because he put together a great club," reported Reggie Jackson, who won the American League's Most Valuable Payer award last year and pried a $135,000 salary out of Finley through arbitration.

Whether he likes it or not, Finley also has three $100,000 ballplayers in Jackson, Sal Bando and Jim "Catfish" Hunter, and the A's payroll is now one of the highest in the major leagues.

But they sound like the same malcontents who won the 1972 and '73 World Series, not fat cats.

Kansas City Looks Strong

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP)—Manager Jack McKeon of the Kansas City Royals does not believe in miracles.

McKeon, now in his second year as a major league skipper, thinks a team must have the players to win a baseball pennant. He firmly believes his club has the strength to take it all in the American League this season.

"And this team thinks it can win the pennant," says McKeon. "That's one of the important things."

The Royals finished six games behind the world champion Oakland A's in the AL West a year ago. Their big weakness was pitching.

McKeon thinks the pitching situation has been remedied with the offseason acquisitions of starters Nelson Briles from the Pittsburgh Pirates and Marty Pattin from the Boston Red Sox plus reliever Lindy McDaniel from the New York Yankees.

The Royals boss has already decided that his four starters will be Paul Splittorff, a 20-game winner in 1973; Steve Busby, who tossed a no-hitter as a rookie last season; Pattin and Briles. Briles suffering a knee injury before the spring training grind opened and may not be ready to pitch at the start. If not, Al Fitzmorris will step into the rotation.

"There's no reason that Busby can't win 25 games," asserts McKeon. "He won 16 last year. Now he knows the hitters, his control is better and he has

See A's With Pennant

It's always a good idea to go with the defending champion when you're picking the American League pennant race. Okay, the Oakland A's will win again this year.

Actually, the A's simply have too much talent to ignore—despite the disrupting machinations of owner Charles O. Finley.

It's been said that Finley's peccadillos will sink the A's boat. But it wasn't exactly the Good Ship Lollypop last season—and look what happened.

The worst damage that Finley could have done to his team was chop it up. But since no one of import was traded, sold or banned (a la Mike Andrews in last year's World Series), the A's look like more in '74.

The A's are so good, and the rest of the American League West so bad, that no one poses a distinct threat to the champs.

The Chicago White Sox have a batch of hitters, but the pitching staff consists of Wilbur Wood and a cloud of

Ohio Stars In Charity Doubleheader

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A squad of Ohio high school basketball all-stars will take part in a charity doubleheader at Pittsburgh Sunday in what the director of the event says is "an innovation, inviting an out-of-state team."

"We believe Ohio has as many blue chip college prospects as any state, and because of the closeness to Pittsburgh, we've issued the invitation to take part in our doubleheader," said Sonny Vaccaro.

The Ohio team, filled with Associated Press all-stars, will play a Pennsylvania all-star squad. The second game will feature a national all-star team versus another Pennsylvania all-star squad.

The doubleheader in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena is for the benefit of Dapper Dan Charities.

Four first team Class AAA all-stars, including Player of the Year Mark Bayless of Chillicothe, will lead the 10-player Ohio squad.

Bayless, a 6-foot-2 guard, will be joined by fellow first team All-Ohioans 6-7 Randy Ayers of Springfield North, 6-8 Larry Boston of Cleveland Kennedy and 6-5 Tim Joyce of Youngstown Ursuline.

Also on the squad selected by a panel of Ohio sports writers are Class A player of the Year Larry Harris of Lorain Clearview and small school all-stars 6-7 Mark Haymore of Cleveland Lutheran East and 6-4 Dan Zarling of Lowellville.

Rounding out the team are 6-6 Burrell McGhee of Warren Western Reserve, 6-1 Stan Hall of Canton McKinley and 6-2 Don Filip of Boardman. McGhee and Hall were second team Class AAA All-Ohio selections.

confidence in himself."

The big guns in the bullpen will be McDaniel, who had a 126 record and saved 10 games for the 1973 Yankees, and Doug Bird, who carved a 4-4 mark and had 20 saves.

The infield that made 192 double plays, the best in the AL since 1956, is back intact, first baseman John Mayberry, second baseman Cookie Rojas, shortstop Fred Patek and third baseman Paul Schaaf.

Fran Healy is the catcher. Amos Otis has no peer among center fielders in the AL, McKeon notes. He also hit 26 homeruns.

Veteran Vada Pinson, obtained from the California Angels, will be stationed in right field, a spot that was occupied by several players a year ago.

"I figure on Pinson in right against all pitching,"

Impeachment Panel To Ask For More Presidential Tapes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House impeachment inquiry's staff has notified the White House it will ask for more of President Nixon's tape-recorded conversations.

This was disclosed Wednesday as the House Judiciary Committee's two senior members put on headsets and listened for the first time to portions of tapes the committee already has.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., and the ranking Republican, Rep. Edward Hutchinson of Michigan, refused to give any details of what is on the tapes except that there is some foul language.

"Was there a bombshell in the briefcase?" Hutchinson was asked. "It didn't explode," he replied.

Asked if there was "a lot of cussing and bad language" on the tapes, Hutchinson replied: "No more than usual."

Hutchinson said he and Rodino did not listen to the disputed March 21, 1973, recorded discussion between President Nixon and former White House counsel John W. Dean III on hush money to keep the original Watergate burglars quiet.

Rodino and his chief counsel said the White House has turned 18 tapes over to the committee and Rodino said there were more tapes in the grand jury material turned over Tuesday.

President Nixon said March 19 he had ordered 19 tapes turned over to the committee and newsmen asked Rodino if that means one is missing.

"I'm not saying that," Rodino said. "... I know only that we have 18."

The request for more tapes of President Nixon's recorded conversations was disclosed by special counsel John Doar to all Judiciary Committee members. Doar said he told White House lawyer James D. St. Clair last Friday, "We would have additional requests for other presi-

Senate Rejects Bid To Move Financing Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted 61 to 33 against taking public financing provisions out of a campaign reform bill.

But Sen. James B. Allen, D-Ala., author of the amendment defeated Wednesday, has another proposal to eliminate federal subsidies for candidates for the Senate and the House.

The latest amendment would leave only presidential candidates eligible for tax funds to use in their general election campaigns or in seeking nomination.

"Let's see if members of the House and the Senate want to subsidize their own primary and general election campaigns," Allen said.

He noted the Senate recently had voted down pay raises for members of Congress and asked what the public would think if it now approves giving a senator as much as $2 million for a re-election campaign.

Despite the nearly 2-to-1 margin by which the Senate refused to erase the bill's public financing provisions, Allen called the vote most encouraging.

He said it showed that about one-third of the Senate is opposed to public financing in any form and this indicated "it is going to be difficult to pass the bill in the final analysis."

It takes a two-thirds majority to cut off a filibuster, which Allen has threatened to wage against the bill.

Ten Democrats, all from the South, voted for the amendment along with 23 Republicans. Voting against Allen's amendment were 45 Democrats and 16 Republicans.

Under the bill, within the spending limits it sets, tax funds could be used to pay the full cost of general election campaigns of candidates for President and the Senate and the House.

And in primary campaigns candidates could receive matching federal grants for contributions of $250 or less to presidential contenders and of $100 or less to those seeking nomination to the Senate or the House. However, the matching grants for primary campaigns would be paid only to candidates who had first raised threshold amounts — $250,000 in the case of presidential candidates — in private contributions.

dential recorded conversations."

Doar quoted St. Clair as saying he hoped any additional requests could be made all at once but Doar said he had not promised that.

He said he told St. Clair that "in a continuing investigation facts emerge which may make additional requests necessary."

Doar quoted St. Clair as saying the House inquiry's present request for items relating to 42 of Nixon's conversations "was under consideration by the President."

Special Watergate prosecutor Leon Jaworski also has subpoenaed additional material from the White House and it has until Friday to reply.

In related developments:

—Gulf Oil stockholders filed suit seeking $1 million in damages from company executives for making illegal campaign contributions to Nixon and others.

—A White House spokesman said Nixon hasn't yet decided whether to make public his federal tax return for 1973.

—Aides to Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. denied an allegation contained in a CIA memo that Ervin agreed to play down possible CIA links to the Watergate cover-up.

Raise Funds For Family Cancer Fight

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)— Good news is finally coming the way of the cancer-stricken Raymond Southerland family.

While Southerland's 13-year-old amputee son, Stephen, mulls an invitation to go sailing with U.S. Sen. Edward M. Kennedy and his son Teddy, a fund drive in Florida has raised $8,000.

Southerland, a Dade County policeman, has had three sons develop different forms of cancer. One died, and a second son, Michael, 9, has apparently recovered.

Stephen, the oldest, lies in a Cincinnati hospital hoping the amputation of his left leg last week will arrest his bone cancer.

His father said the youth was "feeling a bit low" Wednesday. Stephen has been undergoing chemotherapy and learning to use an artificial limb.

But encouragement has come in a "boy-to-boy" letter from young Kennedy, who lost a leg earlier to bone cancer.

Teddy invited Stephen on a sailing trip on the family's boat "The Sailfish" at Hyannisport, Mass.

Meanwhile, Ronald Sorenson of Miami, a friend of the Southerland family, said a fund drive to defray the costs of Stephen's operation has raised more than $8,000 so far.

About $3,000 of the total came from an exhibition baseball game between the New York Yankees and the Chicago White Sox. Another $1,000 was raised by the Broward County (Fla.) Sheriff's Department.

Park Of Roses Seeks Contestants For Maiden

Need a scholarship? Someone is going to win up to $1,000 again this year from the Park of Roses Foundation.

Senior girls from the 73 high schools in the seven Central Ohio counties are eligible to enter. This year the program will be June 15 and 16.

Selection is made by a committee of ten judges from the seven counties. All contestants are interviewed by each judge and they are not identified by school. Selection is made by a point system as follows: Community Service 15 points; School Service 10 points; Personal Interview 20 points; General Poise and Personality 15 points.

The remaining 40 points are for beauty and divided evenly for natural beauty, posture and walk, figure and appearance at the Pageant in formal attire.

The selected Maiden of Roses and her Court of four will represent the Park of Roses in parades and special events throughout the year.

The requirements are that a contestant must be graduating this year and planning to enter an accredited school of advance education. This could be a business college, beauty school, nurses training, a University, etc.

Application blanks are now available from student council, advisor, Miss Carol Parker, or by contacting the Park of Roses, City Hall, Columbus, Ohio 43215. Deadline for entering is May 17.

Producers Re-Elects Officers

Gerald L. Hiller, general manager of Producers Livestock Assn. has announced that William J. Hoewischer of Sidney, was re-elected president of the association at the recent reorganization meeting of the Board of Directors.

The reorganization meeting was held in conjunction with the association's 39th Annual meeting which was held at the Ohio Expositions Center in Columbus.

In other board action, the number of Directors was increased to 16 with the one year appointment of Roy C. Elliott of Rising Sun, Indiana as Director at Large for the state of Indiana.

The delegates to the annual meeting ratified the election of Ralph "Pat" Smith, of Hillsboro, as a new board member for a 3-year term.

Gerald Bernard of New Vienna was reappointed to a one-year term by the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and James Ross, Master of the Ohio State Grange was also reappointed to fill a one-year term.

All of the other board members from Ohio including Harold I. Miller, Mount Vernon; Wilbur D. Williams, Wilmington; Paul Cahill, Tiro; Edward Dichler, Port Washington; Harold Fenstermaker, Baltimore; Irvin Fritz, Oxford; Robert Mercer, South Vienna; Dean Miller, Galena; Barton Montgomery, Washington C. H.; Milston Robinson, Findlay; and Philip Jordan of Richmond, Indiana were re-elected.

In addition to William J. Hoewischer as president, these other officers were re-elected: Harold I. Miller, first vice president; Wilbur Williams, second vice president; Gerald L. Hiller, secretary-treasurer and general manager; Howard Rainier, assistant secretary and Carl Russell, assistant treasurer.

Producers Livestock Assn., the marketing arm of approximately 45,000 Ohio Livestock Farmers sold over two million head of livestock at a valuation of approximately $285 million in 1973 for it's farmer members.

Vehicular Homicide Filed Against Driver In Bicycle Death

HOMICIDE VEHICLE — Pickaway County Sheriff Radcliff, Detective Don Thompson and BCI Agent James Hockenberry inspect the 1967 Chevelle which killed David Wayne Duffey, 15, Kingston, Saturday. The windshield, license tags and right front fender were removed from the vehicle to make the auto look like it was abandoned.

Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Detective Don Thompson arrested 23-year-old Larry Eugene Fetherolf, 4 a.m. Thursday, for aggravated vehicular homicide, in the hit-skip death Saturday, of David Wayne Duffey, 15, Kingston.

Through intensive investigation and public concern, Radcliff was able to contact Fetherolf 11:15 p.m. Wednesday at his place of employment. Answering questions, Fetherolf admitted he hit the Duffey boy, stating he thought it was an older man. He also stated that it wasn't snowing at the time he hit the victim.

According to earlier reports, the bicycle was well reflectorized and could be seen very clearly by passing motorists.

The auto, with the right fender dented, was located in a garage on the Fetherolf residence. The windshield, license tags and right fender were removed in an apparent attempt to make the vehicle look abandoned.

Bureau of Criminal Investigation agent James Hockenberry processed the vehicle matching paint samples taken from the bicycle with that on the auto and also blood stains of the victim.

Sheriff Radcliff commended his deputies for their earnestness in checking every possible lead and the public's cooperation, in helping apprehend Fetherolf.

Find Meat Prices Higher Than Ever

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Consumers who shop carefully can find scattered sales at the supermarket meat counter. But an Associated Press survey shows that meat prices generally are higher than ever these days.

The AP checked the prices of seven meat items in 19 cities last April at the start of a week-long boycott organized by consumers to protest soaring costs. The boycott came just after President Nixon froze all meat prices.

In a check of the same meats at the same supermarkets in the 19 cities this year, the AP found 56 per cent of the items were up in price, 26 per cent were down, 10 per cent were unchanged and 8 per cent were unavailable on one of the survey dates.

The situation varied widely from city to city. Five of seven items checked went down in price in Baltimore and the remaining two were unavailable. In Seattle, Wash., however, every item was up in price.

Wholesale prices have been going down, prompting some supermarkets to offer specials and prompting cattlemen to complain they are losing money. In an effort to aid the ranchers, the government announced Tuesday that it was buying $45 million of top quality hamburger for distribution to schools, but economists said the purchase would provide only a brief boost for the producers.

During the week ended March 23, 1974, wholesale prices averaged 66.35 cents a pound for choice steer carcasses — the kind of meat the supermarkets buy — compared with 68.05 cents a pound during the same period in 1973 and with just over 80 cents a pound during the truckers' strike in January.

The decline hasn't found its way to the retail level, however. Supermarkets point out that they are faced with increased costs for other items like labor.

The AP survey covered seven meat items — round steak, pork chops, chopped chuck, sirloin steak, lamb chops, leg of lamb and standing rib roast.

Beef items generally increased more than other meats, but there was no clear pattern. A standing rib roast, for example, cost more in 12 cities — up an average of 17.5 per cent — and less in seven — down an average of 8 per cent.

Pork chops went down in eight cities over the 12-month period and were up in seven, unchanged in two and down in one. In the 19th city, Austin, Tex., the current price usually is $1.89 a pound — up 12 per cent from last year's $1.69 figure. But a special offering this week brought the price to $1.39 a pound, down 17 per cent from last year.

Federal Beef Purchases To Be Costly

WASHINGTON (AP) — Meat industry sources say beef the government is buying to help cattlemen may well prove expensive — at least $1 per pound.

Under the $45 million plan, the meat will be provided to schools as ground beef for lunches during the 1974-75 school year.

The plan requires the ground beef to come from grain-fed cattle, the kind which feedlot operators say are losing them money. In previous purchases, the meat could come from lower-priced animals.

Industry sources said Wednesday meat packers will ask at least $1 a pound for wholesale quantities of the high-quality ground beef.

Purchases will be made from bids submitted by meat packers to the Agriculture Department, which is in charge of commodity donations to schools.

Ordinary hamburger in retail stores sells for 89 cents per pound or less, although topquality leaner ground beef is more.

U.S. Remains Without Resources Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposal is simple: create a high-level government agency to catalog and project America's resources and needs for fuel and raw materials so that policy-makers can try to deal with increasing demands.

"No single organization is today discharging these over-all functions," a presidential commission reported. "This lack must be made good ..."

The president was Harry S. Truman. The recommendation has been pending for 22 years.

Now, prodded by crisis, Congress is working on legislation to require that U.S. energy companies report their inventories, production, costs and reserves.

While the administration seeks mandatory reports on oil, it has not asked that such information be required of other industries. Economists and resource experts warn that there may be shortages, even crises, ahead in supplies of other raw materials as well.

And Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., is proposing creation of a Bureau of Resource Information, to keep track of the natural resources and food supplies the nation has and can expect.

Nelson wants one agency to put together all government data on raw

Kissinger Comes Home Without Moscow Accord

LONDON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger flew toward home today with Soviet proposals that fall far short of the "conceptual breakthrough" needed to produce a new treaty limiting nuclear weapons.

But while acknowledging this failure, a senior American official said President Nixon intends to go ahead with a summit meeting with Leonid I. Brezhnev, the Soviet Communist party leader, in Moscow in early summer.

Without detailing the differences, the official said flatly: "What they gave us is not acceptable."

He added, however, that the United States would try to come up with counterproposals, and that Kissinger probably will go back to Moscow in May.

In the meantime he will confer regularly with Anatoly F. Dobrynin, Soviet ambassador to Washington and will see Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko at a United Nations General Assembly meeting in New York next month. Technical negotiations will also continue in Geneva between the United States and Soviet representatives.

Kissinger flew to Moscow last weekend saying he expected a breakthrough to set the stage for an agreement in Geneva that Nixon and Brezhnev could sign at their third summit meeting.

Acknowledging that this forecast was too optimistic, the official said of Kissinger's discussions with Brezhnev over the last three days: "There was movement but I would not yet describe it as a breakthrough."

Before arriving in London, Kissinger told newsmen at Moscow's Vnukovo Airport: "We had a very good review

of Soviet-American relations. I think we made good progress on a number of bilateral issues."

He did not elaborate, and there was no indication his three days of meetings with Brezhnev had achieved the breakthrough he sought in the deadlocked negotiations to limit the two superpowers' nuclear arsenals. "It depends on what you mean by a breakthrough," Kissinger told a questioner. "We had good discussions ..."

"Both sides are determined to continue on the course of improving the relationship between the Soviet Union and the United States as a major contribution to world peace."

Kissinger said a joint communique on his talks would be issued later today.

The American secretary's talks with Brezhnev ended at 9:13 p.m. Wednesday although Kissinger virtually offered in a luncheon toast to work late into the night.

Assembly In Flurry Of Activity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Major measures designed to help mental patients and crack down hard on drug pushers emerged from their respective chambers during a flurry of legislative activity Wednesday.

The Senate passed and sent the House a bill that contains a "bill of rights" for mental patients. Sponsors said it is designed to prevent the "forgotten patient" and to assure the rights of those confined in the state's mental institutions.

After three hours of floor debate, the House approved 88-3 a bill requiring mandatory jail sentences for selling drugs, stealing drugs, or influencing others to use them. It goes to the Senate.

In other action, the Senate Ways and Means Committee recommended passage of a bill to implement a constitutional resolution that authorizes a tax break for Ohio's farmers.

Debate continued in the House

Judiciary Committee over a bill to create 36 new judgeships and abolish mayors' courts. Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-26 Toledo, said he plans to call for a committee vote Monday.

House sponsors of a bill outlawing the cheap handgun known as the "Saturday night special" failed once again to get it out of the House Rules Committee for a floor vote. They need seven votes among the 13 committee members, but have been able to muster only six at each of the last four meetings of the committee.

Sen. Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron, sponsored the mental patient bill which he called "a declaration of the human rights of the mentally retarded in this state."

The measure requires a formal hearing prior to any commitment to an institution and says that a judge must be convinced "beyond a reasonable doubt" that commitment is necessary.

It also calls for a review of each patient's case every 180 days and a "comprehensive review" every two years. Ocasek said those requirements should prevent recurrence of a case such as that of a woman, 102, who was placed in a Franklin County institution and then forgotten.

During prolonged debate on the drug bill — which came to the legislature from Atty. Gen. William J. Brown — the House voted to take even tougher the mandated penalties for trafficking and other more serious offenses.

Members went along 63-24 with an amendment that increased from a range of four to seven years to eight to 20 years the terms mandated for those trafficking in so-called "hard drugs" such as heroine or cocaine.

Rep. James W. Rankin, D-25 Cincinnati, sponsored the amendment, telling the House he has witnessed "14, 15 and 16-year-olds prostituting themselves in my district to support their habit."

The bill, by Rep. Myrl Shoemaker, D-88 Bournville, eases some other penalties, but at the same time sets up a procedure under which an addict or someone in danger of becoming an addict can opt for treatment rather than jail.

Rep. Joseph P. Tulley, R-59 Mentor, one of the three who opposed the bill, tried unsuccessfully to take the option out of the bill but was voted down 55-33. He claimed it would "open the jail doors for anyone with a sharp lawyer and a soft headed judge."

Another unsuccessful floor amendment would have made possession of alcohol subject to the same penalty as marijuana. The amendment by freshman Rep. David Hartley, D-60 Springfield, was voted down promptly after Shoemaker noted that "after a second beer, you could be charged with a felony."

The House rejected an attempt by Rep. Ray Luther, R-1 Newark, to make trafficking in marijuana subject to the same severe penalty as for other drugs. The bill provides a mandated six month term for trafficking in marijuana which Luther said was not enough. "This is a step toward legalization," he asserted.

Under present law, anyone caught experimenting with or in possession of any amount of marijuana can be sent to jail for a year and fined $1,000. A first offense under the pending bill calls only six months of probation.

The bill's penalty sections are contingent upon possession or selling "bulk" amounts of drugs, with the limit for each spelled out in the measure. In the case of marijuana, for instance, a bulk amount is 90 grams or more.

Federal Judgeship For Meskill Promoted

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has been recommended for a lifetime federal judgeship by Sen. Lowell P. Weicker, R-Conn.

Weicker recommended Meskill to President Nixon for a position on the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals. Meskill announced on March 11 that he would not seek a second term as governor.

Nixon Talks Of Peace, Prosperity

WASHINGTON (AP) — Never mentioning his Watergate troubles, President Nixon said his administration is making a record of "peace abroad and prosperity at home that will bring victory to Republicans in next November's elections."

At a time when many Republicans are separating themselves from the White House, the President Wednesday night recited his administration's record and proposals to the party's annual $1,000-a-plate fundraising dinner and said GOP candidates "can win on that kind of platform."

Although some 2,000 were present, a majority of them got in for free. Officials said the dinner raised close to $700,000, a sum $200,000 below last year's previous record low.

Some cheered enthusiastically, while many others applauded only perfunctorily. Afterward, some expressed surprise at the President's failure to mention what one official said was "the one subject on everybody's mind."

He would have gotten a good response from this audience," Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., told reporters.

"It was a very good speech," said Sen. Charles Percy, R-Ill., "but obviously he left out the subject he didn't want to talk about."

Weather

Partly cloudy today. High, upper 50s. Showers likely tonight and Friday, low mid 40s. High Friday near 60. Probability of precipitation, 10 per cent today, 60 per cent tonight and 70 per cent tomorrow. Temperatures Wednesday were: high, 58; low, 33.

Route 2 Woman Killed In 1-Car Accident Today

FATAL ACCIDENT—Mrs. Leila McAbee, 82, Route 2, was killed when her car struck the bridge abutment above. She was alone, apparently returning home from a shopping trip to Circleville at the time of the accident.

An 82-year-old Route 2, Circleville woman became Pickaway County's sixth traffic fatality of 1974 today when the car she was driving struck a bridge abutment on Route 22 west of Circleville 11:30 a.m. today.

Mrs. Leila S. McAbee was dead on arrival at Berger Hospital according to the Pickaway County Sheriff's office. Officers believed she had been to Circleville shopping and was returning home.

Witnesses told the investigating officers that the car just drifted left of center. The witnesses said she did not apply brakes. There were no skid marks evident.

Officers on the scene were Deputy Robert Hoover, Deputy Warren Straley and Deputy Bill Dountz.

The auto struck the bridge abutment dead center, heavily damaging the vehicle and throwing Mrs. McAbee against the steering wheel and windshield.

right, it is a problem that could recur. "... The era of generally cheap and exploitable materials seems to be at an end in the United States and the world," a Library of Congress study reports. "The developing two-thirds of the world will increasingly compete for rather than merely supply, many of the materials that the United States will require."

The United States now is heavily dependent on imports for raw materials including aluminum, tin, chromium, nickel, rubber and zinc.

According to the Library of Congress account, U.S. materials consumption

may double or triple by the year 2000, with similar trends in the rest of the world. That makes periodic shortages probable and increasing costs likely.

Problems of price and scarcity could be compounded should underdeveloped nations which export various raw materials decide to band together after the manner of the Arab oil producers, whose embargo fueled the energy crisis.

All of these factors point to a need for political decisions to deal with raw materials problems in the years ahead. And that, the experts agree, will require more information.

Financing Campaigns

Running for political office is perhaps a more uncertain business than it has been for many years. Public cynicism about politics in general is on the upswing. Polls showing public approval of both the President and Congress at a low ebb mirror this sentiment. Behind much of the distaste for politics are the numerous scandals involving campaign finances, both at national and state levels. Not only the illegal uses of some of the funds, but the size of the kitty deemed necessary for a campaign for national or state office discourage the voters. Along with the millions of dollars which fuel the campaigns are the debts which remain after the ballots have been counted. Some of these debts linger for years and are finally settled only by writing off part of the total. Debts now outstanding, as reported by candidates and their committees, total several million dollars. The largest known indebtedness reported of a senator is that of Ohio Sen. Robert Taft Jr., but red ink has become almost a fact of life in spirited races. Even where there is no impropriety in campaign financing, the size of the fund required to win an office which pays only a fraction as much in salary is no inducement to public confidence.

Helping Hand For Kids

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK — Lowell Thomas will be 82 come April 6. If you've been moved by his books, articles, broadcasts and lectures over the past 60 years, and would like to send him a note, send to him in care of Help for the Children in the Holy Land, Inc., Pawling, N.Y. 12564. Put something in it if you can afford it. It is Thomas's favorite charity. All of it will go to the welfare of that generally overlooked portion of the population of a troubled area — its children. There isn't enough money left to carry the work beyond early summer. Lowell has been the prime mover and perpetuator of this unique organization, which is a mecca for mothers and children of many nationalities, ethnic groups, and tongues. It has weathered war, want, and the fluttering of the flags of successive conquerors. But it still goes along on the slim thread of a sentence from Holy Writ, the one that goes, "Suffer the little children to come unto Me, for theirs is the kingdom of Heaven."

Thomas once wrote a "Most Unforgettable Character" article in Reader's Digest about the American, Bertha Spafford Vester, who founded the center in 1931. An excerpt:

"In my time I have met many remarkable personalities, but Bertha Vester is one of the few I have ever envied. Now 84 (at the time of the article) and active as ever, she is an American who has lived a dramatic life in that most dramatic of all cities — Jerusalem — helping others.

"She has known kings, princes, field marshals — and thousands of humble people, Moslems, Jews and Christians, who call her simply 'Ummuna.' In Arabic that means 'mother of us all.' As a child she was formally adopted by an Arab tribe. It was she who furnished a white surrender flag used when Jerusalem fell to the British in 1917 — part of a hospital sheet! She stoutly faced death in heavy gunfire during the fierce battles of 1948 . . . and later."

Lowell met her in 1918, while covering Field Marshal Allenby's capture of the holy cities. (The Denver Post of that time carried a memorable headline: ALLENBY CAPTURES CHRIST'S HOME TOWN.) And was fascinated by her story: she was the daughter of a prosperous Chicago family that had been haunted by disaster. Four of her sisters had drowned; her brother had died of scarlet fever. Her parents decided that they were being punished for thinking too much of the pleasures of life, so they took themselves and their remaining two little girls to live in Jerusalem and devote themselves to work among its poor.

In his "Unforgettable" article, Lowell told of how the children's center began:

"On Christmas Eve, 1925 she was leaving for Bethlehem to lead the first carol singing ever held in the fields 'where shepherds watched their flocks by night' when a young Arab woman, supported by her husband, approached. The man had brought his ill wife six hours on donkey-back to the general hospital of Jerusalem — to find it closed to outpatients because it was the Christians' Christmas holiday! Inside a bundle of rags the woman was carrying a baby only a few days old.

"Bertha was anxious to get along with her carols at Bethlehem but she stopped. There before her, she reasoned, was a rustic Madonna, very ill and, metaphorically, with no place at the inn for her or her child.

"Bertha got the sick mother admitted to the hospital immediately. But at her gate the next morning, Christmas, she found the Arab husband waiting, with the baby. His wife had died in the night. He held out the infant, saying, 'If I take him to my cave, which is my only house, he will surely die.'

"She had no facilities for caring for babies, but she said, 'I'll take him . . .'"

Bertha died six years ago. Today, Spafford Memorial Hospital is manned by doctors from the Israeli and Arab worlds alike, and nurses from the ends of the world. Lowell Thomas, still fit as a fiddle, got a first hand report on it from his friend Teddy Rollock, mayor of Jerusalem, last week at the Dutch Treat Club Luncheon in New York. Last November, Thomas had hoped to take a couple 747s-full of people to Jerusalem to see the center and its all-demonination playground, and the sights and wonders of the area. But another war ruined that trip. Didn't ruin Help for the Children in the Holy Land, however, but it knocked it to its knees. Thomas thinks a lot of people might want to help it back on its feet.

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Is the springtime of the economy upon us? After a long gray winter of the pocketbook, there are those who believe they see a few economic sprouts and a faint hint of green returning to the old dollar bill.

The oil embargo is over, personal income is rising, housing starts are up, the dip in car sales may have ended, some commodity prices are stabilizing and, despite relatively high unemployment, some workers are being recalled.

A lot of factors, it seems, are looking up, justifying in the minds of many the belief that the worst is over. But not to be overlooked in that list are prices and interest rates; they too are headed up.

Not even the ever-optimistic Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, can see sunshine in prices. For years he has claimed the worst was behind us; now, he says, the worst is to come.

Simultaneously, every species of interest rate is rising, from the much publicized prime rate, which goes to certain corporate customers, to conventional home mortgage rates. The former is over 9 per cent and headed up; the latter is 8.61 per cent.

The Treasury itself is expected to offer notes today that could bring a return of 8 per cent or more to buyers, some of whom might be enticed to withdraw funds from the thrift institutions.

The thrifts are the savings and loan associations and savings banks, which are the primary supporters of the home mortgage market. And when they lose deposits, potential home buyers lose the opportunity for mortgages.

This process of draining money from savings accounts into higher yielding securities is called disintermediation. Occurring repeatedly over the past decade, it has always plunged housing into a decline.

A similar process takes place in the securities market, where money tends to drain away from stocks into bonds. Some high-grade corporate bonds are edging close to 9 per cent, for example, and today's stock market can't match that.

No wonder that the Federal Reserve, which controls the flow of money to the economy, is now coming in for what is commonly termed "renewed criticism," although that criticism quite literally never ceases.

Why does the Fed want to restrict the money supply? To begin with, many analysts and perhaps the Fed itself don't think the money supply is being too restricted. Some in fact feel there's too much money floating about.

The conventional argument for restricting the money supply is that such a measure is needed to restrain the economy. And, yes, many economists still feel that economic conditions are too rambunctious.

Another group of interpreters is shocked by this attitude. With the country on the verge of recession, if not already in it, and with unemployment rising, they feel the Fed should be in a more expansive mood.

One school views high inflation as a signal for restricting the money supply. Another group maintains inflation cannot be licked until industry is provided with the money to expand and make its plants more efficient.

Whatever the answer, it appears that the economy is coming to one of those critical times that have been numerous of late. The conventional forecast is that the clouds will thin out and probably clear late this year.

But unlike calendar spring or meteorological spring, which are quite predictable, economic springtime isn't.

Amtrak Fare Hike Slated

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amtrak is going ahead with plans to raise rail passenger fares by 20 per cent for trips west of Chicago during the summer months.

Amtrak Vice President Edwin Edel said Tuesday the increase is to take effect June 9 but fares will be reduced again in September.

Edel said the fare hike was "a marketing tool" intended to determine whether rates would have an effect on the amount of passenger business during the vacation travel season.

Amtrak, the national rail passenger corporation, announced last week that passenger fares nationwide would be increased by 5 per cent permanently on April 16. The summer increase on western service is in addition to that.

Today In History

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I reprint this letter almost exactly because its message is even more significant than a medical answer.

"Dear Dr. Coleman, I was one of those men who believed that you marry once and are happy thereafter. That is why I consented to the vasectomy operation for sterilization after our second child was born.

Unfortunately, the marriage did not last. I have since remarried, and my present wife and I want to have children of our own.

At the time of the operation, ten years ago, I was told that vasectomy is irreversible.

Is there any operation or any method by which I can once more possibly father children?"

Mr. R. L. S., Va.

Dear Mr. S.:

This sad state of emotional and social conflict occurs to many men who decide too impulsively to have the vasectomy operation for sterilization. I doubt that any corrective surgery will reverse the process after ten years.

The more modern methods of vasectomy are somewhat more amenable to corrective surgery in a small percentage of cases.

Everyone who entertains the thought of such an operation must realize that social changes may occur and, like you, the desire for starting a new family is a realistic possibility.

Consultation with a urologist will quickly determine if there is any chance of reversing your vasectomy.

Artificial insemination has been suggested and used in situations such as yours. Remember, however, that there are a great many psychological factors involved in a pregnancy induced with sperm that is not yours. Tremendous consideration should be given before embarking on such a new project.

Can chlorine in the school swimming pool harm my children?

Mrs. J. F. J., Iowa

Dear Mrs. J.:

Unless there is any special allergic reaction to chlorine there is little danger of swimming in such a pool.

Usually, the concentration of chlorine is very light and adds protection to swimmers.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Do the people of this city realize how much our police department and fire department really mean to us?

If they really do, then why are they so underpaid and understaffed. For the number of people within our city and the people who may soon be within the city limits, how many officers and firemen do we have? I believe we need more of both, and that they should be paid what they are worth to us. These men put their lives in danger for us, but how many of our citizens would do the same for the pay the officers get.

Do the people of this city know how many patrol cars the department has. Maybe sometime one of them will need help and then wonder why the response isn't as fast as it should be. Perhaps that person will find out all the cars are already out on calls. The city is growing much faster than our police department.

Maybe this is because most people would refuse to risk their lives for our people, for the amount of pay they would receive. Do the people ever wonder what our city would be like without our police department?

If any of the working people in this town deserve more pay, it is our officers and firemen.

If the city limits are moved out, how many more officers and patrol cars will be added to the force? Will the ones we now have just have to work harder without more pay? These men are worth more than they get now and I think they should receive it on their paychecks and on their force. Give them more men, more patrol cars and more money. It wouldn't cost us citizens a great deal of money each and our protectors would be getting more of what they are worth to us. I think it would be hell without them.

MRS. PAT STORTS

Dear Editor:

When the presidency of these United States of America is in danger of being exposed by those who are trying to destroy it, the President, who is the Commander in Chief and as chief executive of all armed forces, can call on the Pentagon General Staff to meet with him. If there is enough evidence the law is not enforced the President under the Constitution can order the seizing of both houses of Congress, seal their doors, declare martial law throughout the land, take over all television and radio stations and speak to the nation declaring why he took such action.

As I see it, the President would be in order to take the above action, because of the following reasons: (If that should be his decision.)

1. The lobbyist in Congress are playing politics at the expense of the American people.

2. Congress, in my opinion, is divided and controlled by those who lobby for their interests; namely, big business and foreign political parties.

3. They have allowed the U.S.S.R. to become the most powerful nation on earth and have allowed the U.S.A. to become a secondary power.

4. The 75 to 80 Senators have allowed political Zionism to dictate the policy which the entire Senate is forced to follow.

5. The Watergate issue is just a front to divert the attention of the American people from knowing the facts. The way the Watergate enigma has been played up has weakened us on the home front, caused the increase of inflation, high living costs, unemployment, high mortgage costs, the lack of homes, hospitals, schools, etc. These are problems of Congress and not the President.

The President of these United States of America has always maintained his foreign policy to promote peace and prosperity. If the President follows up with the power granted to him by the Constitution, the American people finally will hear the truth.

Oil Order Arbitrary On Leasing

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House panel studying federal offshore oil and gas leasing has been told the Nixon administration acted arbitrarily when it ordered a 10-fold increase in leasing by 1975.

Monte Canfield, deputy director of the Ford Foundation's Energy Policy Project, said his interviews with government officials indicated the decision was made in the absence of supporting data and without consulting any of the agencies involved in leasing.

He testified Tuesday as a subcommittee on regulatory agencies held the first of two days of hearings on whether, federal leasing policy discriminates against small oil and gas companies.

Canfield questioned a recent administration directive ordering the Interior Department to increase its annual leasing from one million to 10 million acres by 1975. He said he was aware of no available data that would justify such an action.

He said the decision was made although the federal government sharply reduced its own estimate of how much oil and gas could be produced if the Atlantic is opened to drilling.

Canfield said that neither he nor the agencies affected could find out how the administration arrived at the 10-million-acre figure.

Harsha Bill Seeks Pension Protection

To prevent pension losses from earnings limitation provisions, Congressman William H. Harsha has sponsored legislation exempting social security and other benefit increases from computation in veterans' and widows' pensions.

Harsha said that under present law, the benefit increases veterans and widows will receive this year through recent social security cost-of-living raises may be lost through pension reductions beginning in 1975. "At that time, any increases in other benefits such as social security will be calculated in setting veterans' pension levels. Unless the law is changed as I have proposed," he explained, "these social security increases will actually result in pension cuts for over 1.3 million veterans and widows and complete pension losses for over 15,000 beneficiaries."

"Even at their current levels, both social security benefits and veterans' pensions are hardly sufficient for the millions of fixed incomes depending on them," Harsha emphasized. "With the cost-of-living ever rising and the energy crisis taking larger and larger chunks out of the pensioners' pocketbooks, cutting back on these benefits will create undue economic hardship for many veterans and widows. Robbing them of their veterans' pensions to which they are entitled for their service to the country because of other benefits which they have also earned is unconscionable, and I am hopeful that Congress will act on my legislation before such a disaster occurs."

Bill Moves On Mayors

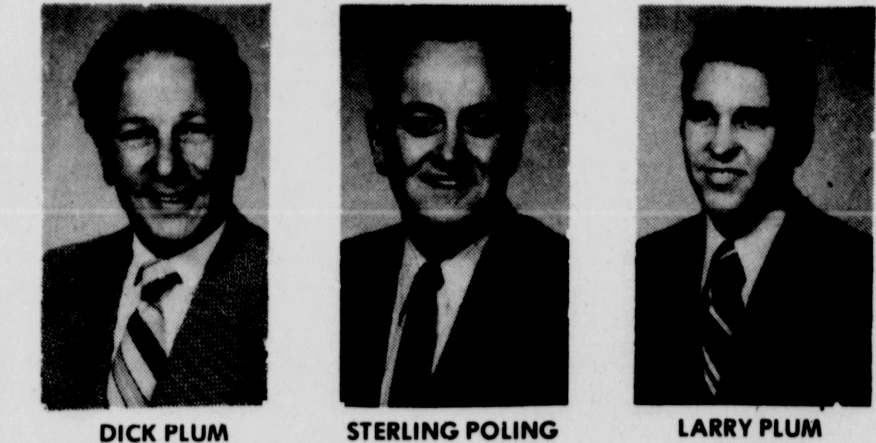

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A bill that would abolish mayors' courts in Ohio has moved a step closer to passage.

The House Judiciary Committee Tuesday night defeated an amendment that would have taken the controversial move to kill mayors' courts out of an omnibus court bill. The bill would also create three dozen new judgeships.

Rep. Richard H. Finan, R-19 Cincinnati, and others offered the unsuccessful amendment. The vote was 12-9.

The committee considered other amendments, and defeated one that would have added two new judgeships to the Franklin County Municipal Court.

Chairman Arthur Wilkowski, D-46 Toledo, said he expected to call for a committee vote on the omnibus measure this morning.

Rodine To Study Grand Jury Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Grand jury material on President Nixon and Watergate, possibly including the disputed tape-recorded conversation on hush money, is under heavy guard at the House Judiciary Committee.

Chairman Peter W. Rodino Jr., D-N.J., said Tuesday he will examine the grand jury's secret report and satchel full of material "sometime this week" to assess its importance to the House impeachment inquiry.

Rodino refused to speculate with newsmen Tuesday on what the material is, but he accepted one reporter's assumption that it includes tape recordings.

He said he intends to listen to any tapes.

John J. Wilson, lawyer for former White House chief of staff H.R. Haldeman, has told newsmen and the U.S. Court of Appeals that he assumes the grand jury's evidence includes a tape recording of the disputed March 21, 1973, conversation on hush money.

The grand jury indicted Haldeman on a charge of perjury for quoting the President as saying "it would be wrong" to pay hush money to keep the original Watergate burglars from letting the scandal reach higher.

The President said at a news conference that the full conversation will show he said both hush money and a promise of presidential clemency to keep the burglars quiet would be wrong.

The material also includes an index which lists events involving the President which may be important to the impeachment inquiry, a Watergate prosecutor said.

The grand jury material was under heavy guard even from most members of the House Judiciary Committee.

In other Watergate developments: —A White House official said Nixon lawyers are continuing to sift through material subpoenaed by Watergate prosecutors and have not yet recommended whether the President should turn the data over.

—Political saboteur Donald H. Segretti was released from prison after serving 4½ months of a six-month term.

—Sen. Howard H. Baker Jr., R-Tenn., asked the two senior senators who oversee activities of the Central Intelligence Agency to make public a summary of his secret investigation of possible links between the CIA and the Watergate coverup.

News Of Interest To Women

The Circleville Herald, Thursday March 28, 1974

INTERESTED SPECTATORS—Some of the members of Monday Club are shown at the Social Session watching the club's version of "Beat The Clock" as the principal entertainment for the evening.

Social Session, Dinner Held By Monday Club

Monday Club held its annual Social Session March 25 in the dining room of First Presbyterian Church. Mrs. R. R. Bales presided at the punch bowl during the social hour preceding dinner served by women of the church.

As each member of the club entered the dining room an immediate transformation took place. By the single act of a name tag pinned to the neckline at the back of her dress she became a famous personality for the evening. To determine their alias they were given clues by others to determine identity and place at table for the dinner.

The color scheme for the evening was predominately yellow with yellow tapers in crystal candleholders and yellow flower pots with greenery and gumdrop flowers on white linen covered tables. The uniform aprons of the ladies serving were of white net trimmed with wide bands of yellow adding to the colors selected by the committee.

Women's Republican Club Entertains Candidates

Pickaway County Women's Republican Club met Monday for a carry-in luncheon and business meeting in the social rooms of Calvary United Methodist Church. Table decorations included the traditional Republican elephants, American flags and a large floral arrangement which centered the speaker's table.

Mrs. H. E. Louis, vice president,

Miss Peggy Penrod Feted With Shower

Miss Peggy Penrod, bride-elect of Gregory Price, was honored with a bridal shower hosted by Mrs. Shelby Dye in her home at 209 Meadow Drive on Monday evening.

Miss Penrod and Mr. Price will be united in marriage 7:30 p.m. April 27, at the Grove City Baptist Church.

Invited guests include: Mrs. Herman Penrod, Washington C. H.; Mrs. Alan Zinn, Mrs. W. Bruce Price, Grove City; Mrs. Lawrence Carnes, Miss Karen Kerchner, Columbus; Mrs. William Becher, Mrs. Edwin McConnaughey, Orient.

Mrs. Don Hansford, Mrs. Steve Matthews and Suzanne, Mrs. Richard Gallagher, Mrs. Donald Dennis and Cindy, Miss Louise Stuckey, Mrs. J. E. Courtright, Mrs. Marvin Spangler, Mrs. Richard Huggins, Mrs. Gene Lambert, Mrs. Wayne Evans, Miss Betty Melton, Mrs. James B. Scott, Mrs. Clayton Lutz, Mrs. Wayne Bower, Masters Brad and Brian Dye, all of the Circleville Area.

Lutheran Church Circles To Meet

Meetings are planned for Tuesday and Wednesday by Circles of Trinity Lutheran Church.

On Tuesday, Sarah Circle meets 9:15 a.m. and Elizabeth Circle 1:30 p.m. both in the church parlor, Christian Home Circle 7 p.m. in the Parish House and Esther Circle 7:45 p.m. in the church parlor.

Ruth Circle has scheduled its meeting for 2 p.m. Wednesday in the church parlor.

Legion Auxiliary Participates In Flag Presentation

Projects were discussed during the Monday evening meeting of Unit 134 American Legion Auxiliary in the Post Home.

Kathleen Hoffman, Americanism chairman, reported completion of a joint project with the Post for presenting 12 flags for classrooms at the Mound Street Elementary School. These will replace old flags used in the former Franklin St. building. They will be given to the auxiliary and disposed of properly.

She also announced selection has been made of the delegate and alternate to represent the unit at Buckeye Girls State. Upon confirmation from department headquarters, the names will be announced.

Donations to Easter Seals and American Legion Child Welfare Foundation were made during the business session presided over by Betty Sabine.

The unit will provide centerpieces for the Legion's Birthday Dinner Saturday evening at the Post Home. Plans were made for the unit's Easter visit to Chillicothe Veterans Hospital were made.

Highlights of the 7th District Auxiliary Spring Roundtable held recently at Washington C. H. were told by Mary Stephens.

Cleo Caudill, chaplain, opened and closed the meeting with prayer and Lucile Pickel and Cleo Caudill invited members to the refreshment table.

KATHRYN FISHER

Kathryn Fisher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Fisher, 431 Holiday Lane, was awarded third place in the 8th grade section of the DAR State History Essay Contest at a recent session of the State DAR Convention held at the Neil House, Columbus.

The subject for this year's contest was "A Child Of 1974." Her essay was selected from 2500 entries in the state of Ohio.

As a prize Miss Fisher received two books. "The Star Spangled Banner" illustrated by Peter Spier and "The Iron Giant" by Ted Hughes with drawings by Robert Nadler. Following the presentation Kathryn and her father were luncheon guests of the DAR. Dr. Inez Henry, director Martha Berry Museum and Art Gallery, Berry College was guest speaker.

Mrs. Emerson Spicer is chairman of the Pickaway Plains Chapter DAR Essay Contest assisted by Mrs. Austin Dowden, Mrs. O'Dell Baker, Mrs. Wright Noecker, Mrs. McClure Hughes and Mrs. Carl Steinhauer.

Always keep cottage cheese tightly covered in the refrigerator to prevent it from picking up odors and developing off flavors. Creamed cottage sheese should not be frozen because when it is thawed it tends to separate and this damages its texture and consistency.

Ladies Auxiliary Visits Legislature

The Woman's Auxiliary to the Ohio State Medical Assn. recently sponsored a "Day At The Legislature." Attending from Pickaway County were Mrs. Ray Carroll, president of the county Medical Auxiliary, Trent Carroll, Mrs. William Myers, vice-president, and John Myers.

The group met at the Ohio State Medical Assn. office for a general orientation to OSMA, the legislature, bills to be heard that day and bills medically related that are new in the legislature.

They then went to the State House to attend committee hearings. At noon the Pickaway County Auxiliary representatives met with their State Senator Harry Armstrong for lunch.

Following lunch they returned to the State House to hear debate on the Senate and House floor and then to the OSMA office for discussion.

Workshop Planned For Garden Club

A flower arranging workshop is planned for 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Theodore Huston, 135 Marshall Road, for members of Pickaway County Garden Club.

Mrs. Schubert Measamer will instruct on using a vertical container. Members are to bring tall sansevieria or yucca leaves, dried cattails, okra grasses etc. Also needed are five flowers such as daffodils, tulips or mums, a needlepoint holder, clippers and a tall container.

Butter labeled "sweet cream" is usually lightly salted; butter labeled "sweet" has no salt added.

Senate Move Kills Controls Extension

WASHINGTON (AP) — Director John T. Dunlop of the Cost of Living Council says he's confident the administration's wage and price control program won't completely die next month, although a Senate committee appears to have kicked the life out of it.

"The country needs continued action in the stabilization area," Dunlop said after the Senate Banking Committee voted 15-0 Tuesday to let the administration's authority for controls expire April 30.

Dunlop, head of the controls program since early last year, said he has "every expectation" that some form of legislation will be reconsidered by the Senate prior to April 30.

Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said, meanwhile, that health costs probably would increase sharply if controls are not continued, but that the impact in other areas of the economy would not be great.

"There is a reasonable basis for thinking that costs will go up quite sharply in this area," Shultz said about the health industry.

The administration has proposed continuing controls past April 30 over the health industry and possibly a few others, such as construction.

The Cost of Living Council estimates that without controls, per patient hospital charges would rise from 16 to 17 per cent per year, compared to 10 per cent to 11 per cent under controls.

Physicians' fees would increase 9 per cent compared to four per cent with controls. And nursing home charges would rise 14 per cent, compared to 6.5 per cent, also according to council estimates.

Aside from health, Shultz said he doesn't think there would be a big surge in prices in other areas since controls already are being lifted from most other industries prior to April 30.

Major industries still under control include food, steel and construction. Controls are being continued over the petroleum industry under separate legislation until next year at least.

But a number of industries, such as autos, which already has been decontrolled, have made certain price restraining commitments to the council, and the council would lack authority to enforce these commitments without some legislation.

Shultz said, "We expect people to keep commitments whether there is authority or not." But he added that legislative authority would serve as an insurance policy.

PUBLIC NOTICE

COMMON PLEAS COURT
PICKAWAY COUNTY, OHIO
No. 74-CI-69 - Franklin Savings Bank of New York, Plaintiff -vs- Hendrick R. Bruns, et al., Defendants.

HENDRICK R. BRUNS and MARY K. BRUNS aka MARY KATHRYN BRUNS, upon each of whom service of summons cannot be made, because each of their place of residence is unknown to the affiant and cannot with reasonable diligence be ascertained, are hereby notified that on February 25, 1974, Franklin Savings Bank of New York filed a complaint as Plaintiff in the Common Pleas Court of Pickaway County, Ohio in Case No. 74-CI-69 against them as defendants, alleging that on or about November 3, 1972 the defendants, Hendrick R. Bruns and Mary K. Bruns aka Mary Kathryn Bruns executed and delivered to American Fletcher Mortgage Company, Inc. their promissory note, which was thereafter assigned to the plaintiff, that there is now due and payable to plaintiff, on said note, from said defendants $11,422.38 together with interest thereon from August 1, 1973; that to secure the payment of said note, the defendants on November 3, 1972 executed and delivered to American Fletcher Mortgage Company, Inc. their mortgage deed, thereby conveying the following described real estate:

Situated in the State of Ohio in the County of Pickaway, and in the City of Circleville and bounded and described as follows:

Being 26 feet off the west side of Inlot One Thousand Four Hundred Ninety-two (1492) of L. N. ABERNATHY'S SECOND ADDITION, as the same is numbered and delineated upon the recorded plat thereof of record in Plat Book 1, page 134, Recorder's Office, Pickaway County, Ohio.

that said mortgage deed was thereafter assigned to the plaintiff; that said defendants have failed to pay said promissory note and interest in accordance with the terms thereof, and said mortgage deed is in default; therefore, plaintiff prays that it may have and recover judgment against the defendant, Hendrick R. Bruns and Mary K. Bruns aka Mary Kathryn Bruns for $11,422.38 together with interest at 7 per cent per annum from August 1, 1973; that it may have and recover judgment for advances and expenses incurred in protecting and preserving the property; that said mortgage be foreclosed; that the above described real estate be sold; that the liens may be marshaled and the proceeds of sale be applied toward the payment of liens on said real estate in accordance with their priority; that the defendants, and each of them, be compelled to answer and set up any lien, interest, or claim they have in said premises or be forever barred from asserting the same; and that the plaintiff recover its costs, and have such other and further relief as may be just and equitable.

Hendrick R. Bruns and Mary K. Bruns aka Mary Kathryn Bruns are further notified that they are required to answer said complaint by May 17, 1974 which includes 28 days from the last publication date or judgment may be rendered as prayed for therein.

Barwick Busy Room Carpeting with Scotchgard. Stays cleaner longer than ordinary carpeting. Even in your kitchen.

Don't let the beautiful colors and designs in this patterned nylon carpeting fool you. It's tough. Because now Barwick treats it with "Scotchgard" Brand Carpet Protector.

Salad oil or tomato juice, when spilled on the carpet, will not soak or wick into the carpet. The staining materials will remain confined so that it can readily be blotted up or cleaned up without leaving a nasty stain.

Dry dirt's a cinch to get up, too. Vacuuming does it. And does it well. Barwick nylon carpeting with "Scotchgard" Protector actually stays clean up to three times longer than ordinary carpeting.

Beautiful carpeting can be practical. See our large Barwick Collection and choose your color and pattern now for all those busy rooms in your house: the kitchen, the bedrooms, the den.

Woman Deals With Convicts, Escapes Harm

CHILLICOTHE, Ohio (AP)— Forty-eight-year-old Irene Burchwell successfully wheeled and dealt with four escaped convicts in her home Wednesday and averted harm to herself and three other captives.

"Your kindness is going to get you killed," a gun-wielding convict told Mrs. Burchwell. She tempered the kindness with shrewdness.

When the ordeal had ended the convict with the gun was shot to death by authorities and the other three were recaptured in neighboring Fayette County.

The four inmates of the Southern Ohio Correctional Facility were being transported 85 miles to Columbus by a Franklin County deputy sheriff to appear at a trial.

By the time the four had arrived at the Burchwell home, they had subdued Deputy Milton E. Cramer, 66, had taken his gun, and had threatened to burn him with lighter fluid and handcuff him to a tree.

"We weren't sure what they were going to do to us," Mrs. Burchwell said. They indicated they were convicted murderers and had nothing to lose, she added.

The gun-toting man was "mean, but the other three were nice," she said. "I was going along with him, but inside I was dying 1,000 deaths. I have read enough detective books to know how to go along with them."

Mrs. Burchwell said she convinced the escapees to bring the deputy from the car into the house.

"If you bring him in and put him in the kitchen chair, I'll guarantee he won't call anybody," she said. "That man (the deputy) thought he was dead. He was petrified."

She permitted the convicts to disconnect her telephone. She also gave them $10 and some change from her purse, cigarettes and told them she supported them in their escape attempt.

"They even let me go through the house with them," she said.

Meanwhile, the deputy remained glued to the kitchen chair and her daughter-in-law, Connie Burchwell, 19, was handcuffed and sitting in the living room with Brent Hoops, 2, for whom she babysits.

Mrs. Burchwell said she persuaded the escapees not to take her 1971 LeMans, but her husband's 1967 station wagon.

Before fleeing in the station wagon and Connie's 1964 car, they handcuffed Mrs. Burchwell to the steering wheel in the deputy's car and Cramer and Connie to each other in the backseat.

"They wanted to handcuff Brent's foot to the steering, but I told them he wasn't going anywhere," she said. "They left him alone."

Connie soon dug a handcuff key out of Cramer's pocket and released the restraints. Once free, Mrs. Burchwell rushed to a neighbors home to alert authorities.

The slain escapee was Doyle

Manning, 35, formerly of Indianapolis, Ind. The others were Donald Nickerson, 45, of Vandalia; Robert Laws, 27, of Columbus, and David Pilkington, 29, of North Olmsted.

Authorities said Nickerson, who was serving a life term for slaying a Mingo Junction policeman, was being taken to Columbus to stand trial for escaping from a hospital while under custody.

Manning was being escorted as a witness for Nickerson's trial. Officials said Manning was convicted in Cincinnati in 1969 for six robberies and sentenced to six consecutive 10-25 year terms.

Laws was sentenced to life for a Columbus murder and was being returned to Franklin County to testify in another trial resulting from the same homicide, authorities said.

They said Pilkington was sentenced to life in February 1972 after a three-judge panel found him guilty of first-degree murder during a robbery and second-degree murder. He was to be a witness in the Nickerson trial.

The three were returned to the state's maximum security prison at Lucasville after being taken into custody at Washington Court House.

Washington Court House Police Chief Rodman Scott said Manning fired a shot at one of his officers in the downtown area. Scott said the officer returned the fire and fatally wounded Manning.

Cramer said he was certain the escapees were going to kill him during the ordeal. The 66-year-old Cramer, a member of the Franklin County Sheriff's Department, retires April 28.

Senate OKs Strip Mine Measure

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio's strip mine operators, fighting tough reclamation laws, met get a slight break under a bill approved by the Senate and sent to the House Tuesday.

The bill, which regulates mining for minerals other than coal, was amended to allow strip mine operators to choose between appealing reclamation orders in their county of operation or in Franklin County Common Pleas Court. Miners for other minerals would have the same option under the proposed.

Presently, coal operators may appeal only in Franklin County and are saddled with costs of their lawyers' travel expenses or with having to retain counsel in Columbus.

Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, won 29-2 approval of the amendment after he complained that by giving other mine operators the option, it would be discriminatory to limit coal operators to only one court. Others claimed the coal men have as much right as anyone to look for "a friendly judge."

Strip operators also hope for approval of other legislation that would ease reclamation requirements, particularly those applying to deadlines.

Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, is sponsor of the measure which expands surface mining statutes to include miners for sand, gravel, clay, shale, gypsum, halite, dolomite, sandstone, and other minerals.

He said it was agreed to "by all parties" and "without the tomahawk emotionalism we had with the strip mine bill." It provides for 10-year permits and requires prior approval of reclamation plans by the Department of Natural Resources.

Hough On Trial

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—James Hough, a 36-year-old realtor, will go on trial July 22 on charges involving the December theft of two Rembrandt paintings.

The Hamilton man was among five indicted in connection with the theft. He is charged with extortion, harboring a felon and receiving stolen goods.

Described as an intermediary in the recovery of the paintings, he asked a $15,000 finder's fee, but later returned it.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

There's a new supply of the kind of books young people like best—humor and mystery. "The House With a Clock in It's Walls" by John Bellairs features a touch of magic as a modern boy living in an old house with paintings that come to life at night discovers. The suspense builds as Lewis tries to

Synthetics Users Turn To Cotton

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — The energy crisis has thrown some American textile mills into a spin because of a shortage of synthetic fiber. The cotton industry says it's ready to help bail them out.

"The rumors in the trade are that at least one major mill and a couple of smaller ones are scouring the gray market for synthetic fibers," said Ben Tipton, vice president for raw materials for Dan River Mills at Greenville, S. C.

Mills that cannot obtain synthetic fiber from their regular sources are paying top dollar to get it from other mills or anywhere else in an attempt to stay in production, Tipton said Tuesday.

Tipton declined in a telephone interview to speculate on what may happen later in the year to the price tags on everything from clothing, underwear and carpeting to nylon hosiery.

He said the nation's textile mills were told last year by synthetic suppliers that there would be fiber reductions of up to 25 per cent from the year before because of the shortage of petroleum products that go into the manufacture of synthetics.

But Tipton said some mills — especially those that shopped from supplier to supplier simply on a price basis — are finding themselves without synthetic fibers.

"Some time down the road, we are going to have more synthetics available, but whether it will be 1975 or 1976, we don't know, and we don't know at what price," he said.

Tipton said Dan River, which is one of the country's big spinners, weavers and knitters, has been increasing the amount of cotton in its fabrics.

Consumers Aid Charity

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—North-eastern Ohioans indirectly contribute more than $1 million a year to charity when they pay their electric, gas and telephone bills.

The Cleveland Electric Illuminating Co., East Ohio Gas Co. and Ohio Bell Telephone Co. include in their rate structure all or part of the cost of company contributions to United Appeal and other charitable agencies.

The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio allows the practice which has been going on since 1950.

Sally Bloomfield, PUCO commissioner, said Tuesday the practice is not largely known to the public.

The PUCO recently granted a $38.8 million-a-year rate increase to the East Ohio Gas Co. and a company spokesman said some of the telephone calls protesting the rate increase mentioned the charitable contributions.

Beginning readers who have had it with stories of puppies and kittens will find adventure in "The Midnight Ghost." A trail of white footprints and a closet door that slowly creaks in the middle of the night are clues that will keep 1st and 2nd graders reading.

Children will be tickled as they read how a dog and his master exchange roles in "The Strange Dreams of Rover Jones" by Richard Armour. And they'll flip over the sight of poor Mr. Jones lapping milk from a dog's dish. The illustrator has captured perfectly the disgust of poor Rover as his owner utters soulful and ear piercing Whines as an accompaniment to the piano.

What happens to a boy who eats chocolate incessantly? He breaks out in large spots and is the victim of "Chocolate Fever" the title of a new book by Robert Smith. The story has a truck hijacking, gangsters, and a boy fleeing his tormentors for plenty of action. The author has combined humor, suspense and easy reading for young boys.

What youngster hasn't dreamed that his beloved pet has come to life. One by one the hand-carved animals on "Herbert's Stilts" come to life in a book by that name by Kurt Werth. Although there are sound reasons for the animals coming into Herbert's life, readers will wonder if something more than coincidence is involved.

And for any child who has to cope with a two year old brother monopolizing everyone's attention, Judy Blume has written "Tales of a Fourth Grade Nothing." Peter has to shoulder responsibility when Fudge's antics cause trouble as they frequently do. The kids and their problems are real and the book has a nice light touch.

Young girls just entering their teens will identify with Kathy who is the central character in "I Was a 98-Pound Duckling" by Jean Van Leeuwen. It's a long summer when you are trying to cope with problem hair and an undersized boy and long to look like the girls in "Seventeen Magazine."

And its a long time, too, before a boy can earn the $200 to take a go-cart. But in "Doodle and the Go-Kart" by Robert Burch, Doodle explores every opportunity from operating a mule transportation service to animal trapping. Although many of this projects fail his efforts are worth emulating. And good-naturedly, he keeps trying to achieve his goal.

Potential Mobile Home Hazard Found By Trio Of Firemen

FREMONT, Ohio (AP) — A trio of volunteer firemen in Sandusky Township may have uncovered an important clue to some of those unsolved mobile home fire mysteries.

At the very least, the trio's detective work provides the basis for warnings about possible future blazes.

A mobile home owner in suburban Sandusky Township called for assistance after his trailer filled with smoke. The owner couldn't find the source of the smoke.

Assistant Chief Larry Longanbach, Capt. Ron Schmitz and fireman Glen Watson searched the mobile home but came up with nothing but smoke.

The firemen went outside. They found the hot water heater compartment thick with smoke. After clearing away some of the fumes, the firemen saw that the legs of the hot water heater had worked their way through the flooring, leaving the metal base resting on the wood.

Since the heating element of the water tank was near the bottom, the tank metal resting on the wood was extremely hot when water was being warmed. The three volunteers pried up the tank. The wood burst into flames. Apparently only oxygen had prevented the flooring from burning.

Township fire officials believe that vibration over a period of several years may have caused the legs of the heater to penetrate through the wood flooring. Wind or foot traffic could have caused the vibration, they believe.

Fire Chief Robert Schabel is preparing a report to submit to the state fire marshal's office. He hopes information about the potential hazard will result in its elimination.

Veal Consumption Shown Declining

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veal has been fading as an American meat for many years and the decline probably will continue as dairy cow numbers continue to drop, says the Agriculture Department.

Another reason, the department's Economic Research Service says, has been that high cattle prices the past few years have drawn dairy calves — the major U.S. veal source — into beef production.

"The bulk of calves slaughtered for veal are heifers that aren't needed for replacement in the dairy herd," the agency said in the March issue of Farm Index. "Steers are generally raised for feeders to meet the demand for beef."

Veal consumption figures illustrate what has happened. In 1973, USDA statisticians report, American ate 1.8 pounds of veal per capita on a carcass weight basis. That was down from 2.2 pounds in 1972 and an average of 6.1 pounds per capita in 1960.

Other meats, by comparison, are eaten in vastly greater quantities. And beef has gradually increased for many years, while veal has dropped.

The 1973 average for beef was down, however, to 109.3 pounds per capita from a record 116 pounds in 1972. The decline reflected the cutback in marketings of slaughter cattle last year.

But U.S. beef consumption has increased over the longer haul, from 85.1 pounds in 1960. Pork shows a more erratic record because farmers can tune hog output up or down more quickly in response to prices.

When veal is compared with other products, some even wider gaps are noted by USDA statistics. For example, Americans ate 12.1 pounds of fish per capita last year, more than six times the veal consumption.

And the per capita rate of chicken consumption was still larger, 41.9 pounds in 1973, and has shown a steady increase. As recently as 1960 the per capita consumption of chicken was less than 30 pounds annually.

Key Club, Kiwanis Honored By Freedoms Foundation

Freedoms Foundation at Valley Forge named Key Club International, the service organization of high school men, as a Principal Award winner in the General Americana Award category at its Twenty-fifth Annual National Awards presentation, February 18.

Freedoms Foundation also awarded Key Club International's parent organization, Kiwanis International, the George Washington Honor Medal in the same category, according to Fred W. Bower, president of the Kiwanis Club of Circleville, Ohio.

The Principal Award, the highest award bestowed in any one category, came to Key Club International for its 1972-73 national theme "Insure Tomorrow." Through that theme, individual high school Key Clubs served their communities by involvement in drug abuse education, leadership seminars, clean-up campaigns, recycling and ecology projects as well as other humanitarian activities.

Kiwanis International's sponsorship

of Freedom Enterprise Week, held each August, distinguished Kiwanis as an honor medal winner. In addition, the Kiwanis Club of San Diego was awarded a George Washington Honor Medal for its community program "Pillars of American Freedom," an annual speakers series on American institutions.

Heidelberg Hikes Tuition Fees

TIFFIN, Ohio (AP)—Heidelberg College President Leslie H. Fishel Jr. announced Tuesday a 5.9 per cent increase in the general tuition to the institution for the 1974-1975 academic year.

Fishel said tuition will be raised $155 to $2,520 and room and board will be raised $45 to $1,030.

Fishel said inflation and generally higher operating costs "leaves us no choice but to raise" the fees.

Heidelberg has been operating on a balanced budget for two straight years.

Abortion Pay Delayed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Spokesmen for the state Welfare Department and the state auditors' office say a dispute is holding up checks to doctors for about 1,000 abortions on welfare recipients.

Richard E. Lightner, deputy welfare director, says his department certifies all abortions for payment.

"If a doctor sends us a bill certifying the abortion was performed, we treat it the same way we treat bills for other medical services and send it to the auditor for payment," he said.

But Fred Nippenburg in the auditor's office says there is a question over whether the state can pay for elective abortions, as opposed to abortions to save the life of the mother.

King To Face Labor Opposition

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Dayton Journal-Herald reported today a carpenters' union official from Youngstown will run against Frank King for the AFL-CIO presidency.

The paper said Milton Marsh, 45, executive secretary-treasurer of the Ohio State Council of Carpenters, will head the opposition.

The report follows weeks of bickering between King and AFL-CIO Secretary-Treasurer Warren J. Smith.

Big Bear Celebrates 40th Anniversary

Forty years ago, in the depth of the depression, Big Bear opened the first complete self-service supermarket in Central Ohio.

The store, located on Lane Avenue in Columbus, Ohio was opened on February 15, 1934 and was one of the largest supermarkets in the country at that time. The building, which houses the supermarket today, was used as a dance hall, roller rink and polo field before being acquired for the first Big Bear Store.

Today, 40 years later, the Big Bear Company still operates the same supermarket although it has been remodeled several times. Big Bear currently operates 53 supermarkets including the Circleville Store, and 11 discount department stores in central, southern and eastern Ohio and in northern West Virginia. Four free-standing drug stores are operated in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana. Big Bear is the dominant food chain in Columbus, Big Bear's major market (24 supermarkets), and is an important competitor in other cities.

The success of Big Bear Store Co. must be contributed greatly to Wayne E. Brown, president, a native of Coalton. He left Coalton as a young man and went to Detroit, Michigan, where he first went to work in a clerical position with an automotive manufacturing company. In addition, he took a part-time job working in a grocery store of a large national food chain. He soon discovered this work more to his liking and joined the food chain on a full-time basis. He advanced quickly in the organization, receiving successive promotions until after a few years he was district superintendent—the youngest in the chain, with 240 stores under his supervision.

In 1933, in the middle of the depression, he left this promising career to come to Columbus to start a new business enterprise.

Big Bear's Supermarkets range in size up to 40,000 square feet. The supermarkets are self-service with a complete line of grocery products, fresh meats and produce, frozen and convenience foods, dairy products, health and beauty aids, sundries, and other grocery products. In addition to nationally advertised brand names, Big Bear Supermarkets carry products under the "Food Club", "Top Frost" and other brand names of Topco Associates, Inc., cooperative purchasing organization. Big Bear uses the "Betty Brown" name for its bread and other bakery products.

Big Bear's objective is to present quality merchandise at competitive prices in clean, attractive, conveniently located stores. Buckeye Premium Stamps are given in about 75 per cent of Big Bear's supermarkets. Big Bear operates twelve in-store Delicatessen Departments with an assortment of hot and cold ready-to-eat foods. Nine supermarkets feature "full-line" in-store bakeries that bake bread and other bakery products. Fresh produce and large frozen food departments are featured in every Big Bear Store.

Private label and controlled brands account for approximately 12 per cent of Big Bear Supermarket's sales. These items are concentrated in the lines of merchandise made available by Topco Associates, Inc., a cooperative purchasing organization, in the various products produced by Big Bear's own bakery and in its branded line of meats.

In 1948, Big Bear was among the regional chains to found Topco

Past Ohio Commander Is Speaker

Dr. Michael J. Chakeres, an optometrist at London, will be the guest speaker 6 p.m. Saturday at the Hall-Adkins American Legion Post celebration of the anniversary of the legion.

DR. MICHAEL J. CHAKERES

Dr. Chakeres was commander of the American Legion of Ohio during 1966-67 and served a 2-year term as its alternate national executive committeeman, 1969-70.

A veteran of the United States Navy during World War II, he attended college while in the service and completed his education upon his discharge. He attended the University of North Carolina, Emory University at Atlanta, Ga., Ohio State University and the Illinois College of Optometry.

Dr. Chakeres first joined the Legion at Gary, Ind., in 1946 and became a member of Madison Post 105 at London in 1953. He was elected three times as post commander and between those terms served in the top offices of the Sixth District which includes seven central Ohio counties. In addition to his year as commander, he served as vice commander of the state organization for two years.

Besides his Legion interest, Dr. Chakeres is a past president of the London Lions Club, a member of the Greek Orthodox Church in Columbus and a trustee of the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Orphans Home, Xenia. His wife, Billie, has served three terms as president of the women's Auxiliary unit of Madison Post 105.

Associates, Inc., the current members of which have total sales as a group ranking between the nations second and third largest food chains. Topco makes available to its 33 owner-member companies, a wide variety of controlled brand food and nonfood products to supplement their lines of nationally branded items.

Big Bear regularly employs approximately 5,400 persons, including part time employees. Big Bear has never had a work stoppage due to labor disagreements and many employees including top management have been associated with Big Bear for many years. Big Bear promotes from within and all of Big Bear's top management began their careers in stores.

Love Affair With Grease Rack Happy One For Gal Mechanic

BOCA RATON, Fla. (AP) — Helen Hunter's love affair with a grease rack began as a teenager when she breezed through a high school course in auto mechanics.

But it wasn't until 15 years later, after she had three children and had washed out as a typist, that she realized her ambition and teamed up with her mechanic-husband to form Roy and Helen's Service Center.

"Roy would come home and talk about employ problems and problems with the oil company," says Mrs. Hunter, 33. "So finally, I just put the kids in a nursery, fired all the help and went to work."

"I used to work as a typist in a room with no windows. Those walls kept getting smaller and smaller. They finally fired me."

"But now I've got a whole new world with meeting people, seeing the sunshine and doing the work I enjoy."

Hunter, 44, handles the major repairs at the couple's garage-gas station while his wife takes care of the more routine jobs like installing brakes, water pumps, batteries and "all those little goodies."

Mrs. Hunter says for the first time in her life she feels like a real liberated woman — "Roy lets me work like a man" — but acknowledges that she still collects her share of male chauvinist remarks.

"The men usually say, 'YOU'RE gonna work on MY car?'" she says. "But I just let them watch me. Sometimes they come in again and ask for me."

Helen says she acquired her automotive skills as a high school student in Leicester, Mass.

"I hung around with the hot rod kids in high school," she says. "I drove in the powder puffs and drag races. But after the races, there wouldn't be anything to do. The guys would all be working on their cars. So I put on my dungarees and sweatshirt and watched them. I figured I could learn it."

Helen says her husband likes her new role and doesn't let a little grease stop him from stealing a kiss ever once in a while.

"Now that's something he couldn't do with just any mechanic," she says. "He also gets in a little pinchy-poo when things get boring."

Cancer Research Measure Passes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed and sent to the House a bill to provide $2.76 billion for a three-year extension of the research fight against cancer.

Under the measure, approved by an 89 to 0 Senate vote Tuesday, funds authorized for the special cancer program would be sharply increased over the $1.6 billion provided for the first three years.

The bill has a provision, opposed by the Nixon administration, calling for a study of other health research programs.

Pardon Sought For Ex-Beatle

LONDON (AP) — A petition with 60,000 signatures asking the British government to pardon ex-Beatle John Lennon from his 1968 conviction on a drug charge has been delivered to Prime Minister Harold Wilson.

The petition requests a pardon so that Lennon, now living in the United States and threatened with deportation because of the 1968 conviction, can be free to travel.

In Beverly Hills, Calif., meanwhile, the district attorney's office dismissed Tuesday a citizen's complaint against Lennon for allegedly striking a woman photographer outside a West Hollywood club. Officials said there was insufficient evidence.

Mike Neal Training At Fairgrounds Oval

BRISK WORKOUT—Mike Neal of Circleville turns a brisk mile at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds with one of the pacers in his stable of nine harness horses he is training there.

EDITOR'S NOTE — This is the fourth of a series of articles on horsemen training at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds track.

Mike Neal, who is training nine harness horses at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds, has an early start and raced at Wheeling during the harness meet there.

He is training two pacers for Richard and Joe Asher of New Holland. They are Arch Berry, 5-year-old with a mark of 2:12.3 who has won $650 at Wheeling, and My Berry, a 2-year-old colt that Neal is just jogging at the present.

Johnny Fisher, an 11-year-old trotter owned by Betty J. Neal, has also campaigned at Wheeling, with winnings of $658 there. Also owned by Betty J. Neal is 6-year-old trotter, Smart Stuff, who has a lifetime record of 2:06.4.

For Jim Woodward, Alan Wood, James Repasky he is training a 2-year-old pacer, Miss Bootlegger, and a 3-year-old trotter, Speed N' Glory. Woodward also owns Plucky Tony, a 5-year-old pacer.

Robert Burton of Circleville owns the 5-year-old pacer, Oaklawn Night, who has had four starts at Wheeling this year. The pacer was third one time with total winnings of $96.

Harold Nagel of Circleville owns the 4-year-old pacer, Christie's Carosel. Neal races at Lebanon, Scioto Downs and on the fair circuit.

Orioles Scout Gaylord Perry

By ANDY LIPPKAN
AP Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry says he's got the feeling he's being watched this spring. And it's not only to see if he's throwing a spitball.

"I know the Orioles are scouting me and I would understand if the Indians were to trade me," Perry said after he and two Cleveland relievers combined for a one-hitter in defeating California 4-1 Wednesday.

"If Phil Seghi gets a good offer for me, I realize he can't very well turn it down."

Baltimore scout Bill Werle was in the stands at Tucson, Ariz., as Perry allowed only a triple by Denny Doyle in seven innings, while striking out seven and walking one.

Elsewhere in exhibition baseball, the

New York Mets edged the Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3; the Milwaukee Brewers defeated the San Francisco Giants 4-2; the New York Yankees beat the Atlanta Braves 4-1; the Boston Red Sox defeated the St. Louis Cardinals 7-2; the Montreal Expos trimmed the Philadelphia Phillies 6-5; the Los Angeles Dodgers beat the Texas Rangers 9-7 and the Houston Astros squeaked by the Detroit Tigers 3-2.

The Cincinnati Reds downed the Chicago White Sox 7-3; the San Diego Padres nipped a split Milwaukee squad 8-6 and the Oakland A's defeated the Chicago Cubs 4-2 in other games.

Cleveland Manager Ken Aspromonte liked what he saw of Perry. "Gaylord is ready to open the season," Aspromonte said. "He could have gone nine innings just as easily as standing out there. To me, Gaylord pitched like a beautiful piece of chemistry."

The Padres built a 7-1 lead and then held off a Milwaukee rally when the Brewers scored twice in the seventh inning and three times in the ninth.

St. Louis hurler Bob Gibson was touched for a two-run home run by a former teammate, Bernie Carbo, and the Red Sox scored two more runs against him in the fourth.

Jim Cox's single in the 12th inning scored the winning run for Montreal which jumped on Steve Carlton for five runs in the first five innings. The Phillies came back with a four-run seventh.

Tom Paciorek's bases-loaded walk broke a 5-5 tie as Don Stanhouse walked four of the five Dodgers he faced in the seventh inning.

Pinch-runner Dave Campbell scored from third on a single by Houston pinch-hitter Greg Gross in the ninth inning. Detroit had scored two runs on four straight hits in the second inning.

The A's finished their spring series with the Cubs with three victories in four decisions after erupting for two-run spurts in the first and fifth innings.

Bud Harrelson drove in two runs for the Mets, while Rusty Staub drove in the game-winner on a double play grounder in the seventh inning.

Ron Blomberg walked with the bases loaded to break a tie for the Yankees who scored two more when Duke Sims followed with a double.

Outfielder George Foster delivered a two-run double which capped a three-run Cincinnati scoring spurt in the third inning.

Ed Sprague pitched three scoreless innings as the Brewers scored two seventh-inning runs to defeat San Francisco.

Sparky Sticks To His Game Plan

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — How do you keep two players flirting with .400 batting averages out of the starting lineup?

By sticking to the game plan, says Cincinnati Reds' Manager George "Sparky" Anderson.

Outfielders George Foster and Cesar Geronimo are having sensational spring training seasons for the Reds, but Anderson said it won't sway him until he sees that his original plan won't work.

That means newly-acquired Merv Rettenmund and rookie Ken Griffey will have to play themselves out of a job.

Rettenmund, obtained in a trade with the Baltimore Orioles, has been penciled into the centerfield spot and Griffey is headed for rightfield.

But while Rettenmund is having a strong exhibition season with a .333 batting average, Griffey has been gripped with problems.

Anderson emphasized Wednesday that he plans to stand by his earlier announcement.

"It doesn't matter what they—Foster and Geronimo—do, Griffey will be in right field against righthanders and Foster against lefthanders. There's no way I will change."

But, added Anderson, Griffey must improve on his spring showing to remain in the platooning plans. The fleet youngster who hit .381 with the Reds last fall after being called up from the minors has slumped to .256.

Meanwhile, backup shortstop Darrell Chaney made some noise of his own in a 7-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday. He slammed a home run off former Reds' pitcher Jim McGlothlin after stroking a double earlier to trigger a three-run third inning.

Chaney had an 0-for-19 string earlier this spring, but Anderson said the Reds' player representative has earned a job as a valuable reserve.

Flint Ties Toledo, 1-1

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Flint came from behind Wednesday night to tie its International Hockey League Turner Cup playoff series 1-1 with Toledo.

Flint's 4-3 victory means the two teams will meet again Friday to determine the winner in the best-of-three-game series.

Toledo held a 2-1 lead at the end of its first period on goals by John Haight and Moe Brunel, against Flint's lone point by Vick Mortenson.

Flint turned it around in the second with goals by Jim Koleff and Frank Beaton, while Toledo went scoreless.

Gary Gilbert added another for insurance 23 seconds into the third period. The final goal was by Toledo's Ken Sutyla, 3:39 into the period.

Don Gullett pitched six innings, allowing four hits, to pick up the victory. Wilbur Wood took the loss.

The Reds send Clay Kirby against the Detroit Tigers tonight.

Walt Lockett, Bob Nichols Win Honors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio University sophomore Walter Lockett was named Player of the Year by the widest margin in the history of Mid-American Conference voting, and basketball Coach of the Year honors went to Bob Nichols of Toledo.

Nichols guided his Rockets to a second-place conference finish but nabbed the honor by a one-vote margin over title-winning Jim Snyder of Ohio University. The vote was 43-42.

The MAC News Media Association's balloting turned up Lockett's name on 66 of 91 ballots. The 6-foot-4 guard was top scorer in the league, averaging 23.2 points.

The media had slated Toledo for low team on the totem pole in a preseason vote. But the Rockets finished with an 8-4 conference record, 19-9 for the season and also reached the semifinals of the new Commissioners Tournament.

Nichols has chalked up a 145-79 record without a losing season in eight seasons at Toledo.

Lockett finished 55 votes ahead of the nearest competitor, junior forward Dan Roundfield of Central Michigan.

Other players receiving votes were Miami senior guard Phil Lumpkin, Toledo junior guard Jim Kindle and senior forward Mike Parker and Bowling Green junior forward Cornelius Cash.

Other coaches mentioned included Dick Parfitt of Central Michigan, Frank Truitt of Kent State, Eldon Miller of Western Michigan and Pat Haley of Bowling Green.

Youth Baseball Sets Registration

Circleville Youth Baseball Program, Inc. will hold registrations 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Saturday at the Pickaway County Fairgrounds Coliseum.

All boys who are eight years of age and not 17 before Aug. 1 are eligible to sign up. Boys registering for the first time, regardless of age, must show a birth certificate.

Last year's uniforms must be turned in before a boy can register.

CHS Golfers Prepare To Defend SCOL Title

Coach Steve Brudzinski has 13 candidates, three lettermen, contesting for positions as his Circleville High School golf team prepares to open the season and defend its South Central Ohio League title.

Returning to action is last year's most valuable player, Terry Spellacy, the only senior on the squad. Junior lettermen Jeff Spires and Mark McFadden provide added strength to the Tiger squad.

Juniors making a bid for a berth are Mike Currie, Jim England and Jeff Bohenko.

Sophomores out for the team are Alan Spellacy, Bruce Hutchinson, Dan Marshall, Dave DeFrank, Jim Bragg, Brent McPherson and John Berlin.

"The boys are busy qualifying for the five team positions as all matches will be played with five boys on a team," coach Brudzinski said. "We will use the best four scores to determine team total strokes. We will also have junior varsity matches for the boys who don't make the varsity."

The Tigers will be coming off a good season last year when in addition to the SCOL crown they placed fourth in the Sectionals and second in the District.

This will be the last year for spring golf. All matches and tournaments will become fall sports beginning in 1974.

Here is the Circleville schedule:

March 27 — At Washington C. H.

Mustangs Top Aces For 2nd Win, 9-2

Gary Thompson rapped a home run, double and single to power the Westfall Mustangs to a 9-2 win over Amanda-Clearcreek Wednesday on the Aces' diamond.

Chris Riddle and Rick Shannon combined to hurl the five-hit win. They struck out nine and issued three walks. Martin, McKenzie and Adkins shared mound duties for the Aces. They gave up a total of nine hits, eight walks and fanned eight.

Artie Dick chipped in with a pair of singles for the Mustangs, Jim Fausnaugh slammed a double while Dave Shannon, Tony Mosley and Chris Riddle each cracked a single.

Cordle paced Amanda-Clearcreek with a double and single. Burns ripped a two-bagger and Stearner and Martin each added a single to the attack.

Westfall opened the scoring with a pair of runs in the second inning, erupted for four more in the fourth and capped the scoring with three tallies in the seventh frame.

The Mustangs are now 2-0 on the season and will be at Berne Union 3:30 p.m. Friday.

CHS Linksmen Down Lions

The Circleville Tigers opened their 1974 golf season Wednesday with a 167-172 win over Washington C. H. on the loser's links.

Jeff Spires carded a 37 to take medalist honors and pace the Red and Black. Jim England fired a 39, Mark McFadden had a 44, Terry Spellacy 47 and Mike Currie 50.

D. Boswell paced Washington C. H. with a 39, D. Garringer had a 43, D. Butterfield 44, R. Harris 46 and M. Stanfort 48.

This year all matches will be played with a five-man team with the best four scores determining the team total.

Circleville will host Bishop Flaget and Madison Plains 4 p.m. Friday at Pickaway Country Club.

Good, Bad News About Smoking Fish

By JIM BAUBEL
Written for Associated Press

Here is good news and bad news about smoking fish.

First, the bad news: The process, though quite easy, takes a lot of time.

And the good news: Smoking imparts a unique change-of-pace flavor to choice species and makes edible many fish that are otherwise wasted.

Virtually any kind of fish can be smoked.

Delicate, white-fleshed species like walleye, perch and panfish are inclined to dry out faster than some other fish so care is needed not to over-smoke them.

Especially well suited to smoking are fish with oilier flesh such as salmon, trout, carp, sheephead, catfish and white bass.

Bruins Top Rangers, 3-2

NEW YORK (AP) — Contrary to popular belief, the Boston Bruins are not coasting into the first round of the National Hockey League playoffs.

Having clinched first place in the East Division, many believed the Bruins to be taking it easy and merely working into shape for the "second season" — the playoffs — which starts April 10.

"It wasn't a meaningless game at all," said Boston Coach Bep Guidolin after the Bruins' 3-2 victory over the New York Rangers Wednesday night.

"We came into the game wanting to get at least one point. If we do go into the (playoff) finals, that extra point and extra game at home can make all the difference in the world."

In other NHL games, the Chicago Black Hawks defeated the Toronto Maple Leafs 5-3; the Detroit Red Wings topped the Buffalo Sabres 3-1; the Philadelphia Flyers downed the St. Louis Blues 6-2; the Pittsburgh Penguins tied the Minnesota North Stars 3-3, and the New York Islanders tied the California Seals 2-2.

If the Bruins finish the regular season with more points than the first-place Philadelphia Flyers of the West Division, they'll get the game which means "so much" to Guidolin and the Bruins — if they make it to the finals.

Miss Christy Lee Wins Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Miss Christy Lee went wire-to-wire to claim the featured race at Latonia Wednesday night by one and one-half lengths.

Completing the 6½ furlongs in 1:07 3/5, the winner paid $13.80, $6.60 and $5.60. Miss About Face returned $4.20 and $3.00 for second. Duckey Mick showed at $3.80.

Handle was $386,972 from the crowd of 3,788.

Leroman and Nadine's Jewel paid $163.40 in a 2-9 daily double combination.

Margene Farvel Wins Lebanon

LEBANON, Ohio (AP)—Margene Farvel romped to a twolength victory in the featured race at Lebanon Wednesday night.

The winner went the mile in 2:06 4/5 to return $11.60, $5.00 and $2.80. Vicetta paid $2.80 and $2.20 for second. The show horse was Plucky Porter at $3.60.

The 2-4 double combination of Alpha Adios and Krista's Kim returned $12.00.

Mullaney, McCarthy Top Coaches

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Mullaney, who instilled the Utah Stars with the winning spirit he inspired at Kentucky and Babe McCarthy, who succeeded Mullaney when he left the Colonels at the end of last season, have been named as coaches of the year by The American Basketball Association.

Mullaney this year took the Stars to a runaway Western Division title after leaving Kentucky, where last year he guided the Colonels all the way to the seventh game of the championship series before losing.

McCarthy guided a revamped Kentucky five through a torrid Eastern Division fight before falling to the New York Nets.

It is the second time there have been two coaches voted by the ABA coaches. Bill Sharman and Joe Belmont tied in 1970.

In three seasons, Mullaney, a former coach at Providence College, has become one of the ABA's winningest coaches. His Kentucky team won a record 68 games in 1971-72 and 56 last season. After a slow start this season, Utah ran off 14 straight victories to pull far out in front.

McCarthy won the West title with New Orleans the first year of the league. He has also coached at Memphis and then Dallas.

Charles Henry Big Ten Aide

CHICAGO (AP) — Dr. Charles D. Henry II of Grambling (La.) College, one of the nation's top black athletic administrators, will become assistant Big Ten commissioner on June 1.

Appointment of Henry, 50, head of Grambling's Health, Physical Education and Recreation Department, was announced Wednesday by Commissioner Wayne Duke.

Tony Boyle Jury Selection Slow

MEDIA, Pa. (AP) — Long, monotonous days in a warm courtroom selecting a murder jury may be affecting the health of W. A. "Tony" Boyle, the former United Mine Workers president accused of arranging the 1969 "hired gun" assassination of a union rival.

When the 72-year-old Boyle, still suffering the effects of a sleeping pill suicide attempt last fall, slumped in his chair Wednesday afternoon his lawyer asked for an immediate recess.

"The defendant is tired," said Charles F. Moses, Boyle's attorney. "The doctor said he shouldn't be overtaxed."

"I resent that," sharply replied Common Pleas Judge Francis J. Catania.

"You are not supposed to talk to the doctor. He is appointed by the court, and he is instructed to report to me, and not to you, and to Mr. Sprague (Richard A. Sprague, the special prosecutor)."

The judge allowed only a 10-minute recess and then forced opposing counsel to interrogate three more prospective jurors before adjourning.

Boyle walked slowly from the courtroom and was driven to the nearby Riddle Memorial hospital

Nat Frazier Named Coach Of The Year

BALTIMORE (AP) — When Nat Frazier came to Morgan State three years ago, basketball was hardly the No. 1 sport on campus.

"Not too many people here cared about basketball then," Frazier recalled. "Football was the big sport."

With Frazier's arrival, however, the Bears' basketball fortunes took off, and Wednesday Morgan completed a clean sweep of national small-college honors when Frazier was named Associated Press College Division Coach-of-the-Year.

Joe Hague Given Waiver By Reds

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Joe Hague, a pinch-hitting star in the Cincinnati Reds' 1972 pennant drive, was waived by the National League team Wednesday.

The unconditional release leaves the 29-year-old first baseman up for grabs by other major league clubs.

Sarah Vaughn Notes Her 50th Birthday

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sarah Vaughan, who quit high school to attempt a career in music, has celebrated her 50th birthday at a dinner.

President Nixon wrote a letter of praise to the popular singer, adding that, "These wishes come to you from the heart of a nation that respects and honors your talent."

The new little Miss Smith weighed 10 pounds 1½ ounces at birth. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. William Trego and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Smith.

The South Bloomfield Booster Club will meet Wednesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the Municipal Building. All members are urged to attend.

Clarence (Dave) Foreman, Sr. was the honored guest at a surprise birthday party in observance of his 65th birthday on March 10. The party was given by his wife, Mabel. He received many cards and gifts from friends and relatives. They were entertained with games and card playing. The dinner was served by Mrs. Foreman, her daughter and daughters-in-law.

Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Foreman Jr. and daughter, Donnie Allen of West Lafayette; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Foreman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robin Jones all of Circleville; Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Presler and son of Amanda; Mr. and Mrs. Luther Hutchinson and Mrs. Kathryn Metzler of Columbus; Mr. James Cremeans and daughter Sharlana, Master Troy Groves, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Foreman and family, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Foreman and family all of Ashville.

Dave would like to thank all those who remembered him on his birthday.

One hundred fifty members and guests of the First Baptist Church enjoyed a skating party at the Circle D in Circleville on March 19. The Rev. Kenneth Geren led the group in devotions.

Senior Girl Scout Troop 940 will have a bake sale on Saturday, at 9 a.m. in the Foreman Building at the corner of Long and Main Streets in downtown Ashville.

John Little and Jerry Sabine were the weekend guests of Steve White at Rio Grande College. John and Jerry are both enjoying spring break from Ohio State University.

The Everfaithful Sunday School Class of the Zion United Methodist Church met recently in the home of Verna Remy. Mae Alexander presented the scripture for the evening followed with prayer. The business meeting was conducted by the president, Betty B. Smith.

Following the business meeting a silent auction was held. Prizes for games were awarded to Mae Alexander and Fern Bozman. The door prize was won by Colleen Edgington.

A lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Remy and assisting hostess Erma Darks to Betty Smith, Georgia Myers, Jean Cline, Doris Cline, Alma Higgins, Virgie Wean, Carla and Colleen Edgington, Nancy Cook, Fern Bozman, Dorothy Cook, Jeraldine Canter and Mae Alexander.

The Winter Sports Banquet will be held at the Teays Valley High School Cafeteria on Monday. A carry-in dinner will be served at 6:30 p.m.

Honored guests will be members of the varsity, reserve and freshman basketball teams, members of the wrestling teams, cheerleaders, coaches and advisors.

Those families attending are asked to bring a well-filled basket that includes a meat dish. The well-filled basket is being emphasized as there has been a shortage of food at the past several banquets. The rolls and beverages will be furnished by the Athletic Booster Club. Table service will be furnished for the honored guests only. You are also reminded to bring serving spoons for your dishes of food.

A pot-luck supper was held Wednesday at the First Baptist Church honoring the Rev. and Mrs. Kenneth Geren on their first anniversary with the church. The honored couple was presented a gift from the congregation.

The Ashville Pythian Sisters met recently in the K. P. Hall for the regular monthly meeting. Most Excellent Chief, Gladys Rush, presided during the evening. The charter was draped for 30 days for Past Supreme Chief Olive Britt, Past Grand Chief Helen Bortz and Past District Deputy Regina Gommel. Mrs. Gommel served as District Deputy during Past Grand Chief Francile Peters' term. Draping the charter were Manager Francile Peters, Excellent Junior Betty B. Smith and Excellent Senior Judy Campbell.

An official letter was read from Grand Chief Bonna Schneider and a note from sister Dora Eisman was also read. Members are still asked to collect and turn in the "cents off" coupons found in magazines and newspapers. These in turn are given to the Board of Trustees of the Medina Home. Members were asked to save all old catalogs and cards such as birthday, Christmas, etc.

These will be given to the Senior Girl Scout Troop who delivers them to patients at the Orient State Institute. The patients really enjoy looking through the catalogs. These items may be taken to the home of Marilyn Sabine for collection. This is a very good service project for both the Pythian Sisters and the Girl Scouts.

It was announced that the Sisters would serve a dinner to the Kiwanis Club members on Wednesday evening and that the Past Chief Club would meet on Thursday, in the home of Jean Schiff. The District Past Chief Club will meet in the Amanda Temple on Friday.

An invitation was read from Majors Temple to attend their annual inspection on Thursday, April 4.

It was agreed by all members present to raise the price of the noodles per bag, which are made and sold by the members.

Then next meeting will be held Tuesday, at 7:30 p.m. in the K. P. Hall. Most Excellent Chief asked that all officers and members of the Degree Staff be present at the April 16 meeting for practice for the annual inspection.

Members of the Sunshine Class of the Zion United Methodist Church met recently in the home of Helen Valentine with Mary Fisher serving as assistant hostess.

The meeting was opened by the president, Ruth Hartley. Members present sang the class theme song, "Count Your Blessings". Prayer was given by Mary Kaiser and Med Eccard read the 5th Psalm for the Scripture lesson. Minutes of the last meeting were read by Hazel Ward and the treasurer's report by Mary Costlow.

The group decided on the Easter Offering they would give to the church. Roll call was taken and dues were paid.

A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses to Hazel Burns, Frances Smith, Hazel Ward, Mary Costlow, Katie Wilcox, Mary Kaiser, Ruth Hartley, Gertrude Bevins, Med Eccard, Alleen White, Frances Grant, Ernestine Craig.

Prizes were awarded during the evening to Frances Smith, Ernestine Craig and Ruth Hartley.

Ernestine Craig will be the hostess for the April meeting.

Revival Services will be held at the Village United Methodist Church each evening at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, through Friday. The Rev. John Glick will serve at the pastor-evangelist and the music evangelists will be Curt and Charlotte Davis of Indianapolis, Ind.

Everyone in the community is cordially invited to attend these services and when you attend, bring a friend with you.

State Farmers Ahead Of 1973

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio farmers, blessed with a dry 1973 fall, are well ahead of their annual plowing pace this spring on the second highest crop acreage on record, Buckeye farm experts report.

Despite fertilizer shortages, plowing may be as much as 15 per cent ahead of 1972-1973.

"Plowing in northwest Ohio is 85 to 90 per cent completed," said Dr. Herbert Hadley, agricultural economist at Ohio State University. "In 1972 it was about 70 to 75 per cent done at this stage."

Homer L. Carter of the Statistical Reporting Service said, "There was tremendous plowing last fall, certainly more than in the last two years."

"The reason was that the farmers got their crops in early, it was dry and they turned right away to plowing. In comparison with other years we're in pretty good shape."

Exact figures will not be available until the first report by Carter's office on the planting situation April 8.

Fall use of fertilizer backed up the fall plowing estimates. George G. Greenleaf of the Ohio Grain, Feed and Fertilizer Association reported that Ohio farmers used 600,000 tons of fertilizer last fall compared to 321,000 tons during the 1972 fall.

Greenleaf said Ohio farmers will have 15 per cent less fertilizer this crop year than they need, a shortage of about 183,000 tons. From January to June 1973, Ohio farms used 1.2 million tons of all types of fertilizer.

"We might even get as much fertilizer as we did last year," said Greenleaf, "but with farmers planting about 10 per cent more acres we'd still be short 15 per cent."

"All of Ohio is either green or plowed," said Gene Abercrombie, state agriculture director. "Farmers have more plowing done at this time than they have in years."

Ohio farmers intend to plant 3.8 million acres of corn in 1974, about 15 per cent above the 3.3 million acres of 1973. If they keep to their intentions it would be the largest corn acreage since 1937.

They also intend to plant 3.33 million acres of soybeans, down 8 per cent from 1973.

But, these intentions could be upset by the fertilizer shortage.

If they can't get enough fertilizer this spring, farmers could switch

School Chief Loses 2 Aids

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—Administrative cutbacks have resulted in the loss of two top aides of Cincinnati School Supt. Donald Waldrip, it was announced Tuesday.

Mark Rothacker, head of business operations, and Marianna Brown, who worked in the community relations office, are leaving.

Rothacker said he is resigning July 31 because of cutbacks that he said would leave the system "stymied for a number of years." The school board had ordered Waldrip to cut $176,000 from administrative costs.

CUSTOM UPHOLSTERED FURNITURE

realistic alternative

Maybe you've been disillusioned about custom ordering furniture from what you've heard and read. About the long waits. About high costs. About all kinds of problems. We want you to know that's not the way it is when you custom order Norwalk furniture from us.

• GET EXACTLY WHAT YOU WANT

Why should you buy what some store happens to have in stock? Your tastes are individual. If you don't see exactly what you want, you should be allowed to order your choice of style and fabric. Custom ordering lets you.

• 30-DAY DELIVERY

... NOT THREE MONTHS.

Most stores discourage custom ordering because they know you'll have a long wait. At least six weeks. Maybe six months. Or more. Here's where we start to be different. Once Norwalk acknowledges receipt of your order, they'll have your custom pieces here for you in just 30 days. To make that delivery a reality, they've built the most modern plant in the industry.

• IT'S EASY AND COSTS NO MORE

Choosing the exact style and fabric you want with the skilled help of our staff is a lot easier than walking around a warehouse or two. And best of all, our prices are competitive with the warehouse showrooms. Custom ordering comes at no additional charge. So consider how important this new upholstered purchase really is. Families Fare Badly With Cancer

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP) — Every day, somewhere, doctors have to tell parents: "I'm sorry, your child has leukemia."

Far too often the diagnosis of this blood cancer is a death sentence. How do parents, or brothers and sisters, cope with it? Or with other situations where someone else in the family comes down with cancer?

Usually not too well, with family members often becoming "secondary victims of cancer," says Dr. David M. Kaplan, a sociologist of Stanford University Medical School.

He studied 40 families from the time that a child was diagnosed as having leukemia until three months after the child's death. He reported his results Wednesday at concluding sessions of an American Cancer Society seminar for science writers here.

Only four families came out of the experience "essentially intact" without serious problems, Dr. Kaplan said. The other 36 had either new or aggravated problems that ranged up to divorces, drinking problems, troubles with other children in the family or attempts quickly to have a "replacement child."

Dr. Kaplan told of one family in which a boy died at age three of leukemia. His identical twin five years later said he thought he ought to go outdoors and "get run over" so he "could be in heaven with Jeffrey," his brother.

Ariane Set To Return To Europe

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Ariane Tebbenjohanns Sheppard, second wife of the late Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, says she will leave Cleveland next month and return to Europe.

Mrs. Sheppard said Wednesday she is selling all her possessions at her suburban Bay Village home and plans to live at Antibes in the south of France.

She came to this country 10 years ago from Western Germany after corresponding with Sheppard while he was serving a prison sentence for murder in the death of his first wife.

She helped free Sheppard from prison and win a new trial, which ended in acquittal. But the marriage ran into problems, and she divorced Sheppard in 1969. He died in 1970.

In the first six months of their marriage, she said, there was little privacy and no time to talk over problems.

While the second trial was being conducted in 1966, she said Sheppard drank heavily and gulped down pills. "You had to excuse his behavior once you know what he went through," she said.

She said cause of death was liver failure, "but the autopsy showed two-thirds of his brain had deteriorated, probably because of drugs."

Mrs. Sheppard said Dr. Sam "needed help and I tried to give it to him."

Former Mayor Faces Tumor Surgery

DETROIT, Mich. (AP) — Former Mayor Jerome P. Cavanagh says he will undergo surgery for a malignant tumor next month, forcing at least a temporary halt to his bid for Michigan governor this year.

Cavanagh, 45, made the announcement Wednesday. He said he learned of the malignancy on his right kidney only Tuesday.

Advances from cancer research are extending life-spans, "but the extension of life, without a corresponding ability to cope with life under these circumstances, can be a mixed blessing," Dr. Kaplan said.

"Many patients and their families do not know how to make the most of the time they have been given."

He said it is urgent to "make early efforts to help families cope with impending tragedy before patterns of reaction become entrenched."

Whether to tell the truth about cancer is not the question, because even small children know that they are seriously ill, he said.

Giving some advice, garnered from his five year study, Dr. Kaplan said: —Don't go seeking faith healers.

—Don't think that in the sweepstakes your child will be the lucky one to survive, because if he doesn't "and the battle is finally lost, it will hit like a ton of bricks."

—Make the best use of the time remaining.

—Don't try to have a replacement child while one child is sick. There is enough to do for that child without having the burdens of pregnancy.

—Mourning can be relatively brief if parents have truly realized their child likely will die and has ended his misery.

—"There will be anguish and hell. Try to learn to live with it."

Dan Rather Gets Support Of News Chief

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The president of CBS News said Wednesday he regrets the exchange between President Nixon and CBS newsmen Dan Rather at a news conference last week, but blamed the incident on a "basic misfortune."

Richard Salant said the invitation of a couple hundred Republicans to the Houston, Tex., news conference led to the event being treated "like the Christians and the lions."

"That set the whole thing up wrong. A press conference isn't set up for people to applaud and boo."

Salant said the crowd's behavior produced the needling exchange.

Rather, who has pressed for credibility and further disclosures in the Watergate scandal, was cheered and booed when he rose to address the President.

When the outburst quieted, the President smilingly asked Rather if he were running for office. Rather replied, "No, Mr. President, are you?"

Salant said he has been asked by some CBS affiliates to fire Rather or reassign him.

But, he added, "it isn't the first time: John Ehrlichman (former presidential aide) asked me to do that about three years ago."

Salant said Rather's job was not affected by the incident.

"He is regarded by many members of the White House press corps as the best there is today," said Salant.

"It's nothing to get all excited about," he said. Salant said it is the duty of newsmen to criticize the President when necessary.

"Of course, the Presidency requires great respect, but the President himself is a different matter. There is a big difference here."

He said broadcasters should be concerned that intervention by the Federal Communications Commission could determine news emphasis.

Salant said the newly-formed National News Council, a watchdog committee reviewing news reporting, could be healthy for the broadcast and printed media. But he added he hopes it "will amount to more than the Fair Campaign Practices Committee."

The committee reported Wednesday that it is investigating charges against

Phosphorus Pinch Could Be Eased

WASHINGTON (AP) — A severe shortage of phosphorus, a trace element essential in livestock feed, could be eased substantially if feed manufacturers and farmers follow new recommendations by scientists, says the Agriculture Department.

The report was presented Wednesday by a National Research Council task force which had been requested by USDA to study the feed phosphorus situation.

In its 36-page report, the panel included recommendations for phosphorus dietary levels for beef and dairy cattle, horses, poultry, sheep and swine.

Deficiencies of phosphorus in feed can cause a variety of symptoms in livestock, depending on development, ranging from loss of appetite to death.

"The task force believes that most of the feed industry is adding phosphorus at levels above those recommended by NRC," the report said. "In most instances, a decrease in phosphorus use to comply with NRC recommendations would help meet the phosphorus shortage."

Panel members said U.S. animal and poultry producers at current rates need about 1.6 million tons of phosphorus annually. But the supply this year is only 1.3 million, a deficit of nearly 20 per cent.

A number of factors were cited for the shortage:

—Requirements have soared from 340,000 tons a year in 1951 to the current level and to an estimated 1.8 million needed by 1975. Therefore, the report said, present production capacity will not meet demands.

—Some phosphoric acid normally used for feed has been diverted to fertilizer use; and imports have been reduced because of "more lucrative markets" in other countries.

—Fish meal imports, another source of phosphorus for feed, also have been cut. Shortages of gas, oil, electricity, rail cars and other transportation also have affected phosphorus output. "It is estimated that the present phosphorus shortage will continue for at least six months and more likely for 18 to 24 months," the report said.

Forecast

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Low pressure developing in the Plains was forecast to spread rain over Ohio tonight and Friday as it moves into the state.

In the meantime overrunning across a stationary front along the Ohio River a mixture of light rain and snow was spread from southern Michigan south-eastward across northeast Ohio.

Most of Ohio is forecast to enjoy mild temperatures today. However, the areas near Lake Erie were indicated to have temperatures in the 30s due to the northeast winds across the cold lake. High temperatures in the southern portions of the state were forecast in the 60s. Early morning temperatures Thursday were in the 30s north to the 40s south.

Pennsylvania OKs Death Penalty

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania legislature has overridden a veto by Gov. Milton J. Shapp and restored the death penalty.

Tuesday's action made Pennsylvania the 23rd state to enact a new capital punishment law since the 1972 U.S. Supreme Court ruling that the death penalty, as generally applied, was unconstitutional.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

FOR FRIDAY

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): A day which you can mold pretty much to your liking. Take a firm and knowing hand early and plan your schedule smartly. Make no snap decisions, however.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Better-than-average prospects, but you will have to grasp the good opportunities firmly, quickly reject propositions likely to be unproductive.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Precision and perception needed. Curb a tendency to wander from prescribed course; aim to see both sides of controversial issues.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): This day will liken itself to a game of checkers. First moves will count heavily, and it will be important to figure out the strategy of your opponents.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): Solar influences, highly propitious, encourage a multitude of activities and interests. Especially favored: business and financial transactions, real estate interests, cultural pursuits.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Increased benefits indicated, but you may have to strive harder for the full returns possible. Look into the heart of things. Search for real values.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): Listen to suggestions carefully. Advice from even the least likely sources could prove profitable. There's plenty working for you now.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22): Act swiftly if conditions seem right, but proceed slowly where the going is tricky and there are obstacles which cannot be overlooked.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Be concise, but not abrupt, eager to further your own interests, but not unkind of others. Your attitude could change the whole picture, one way or the other.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Do whatever you can to facilitate work projects. Don't bank on achieving more than usual gains, and you may be surprised with more than you expect.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Be prepared to withstand opposition, unexpected disturbances. You CAN settle matters — in a way that will win the admiration of others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Excellent planetary help for gaining ground in several areas. Take advantage of every possible strategy. Associates should be cooperative.

Body Chemistry, Depression

Linked

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Approximately 16 million Americans suffer from severe depression.

Psychiatrist William T. McKinney of the University of Wisconsin-Madison Center for Health Sciences has done four years of research into depression with rhesus monkeys. He says some persons are more sensitive to depression than others because of their genetic makeup.

He stimulated some animals with depression chemically with drugs, and some socially by isolating them from other animals. McKinney emphasized the importance of both social and biological experiences as determinants to depression. And they interact with each other.

Severe depression is not just feeling blue once in a while, McKinney said. It is feeling despairing, helpless and unsure about tomorrow. The usual treatment is a combination of drugs and psychotherapy.

Surgeons Staple Patients

NEW YORK (AP) — The use of surgical staplers is increasing. United States Surgical Corp., makers of a stapler called Auto Suture, report that more than 500,000 patients have been "stapled" since they introduced their surgical stapling line in 1967. Latest statistics reveal that surgeons are currently operating on more than 5,000 patients per week with staplers in more than 1,500 hospitals and the number is increasing rapidly.

The Aztec Emperor Montezuma II supposedly drank 50 jars of chocolate a day, and always drank a golden goblet filled with the frothing liquid before entering his harem.

Duffy Praised By Tribe

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Die-hard Cleveland Indians followers find it incredulous that anyone would dare mention Frank Duffy's name in the same sentence with Lou Boudreau.

They'll have to get used to the idea because Tribe manager Ken Aspromonte not only did, he also says Duffy rates ahead of Mark Belanger of the Baltimore Orioles, last year's American League All-Star shortstop.

"You match his statistics against the shortstop who everyone says is the best in the league," asserts Aspromonte, "and I mean Belanger, and Duffy comes out on top. The only thing Belanger does better is go deeper in the hole to his right."

Duffy got off to a slow start in 1973 because of a sore arm, which he vehemently denies bothered him, and came back to lead AL shortstops with a .986 fielding average, a league record.

The record he broke (.982) was set by Boudreau with the Indians in 1947.

This is the first year Duffy has been able to come to spring training with the full confidence that he is the Indians' No. 1 shortstop.

Two years ago, when Duffy came to Cleveland with pitcher Gaylord Perry for Sam McDowell, his competition was Jack Heidemann. Last year it was veteran Leo Cardenas.

Cardenas is now with the Texas Rangers while Heidemann, after a one-year tenure with the Oakland A's, is back with the Indians, but solely as back-up shortstop behind Duffy. It does make a difference.

"The main difference now," says Duffy, "is I enjoy my time away from baseball. I sleep well, don't worry about my job, and even look forward to coming out to the ballpark."

Duffy is still incensed when reminded of his alleged arm trouble which caused the Indians to place him on the disabled list on the opening day of the season.

"I could have played," he insists, "but putting me on the disabled list ended all the arguments. I felt like a pawn."

76ers Stun Celtics

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Philadelphia 76ers can't win for losing.

The 76ers finished with the worst record ever in the National Basketball Association last season, 9-73, and thought they had the last laugh by drafting then-junior Bill Walton.

But even a reported offer of $2 million couldn't lure Walton, UCLA's superstar center, to Philadelphia.

This year, the 76ers made modest improvement, finishing with a record of 25-57, but still ended up with the worst record in the Eastern Conference.

That gave Philadelphia a second chance in the Walton Bowl, but the 76ers had to win a Wednesday coin toss with the Portland Trail Blazers, who had the worst record in the Western Conference.

They didn't, so Philadelphia Coach Gene Shue will have to be content with 16 more victories than last year, plus the No. 2 draft choice.

"There's no control for luck," said Shue after Philadelphia stunned the Boston Celtics 117-108 as the NBA closed out its regular season Wednesday night. "The significant thing about the season was that we became competitive."

Elsewhere in the NBA, the Seattle SuperSonics trimmed the Phoenix Suns 127-123, and the Portland Trail Blazers beat the Golden State Warriors 132-122.

The Sixers proved too competitive for the Celtics, who finished first in the Atlantic Division with a 56-26 record. Fred Carter tossed in 31 points, 16 in the third-quarter, to help record Philadelphia's first victory over Boston in 21 games.

Measuring about half the diameter of earth, Mars has a surface gravity just .38 of that on earth. Thus, a 150-pound man would weigh only 57 pounds on Mars and would be able to lift more than twice the weight he could lift on earth.

Oakland Again Seeks World Title

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — The Oakland A's are grumbling through spring training, a good reason to predict continued controversy and success for the world champions.

"I'm more confident now than I was a year ago that we'll win another World Series," says A's Owner Charles O. Finley.

But his players make it clear they plan to win a third straight title despite, not for, Charlie O.

"He said I'm the worst left fielder in baseball and that my arm is so weak the shortstop has to run into the outfield to take all my throws," reported Joe Rudi, one of the players who lost in

Kansas City Looks Strong

FORT MYERS, Fla. (AP) — Manager Jack McKeon of the Kansas City Royals does not believe in miracles.

McKeon, now in his second year as a major league skipper, thinks a team must have the players to win a baseball pennant. He firmly believes his club has the strength to take it all in the American League this season.

"And this team thinks it can win the pennant," says McKeon. "That's one of the important things."

The Royals finished six games behind the world champion Oakland A's in the AL West a year ago. Their big weakness was pitching.

McKeon thinks the pitching situation has been remedied with the offseason acquisitions of starters Nelson Briles from the Pittsburgh Pirates and Marty Pattin from the Boston Red Sox plus reliever Lindy McDaniel from the New York Yankees.

The Royals boss has already decided that his four starters will be Paul Splittorff, a 20-game winner in 1973; Steve Busby, who tossed a no-hitter as a rookie last season; Pattin and Briles. Briles suffered a knee injury before the spring training grind opened and may not be ready to pitch at the start. If not, Al Fitzmorris will step into the rotation.

"There's no reason that Busby can't win 25 games," asserts McKeon. "He won 16 last year. Now he knows the hitters, his control is better and he has

See A's With Pennant

By KEN RAPPOPORT
AP Sports Writer

It's always a good idea to go with the defending champion when you're picking the American League pennant race. Okay, the Oakland A's will win again this year.

Actually, the A's simply have too much talent to ignore—despite the disrupting machinations of owner Charles O. Finley.

It's been said that Finley's peccadillos will sink the A's boat. But it wasn't exactly the Good Ship Lollypop last season—and look what happened.

The worst damage that Finley could have done to his team was chop it up. But since no one of import was traded, sold or banned (a la Mike Andrews in last year's World Series), the A's look like more in '74.

The A's are so good, and the rest of the American League West so bad, that no one poses a distinct threat to the champs.

The Chicago White Sox have a batch of hitters, but the pitching staff consists of Wilbur Wood and a cloud of

Ohio Stars In Charity Doubleheader

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A squad of Ohio high school basketball all-stars will take part in a charity doubleheader at Pittsburgh Sunday in what the director of the event says is "an innovation, inviting an out-of-state team."

"We believe Ohio has as many blue chip college prospects as any state, and because of the closeness to Pittsburgh, we've issued the invitation to take part in our doubleheader," said Sonny Vaccaro.

The Ohio team, filled with Associated Press all-stars, will play a Pennsylvania all-star squad. The second game will feature a national all-star team versus another Pennsylvania all-star squad.

The doubleheader in Pittsburgh's Civic Arena is for the benefit of Dapper Dan Charities.

Four first team Class AAA all-stars, including Player of the Year Mark Bayless of Chillicothe, will lead the 10-player Ohio squad.

Bayless, a 6-foot-2 guard, will be joined by fellow first team All-Ohioans 6-7 Randy Ayers of Springfield North, 6-8 Larry Boston of Cleveland Kennedy and 6-5 Tim Joyce of Youngstown Ursuline.

Also on the squad selected by a panel of Ohio sports writers are Class A player of the Year Larry Harris of Lorain Clearview and small school all-stars 6-7 Mark Haymore of Cleveland Lutheran East and 6-4 Dan Zarlingo of Lowellville.

Rounding out the team are 6-6 Burrell McGhee of Warren Western Reserve, 6-1 Stan Hall of Canton McKinley and 6-2 Don Filip of Boardman. McGhee and Hall were second team Class AAA All-Ohio selections.

winter salary arbitration battles against Finley.

"He said we don't have any stars, we only won because he put together a great club," reported Reggie Jackson, who won the American League's Most Valuable Payer award last year and pried a $135,000 salary out of Finley through arbitration.

Whether he likes it or not, Finley also has three $100,000 ballplayers in Jackson, Sal Bando and Jim "Catfish" Hunter, and the A's payroll is now one of the highest in the major leagues.

But they sound like the same malcontents who won the 1972 and '73 World Series, not fat cats.

Finley has hired Alvin Dark, one of the managers he fired in the past, to succeed the departed Dick Williams.

The A's are expected to open the season April 4 with only one rookie on their roster, sprinter Herb Washington, who was signed by Finley to serve as a pinch-running specialist.

"That's a joke," said first baseman Gene Tenace when Washington was signed. "This is going to cost somebody who should be in the majors a job."

Hunter, Ken Holtzman and Vida Blue, all 20-game winners last season, and relief specialists Rollie Fingers and Darold Know
